HORNER ASSAILS DUNHAM; FIGHT OVER PARK LEVY

Governor Defends $1,400,000 Cut.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

Gov. Horner in Springfield yesterday issued a hotly worded denunciation of Robert J. Dunham's administration of the Chicago park district. The governor loosed his blast in connection with the fight over the park district's request of the state legislature for a pegged levy of $9,000,000.

Gov. Horner.

Robert J. Dunham.

The governor accused the park district, of which Mr. Dunham is president, of wasteful expenditures and insisted that a levy of $7,600,000 is sufficient to operate the parks this year. He branded statements by Mr. Dunham in support of his request as silly and foolish.

The park district head, in answer, deplored the descent of the pegged levy question to the status of a personal issue. He said the governor has been misinformed on park finances.

Brings Feud Into Open.

The governor's statement and Mr. Dunham's reply brought into the open a smoldering feud between the two officials which has been attributed to the park district head's stand against the governor in relief matters late in 1935 and early in 1936.

Mr. Dunham became chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission in September, 1933, at the governor's solicitation. As chairman he led the commission in recommending and later demanding appropriations for relief on which the governor yielded after first insisting that federal aid was adequate. About a month afterward the governor demanded Mr. Dunham's resignation.

The governor issued his statement following a park district announcement that reduction of the pegged levy from $9,000,000 to $7,600,000 would force, among other things, a delay of a month—to July 15—in the opening of Chicago bathing beaches.

The Horner Statement.

"The Chicago bathing beaches will open at the regular time," read the Horner statement. "If the park board, in an effort to make political capital, does not furnish life guards, the state will.

"When I brought about park consolidation we assured the people of Chicago that economy in management would result. Irrespective of the park management, I propose to keep that promise to the taxpayers of Chicago.

"The pegging of the levy by the house at $7,600,000 is amply sufficient to properly and efficiently conduct the parks. Neither the taxpayers nor the legislature will be stampeded by deception."

Mr. Dunham Replies.

Mr. Dunham, replying, contended again that any large reduction in the revenue income of the park from taxes would curtail public services.

"Men in high office should not base their public statements on misquotations and misrepresentations of the facts," he said. "Any effort to verify the assertions which brought forth this statement would have precluded its being made.

"I shall not lend myself to making a matter of such public importance as this merely a personal issue."

The senate passed the park levy at the $9,000,000 figure and the house reduced it to $7,600,000. Last week a conference committee consisting of seven senators and seven representatives was appointed to determine which figure or what other sum should prevail.

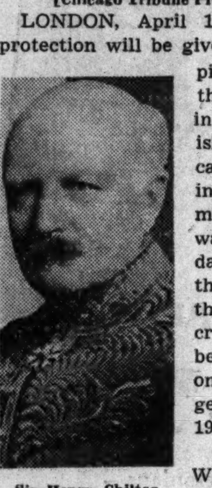
BRITAIN ORDERS NAVY TO FIRE ON REBEL RAIDERS

But Will Not Break Franco's Blockade.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 11.—The fullest protection will be given British shipping outside the three mile limit in northern Spanish waters, the cabinet decided in an emergency meeting today. It was the first Sunday meeting of the cabinet since the abdication crisis in December and the second since the general strike in 1926.



Sir Henry Chilton.

According to Whitehall sources the cabinet has ordered British warships to open fire on any Spanish vessels interfering with British cargo ships on the high seas.

The British defiance was made known soon after reports were received from St. Jean de Luz, French port near the Spanish border, that Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, had warned Great Britain that rebel warships had been instructed to fire upon British freighters if they attempted to enter the beseiged northern Spanish port of Bilbao.

Risks Dangerous Incident.

Reports from St. Jean de Luz said Gen. Franco in a note to Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador to Spain, declared the presence of British warships as convoys for food-laden freighters would make no difference regarding his orders.

"Under no circumstances will nationalist [rebel] warships allow the breaking of the Bilbao blockade," the note is reported to have said. "We are prepared to risk an international incident, but the ships do not get through."

While the British navy will protect shipping on the high seas, the cabinet apparently agreed that protection of British ships inside the three mile territorial limit was outside the scope of the government and the navy.

Recognition of Blockade?

Pro-Franco circles in London tonight claim that the cabinet's decision virtually amounts to recognition of the rebels' blockade of Bilbao, but sources close to the government maintain the cabinet decided to continue to withhold the granting of belligerent rights to Franco.

The blockade of Bilbao, it is said, is regarded by the cabinet as a special case. Franco's forces, it is pointed out, surround the town by land and sea and appear to be in a position to make the blockade effective.

Six British food cargo boats now are held up at St. Jean de Luz and a seventh at Bayonne, unable to proceed to Bilbao because of the presence of Franco's warships.

One vessel is the Seven Seas Spray which tried to approach Bilbao yesterday, but was turned back by rebel ships on a threat of sinking.

Warship on Mystery Dash.

As a result of the cabinet's decision, it is expected the British ships will be advised to abandon attempts to land their cargoes at Bilbao since the protection provided is only up to the three mile limit.

A statement of British policy is expected to be made in the house of commons tomorrow.

While the ministers deliberated the situation in Spain, the 42,000 ton battle cruiser Hood, the world's largest battleship, was steaming at full speed from Gibraltar for a secret destination. The admiralty refused to reveal where the warship is bound, but it is widely reported she is going to the Bay of Biscay.

SHELLS RAIN ON MADRID

MADRID, April 11.—(AP)—The rebel besiegers of Madrid, hard pressed along the western fringe of the capital by the government's fierce offensive, struck back today with the heaviest artillery bombardment Madrid has suffered since the early days of the five month siege.

For 45 minutes rebel gunners poured shells into the city at intervals as brief as two minutes, taking

Trucks Shooed Off Roads; Give Autos a Break

BY HAL FOUST.

A quarter of a million motorists on Chicagoland highways to enjoy the spring sunshine yesterday received a bit of help from state police in passing slow trucks on the busy twenty foot pavements that lead to the region of lakes and hills in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. It was a new enterprise for the state patrolmen.

Under orders of Chief Walter Williams, police flagged trucks from the pavement to let queues of passenger cars go by. When the congestion was cleared, the big vans or tanks were permitted to proceed.

A tour over the two lane pavements of Lake county in The Tribune roadster indicated that clearing important roads of trucks for the benefit of recreational trafic is too big a task for police squads to handle in person. Main routes between Chicago and the lake region were crowded with city dwellers enjoying the trace of green on southern hillsides, the songs of meadow larks and the croak of frogs from flooded creeks. And the trucks were there also, slowly moving barricades to travel at a reasonable pace.

Advises Truckers to Pull Aside.

On U. S. 12, the Northwest highway, near Richmond in McHenry county, where curves and hills limit visibility for passing a vehicle, Patrolmen Paul Chase and A. F. Seisser found a string of passenger cars trailing a van owned by the Service Transfer and Storage company of LaCrosse, Wis. The truck was waved to the shoulder of the road and stopped.

"I got to get this load of junk iron into Chicago," said the driver. "Is there some other route you want me to take?"

"We have not developed our system as yet for regulating trucks in the week-end trafic as you do in Wisconsin," Policeman Chase replied. "You'll get a notice by mail in a few weeks advising haulers of our plans. In the meantime, when your rear view mirror shows you a string of automobiles, pull to the side and let them pass."

Special Rule for Milk Trucks.

Leo Teders of St. Cloud, Minn., driving a van of used furniture from Chicago, was told that hereafter he should try to make such trips on some other days than Saturday or Sunday. Milk trucks which must travel on Sundays as well as other days may be assigned special routes for week-ends.

CZECHS HIDE HITLER SLOGAN ON STAMPS BEARING HIS IMAGE

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, April 11.—(AP)—The authorities bowed tonight—though only a bit—to irate collectors after police confiscated the latest issue of German stamps bearing Adolf Hitler's image.

Police took the stamps from dealers' windows because, they said, each block of four bore a slogan from Hitler's "My Struggle," saying: "He who wants to save the people can only think heroically." Prague authorities said that was calculated to excite public irritation.

They compromised, however, before the ire of the collectors by allowing the sale of the stamps—but with a paper strip pasted over the slogan.

Evanston High School Girl Is Rapists' Victim

A young high school girl was raped in Niles Center by two colored men early today while her escort stood by helpless to aid her. The victim is 16 years old, and a resident of Niles Center. Her escort was Walter De Vinck, 18, of 2212 Sherman avenue, Evanston. He was severely pummeled about the face. Both attend the Evanston Township High school.

Pair Trapped in Auto.

They were sitting in De Vinck's automobile on Lake street, east of the sanitary district canal, at the Evanston-Niles Center line, a point known as "Lovers' Lane," when the colored men came up. One brandished a knife. He dragged the girl out of the car while the other struck De Vinck. De Vinck, a frail youth, was quickly subdued.

The girl meanwhile attempted to fight her way free, her captor threatening to "throw her into the canal" unless she submitted. He finally overpowered and raped her, and then turned her over to his companion who also attacked her.

Escort Is Robbed.

The rapists took $6 and a wrist watch from De Vinck, and then drove away in his car. De Vinck and the girl realized they were too far from the nearest help on the east side of the canal, so decided upon a perilous course to get aid on the west side. They swam across the icy cold canal, which is 75 feet wide at this point. They then ran to McCormick road and stopped William Henne, 7505 Magnolia avenue, a motorist. He drove them to a tavern, from where they called police, and then took them to the St. Francis hospital. Both were suffering from shock and exposure.

Pastor Is Held for Annoying 3 Young Girls

Mishawaka, Ind., April 11.—[Special.]—The Rev. Oren R. McColgin, pastor of the First Christian church here, was in a cell in neighboring South Bend when church time came today—identified by three young girls as the man who had annoyed them, according to police. The police said he had made written admissions.

The minister, who is 45 years old, was identified at his own services last Sunday, William Diedrich, assistant chief of the South Bend police, said. The officer disclosed that he took the girls to church and had them shake hands with the Rev. Mr. McColgin as they left, that they might get a close view of him.

Father of 2 Daughters.

The pastor is married and the father of two daughters, one 13 and one 14 years old, by a former marriage.

His arrest ended a search that began early in February when girls of 10 to 14 years of age began reporting that a middle aged man in a car had been stopping them, ostensibly to ask directions. When they came close to his car, they said, he misconducted himself and sometimes tried with offers of candy and peanuts to entice them into the car.

20 Girls Make Complaints.

Twenty girls in all made complaints, Diedrich said. All had been accosted in the southern part of South Bend. Three gave automobile license numbers that the chief said were traced to the minister's car.

After the three girls had identified the minister, Diedrich called him to the South Bend police station last Thursday and questioned him. At first the Rev. Mr. McColgin denied the accusations, but eventually, the assistant chief said, admitted they were true. Since then he has been in a cell.

Walter McInerny, juvenile referee, said the minister may be arraigned in Juvenile court tomorrow on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors that McInerny said he would file.

The minister has held his pastorate here more than two years. Previously he had a charge in Monticello Ind. He has been a minister for ten years. His wife, with whom he lives at 307 Lincolnway west, next door to the church, is a former university mathematics instructor.

St. Louisan Dies of Bite by Friend's Pet Monkey

St. Louis, Mo., April 11.—(AP)—Roy Barnett, 48 years old, died in City hospital today after having been bitten by a friend's pet monkey.

Triple Slayer Suspect Pens Story of Life

Robert [Bob] Irwin, former Chicago sculptor hunted throughout the nation as a suspect in the New York murder of Veronica Gedeon, had completed the amazing story of his life just before the beautiful model and her mother and a roomer were killed in the fantastic murder plot. The manuscript Irwin had turned over to his friend, William Lamkie, former professor of municipal government at New York university and member of the wartime shipping board.

The Tribune publishes today the first instalment of Irwin's life story. Other instalments will appear in other editions.

BY ROBERT (BOB) IRWIN.

I was born in a gospel tent outside Portland, Ore., the "Rose City." Mother was an exhorter and my father an Evangelist. Both are now dead. Mother's labors for the Lord were her first interest and my birth was but an incident in the busy days of the revival routine. In a corner set off from the main tent, with rag rugs to cover the bare, grassed ground, I came into this troublous world.

Actually, I found out later, I arrived on this earth with a family taint—that of syphilis. Tests in recent years gave a positive count, which indicates that I inherited this dread disease.

Hell Fire Religion O. K. Then.

The revivals which my mother led were the big events in the lives of the horny-handed toilers of those days who found within this a way of escape from their cramped lives. It was an outlet for their suppressed desires and aspirations. Hell-fire religion was good for them.

Dependent on the good-will offerings of the congregation, it was not an easy matter to plan the meals too far in advance. "The worker is worthy of his hire," and "the Lord will take care of thee," were more than songs.

These were the emotional surroundings I encountered in my early youth. To this day the patched tent of the small circus brings back memories of my trooper days. In spite of its wretchedness, I long to go back. Often when I hear the church organ softly peal with the chorus of song, it takes me back over the stretch of years. There is something sad about it, too.

Father from Louisiana.

My father hailed from Louisiana, some kind of lawyer by training who turned preacher. He was called attractive, fiery in speech and convincing. He kept the mourners' bench filled. Converts were many. But he must have been weak-willed from accounts which remain in my memory. He proved the philanderer and easily fell prey to the wiles of the females of the congregation. At times the collections entrusted to him could not be accounted for. Poverty might have served as something of a provocation, since out of this sum must come his competence.

For long periods father would ab-

NINE WOUNDED IN BATTLE FOR UNION CONTROL

Lead and Zinc Mine Workers Victims.

Galena, Kas., April 11.—(AP)—At least eight men and a 15 year old boy parading for an independent union were shot down on the main street of this mining town today in a clash at organization headquarters of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Bystanders said many of the demonstrators, numbering between 500 and 600, were armed with pick handles, but were laughing and shouting as they approached the C. I. O. office. Witnesses said the spray of bullets from the C. I. O. headquarters came after one of the marchers smashed some windows.

Most of the marchers came here after disorder developed at nearby Picher, Okla., in the heart of the large three state lead and zinc mining area—scene of labor strife for two years, but relatively quiet recently as employment has risen with higher metal prices. The rich metal deposits lie in sections of Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri.

"Blue Card" Paraders.

Many of the paraders bore the blue cards of the Tri-State Metal Mine and Smelter Workers' union. It is not affiliated with any national labor organization and has claimed majority strength among the miners. It also has been the object of disputed charges that it is in effect a company union.

On the other hand there is the C. I. O. affiliate, the International Union of Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers.

A few hours before the Galena outbreak, the "blue card" miners prevented a scheduled district organization meeting of the C. I. O. at Picher. Several men were taken to Picher hospitals suffering from battered heads in street fighting in which no shots were fired, but pick handles were wielded.

The demonstrators massed in Galena, a town of 5,000, about 4 p. m. After having wrecked the international union headquarters offices in Picher and at Treece, Okla., two miles from Picher.

Parade Down Street.

Converging at the blue card union hall near 7th and Main streets here, after driving from Picher, the pick handle demonstrators started north down Main street toward the rival international union headquarters.

"We're ready for them; they won't wreck our headquarters," one man wearing a yellow C. I. O. button shouted.

There was a sudden volley of pistol and shotgun fire. At the same time smoke bombs were hurled against the plate glass.

The pick handle demonstrators fell back half a block as the firing continued for several minutes.

Bullets crashed against store buildings across the street and one or two stray bullets crashed through glass in the front of a motion picture theater across the street where a matinée was in progress.

More Bombs Hurled.

Marchers answered the gunfire with more smoke bombs, which burst harmlessly against the brick international union building.

Then the Tri-State paraders fled in confusion from the gunfire and smoke of their own bombs. Simultaneously, reporters said, men inside the building sped to the second floor, then fled down outside stairs into an alley. There they entered their parked automobiles and sped away, unmolested.

Sherif Fred Simkin was called from Columbus, Kas., but it was learned he had gone to Treece because of the disturbance there. He finally reached Galena an hour and a half after the shooting had occurred and padlocked both the international union and the Tri-State union headquarters.

Claim Big Majority.

Tri-state union leaders recently claimed a membership of 8,000, representing 90 to 95 per cent of the mine and smelter workers employed in this district. One published partial survey of the region in the last few weeks estimated that increased lead and zinc prices had resulted in 6,000 men drawing $250,000 a week in wages.

Use of National Guardsmen to stop rioting in the lead and zinc fields of Galena in 1935 provided an issue that was raised against Gov. Alfred M. Landon in the presidential campaign last year. Replying then to critics who charged he opposed labor, Gov. Landon wrote that he acceded to a joint request of the sherif and prosecutor for troops to maintain order and disarm both strikers and company guards.

The governor declared troops protected pickets and those who desired to continue working, without favor, and that gunmen of other states who made it a practice to threaten striking workers in Kansas were forced to stay out.

Independents Defiant.

Picher, Okla., April 11.—(AP)—Glenn Hickman, secretary of the Picher local of Tri-State Metal, Mine, and Smelter Workers' union, said tonight after nine persons had been wounded in a clash between adherents of the union and a rival C. I. O. group at Galena, Kas., his organization would let no one "tell us we can't work."

"Whether it is the C. I. O., or any other organization," he asserted.

About 400 members of the Tri-State union, which is not affiliated with any national labor organization, returned to their homes tonight from Galena where gunfire broke up their demonstration against the C. I. O.

"Virtually every mine worker in this district is a member of the Blue Card union," Hickman said.

Getting Highest Pay.

"The workers," said Hickman, "are drawing higher wages than have ever been paid before in the tri-state mining district.

"Our wages are based on a sliding scale, according to the price of lead and zinc ore.

"We are interested only in keeping conditions like they are and in an opportunity to work."

"We plan to do everything possible to bring the men who committed this depredation to justice," Hickman said. "Our organization is unalterably opposed to strikes because we feel there never was a strike that benefited the workingman."

Map Refinery Drive.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 11.—(AP)—A campaign to organize an estimated 64,800 workers in the oil industry in Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri under the banner of the Committee for Industrial Organization was mapped here tonight by representatives of thirty-one oil workers' union locals.

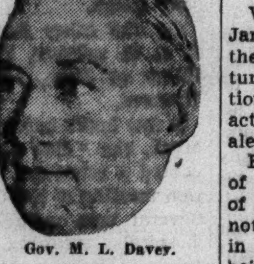
More than 200 men, members of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well, and Refinery Workers in Oklahoma and Kansas, planned the drive.

W. W. Allen, international councilman for the union, said the campaign will include every man employed in the industry from the time a well is started until the finished product reaches the consumer.

"We do not want strikes, whether they be called sitdown strikes or anything else," Allen declared.

RELIEF STRIKERS PLAN ANOTHER TRIP TO CAPITOL

Columbus, O., April 11.—(AP)—Half a hundred relief demonstrators put out of the office of Gov. Martin L. Davey huddled in the bare second story of a decrepit little Negro church tonight, voicing intention to try again Monday to see the governor.



Gov. M. L. Davey.

Nelson Meagley, state secretary of the Workers' Alliance, issued a statement in which he said, "After five days of refusal by Gov. Davey, a new attempt will be made tomorrow to see him.

"The delegation will continue its activities before the legislature to obtain adequate food, clothing, and shelter."

Labor Fight Route

Hundreds of Tri-State Metal union men gathered yesterday for anti-C. I. O. demonstration in Picher, Okla. (1), and marched to Treece, Kas. (2). Wrecking C. I. O. offices there, they went onto Galena (3), where they were fird upon from the C. I. O. office. Some of the wounded were taken to Joplin, Mo. (4), for hospitalization.

PEACE FOR YEAR IS ASSURED BY KENOSHA UNION

Kenosha, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—A contract between the Allen-A company and the Hosiery Workers' union which outlaws strikes, lockouts, pickets, or any other demonstration that might interfere with production and pledges the union to boost sales of the company's products was agreed upon by representatives of the management and employés today.

Under terms of the contract "there shall be no threats, coercion, or intimidation of any kind or character made or exercised by the union members to compel any employé to join the union; nor shall there be any strikes, stoppage of work, sitdown strikes, or lockouts during the term of the agreement.

"It is further agreed that in the event of any strikes or labor disturbances in any other mills or industries anywhere, that there shall be no interruption in the production of the employer by the unions permitting or sending any of its members who are employés of the employer to participate in any picketing or demonstration or otherwise."

The agreement also provides recognition of the union as the sole collective bargaining agency, and sets up a board of arbitration for all internal disputes.

GREEN DEMANDS U. S. PROVIDE FOR 3 MILLION JOBS

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor demanded today a federal works program to provide at least 3,000,000 jobs for the unemployed during the 1937-'38 fiscal year.

He termed the present works program "inadequate" and said it "is falling short by at least 1,000,000 jobs of providing for unemployed families where health and morale are in danger.

His statement came while congress awaited a message from President Roosevelt on revised budget estimates for the 1938 fiscal year. Despite the outside pressure for maintenance of WPA at its present level of 2,200,000 workers, some congressional sources look for a gradual scaling down of WPA rolls.

Green said preliminary unemployment figures for February showed 9,722,000 still without normal employment in industry or government, compared with 10,002,000.

BLAMES LABOR ACT VIEWS FOR SITDOWNS WAVE

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—James A. Emery, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, said tonight that interpretation of the National Labor Relations act, was responsible for the prevalence of sitdown strikes.

Emery contended that although six of the nation's ten Circuit Courts of Appeal have held that the act does not apply to "employment relations in manufacture" its provisions are being enforced against manufacturers "by a board that displays the impartiality of Mussolini dispensing justice to an Ethiopian."

"No criticism of the union has come from the board in all the sitdowns in which it has been ignored," Emery asserted, "but employers who pursued the pathway of the law to ascertain their rights and duties have been rejected."

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 11.—[Special.]—The struggle of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization to gain a toehold in Canada settled down into a war of words today. Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario fired a salvo at Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, and reiterated his statement of yesterday that he would not negotiate with "paid American agitators" in the Canadian General Motors strike.

"We can settle our problems in this province without having the hirelings of John L. Lewis, the master mind behind all the unrest and disturbances in the United States, come here and tell us what to do," Hepburn said. "I'm not going to attempt to reply to all the abuse which Martin at Oshawa last night heaped upon the head of the government here.

If Shoe Were Reversed.

"Suffice it to say that his words were in poor taste. What would the people of the country from which he comes think and say if one of our labor leaders went over there and openly attacked the governor of a state or, for that matter, the President? They'd be apt to take him for a ride on a rail."

Last night at Oshawa, Martin referred to Hepburn as "this prehistoric premier," "Herr Hepburn," and "that General Motors' puppet."

Hepburn today said that a General Motors peace offer submitted to him yesterday, "contains wage raises and other concessions," but that the agreement will stay in his desk at the Queen's Park parliament building until C. I. O. and U. A. W. representatives step out of the Canadian situation.

"Martin is riding about in a private plane while the people he claims to represent are walking the streets," the premier gibed. "That shows what kind of a man he is."

Renew Shutdown Threat.

OSHAWA, Ont., April 11.—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America renewed their threat today to shut down General Motors plants in the United States unless the strike here is settled soon, with the recognition of the union demands.

Talking to hundreds of shivering strikers and their families at an outdoor massmeeting, Hugh Thompson, union organizer, said:

"It won't be many more days that the American workers will stand for this in Canada. General Motors will not build another car in the United States or Canada until this strike is settled."

Thompson said the strike was a battle between the union and General Motors and that all the strikers wanted was for Hepburn to "keep his nose out."

John Noble, president of the Toronto District Trades Labor congress, said the strike was "not an Oshawa fight any longer."

"This is the fight of the workers of Ontario against Mitch Hepburn," he roared.

Thompson dropped a hint of possible trouble ahead when he told the massmeeting that the union might stage a demonstration in Toronto at the seat of the provincial government.

Terrorists Slay 2 More in Palestine; One an Official

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

JERUSALEM, April 11.—Terrorists in Palestine took two more lives today. Ibrahim Youssef, lawyer, vice mayor of Tiberias and a man of moderate views, was shot after attending a wedding in Shafr Amra, a village in northern Palestine. An Egyptian Arab was found slain near Yarkona colony in southern Palestine, near where a German Jewish woman was shot to death the previous night.

Martins in Canada

MARTIN LASHES FORD, HEPBURN AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—Homer Martin, international president of the United Automobile Workers' union, tonight named Ford "King Henry" and referred to Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario as an "ill looking mummy" in his address at a C. I. O. meeting sponsored by the Seaman Body corporation local.

"King Henry is up against a proposition he cannot beat," said Martin. "He will have to change his mind just as General Motors and Walter Chrysler did. The working conditions in his plants are just like a penitentiary, worse than any in the automobile industry."

For the American Federation of Labor and William Green, its president, Martin had apologies. "I apologize," he said, "for their blindness, for their inability to see that we are in a new day of mass production."

Gov. Murphy of Michigan, Martin said, is one of the greatest governors in American history. He urged the union members present to consider their political strength, that it "is just as important as our economic strength."

THIS COUNTESS SPEAKS MIND ON LABOR LEADERS

San Francisco, Cal., April 11.—(AP)—They sat opposite each other when the plane left Seattle, and in time engaged in conversation.

The woman said "if we had labor leaders in Europe like those on the Pacific coast we'd know what to do with them."

The young man grinned.

When Viennese Countess Margaret Lodtwitz arrived here she learned she had been talking to Harry Lundeberg, secretary of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, whose membership participated in the recent 98 day Pacific coast maritime strike.

Oust Russian Commissar in Charge of State Farms

MOSCOW, April 11.—(AP)—The central executive committee today removed Moises Kalmonovich as commissar of state farms and named Kikolai Demchenko to succeed him. Demchenko has been assistant commissar of agriculaure. No explanation was given.

16 Killed, 61 Missing as Storm Sweeps Corea Coast

TOKIO, April 12 [Monday].—(AP)—Dispatches from Seoul, Corea, today reported 16 persons were killed and 61 missing following a heavy rainstorm which swept the eastern coast of Kogendo province. Ten fishing boats were reported wrecked.

EGYPT EXPECTS TO FREE SELF OF MIXED COURTS

MONTREAUX, Switzerland, April 11.—(AP)—Ancient Egypt, gradually regaining national sovereignty, hopes to free herself from what she has called "the shackles of the capitulations" at an international conference beginning here tomorrow.

The capitulations are a series of agreements dating back to the time Egypt was a part of the Ottoman empire and granting foreign nationals the right to be judged by their own laws in mixed international courts.

Diplomats expected the conference to achieve its purpose by establishing a transitory régime to last perhaps twelve years, after which the mixed tribunals would disappear. Egypt's right to tax foreign companies, however, promised difficulties. The United States will be represented at the conference.

A special session of the league of nations for election of Egypt as a member has been set for May 16.

3 Shot in Mexico Primary; Women Vote for First Time

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, April 11.—Three persons were shot in an election fight here today as primaries were held to choose candidates of President Lazaro Cardenas' National Revolutionary party for the June congressional elections. Ten thousand women voted in this city for the first time in Mexican history. Although women have not the right of suffrage, Cardenas allowed them to vote in the primaries, apparently with an eye to determining whether they should be granted full suffrage later.

REDS IN FRANCE AIM TO CAPTURE REGIME BY COUP

Seek to Merge Party with Blum's Socialists.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 11.—The right wing of the Popular Front government of Premier Leon Blum was disturbed tonight at the imminent danger of a merger of the Socialist and communist parties in France. It was not so much the merger itself, but the sinister way in which the communists allegedly propose to accomplish it, that worries the government.

According to leftist and nationalist sources, French communists have orders from Moscow to effect a merger whether the Socialists like it or not—that is, move in on them without demanding any terms and simply on the basis that Marxist principles are common to both—and then to dominate the combination.

Aim to Take Over Rule.

The communists—the left wing of Blum's tripartite government coalition—have been bullying both Blum's Socialists and the farther right radicals from the beginning, with success. Formal amalgamation with the Socialists would be for the purpose of continuing the communists' work and formally taking charge of the government.

Certain circles predict that Maurice Thorez, communist leader, and Jacques Duclos, former baker and a more violent communist even than Thorez, would enter the French cabinet following the merger of the two parties. The communists are not represented in the cabinet.

Nationalist sources relate that the communist coup had been scheduled to take place before now. The Reds, they say, intended to have Senator Marcel Cachin announce the fusion with the Socialists without the latter's formal agreement at a recent Marxist rally.

Blum Makes Plea.

The intention was to present the constituency of the two parties with a "fait accompli" in the belief that the masses of the workers would with their enthusiasm outweigh the objectors among the Socialist leaders.

Premier Blum, informed of this plan, insisted that the communist brethren must not do things that way because it would look as though the Socialists had no choice. He asked that the fusion be put off until the middle of next month. It was understood he wanted to give the Socialist national convention at Marseilles a chance to consider and pass on the situation. The communists were said to have insisted that they would not wait that long.

REBEL SLAYINGS OF PRIESTS HIT IN NOTE TO POPE

PARIS, April 11.—(AP)—The Agence Espagne [official Spanish government news agency] said in a dispatch from Bilbao today that President Juan Antonio Aguirre of the autonomous Basque republic had protested to Pope Pius against "assassination of a great number of priests" by rebel Gen. Francisco Franco's men.

"In my capacity as a practicing Catholic," the agency quoted a telegram from the executive to the pope, "I protest against assassination by rebels of a great number of priests. Information concerning these assassinations has been sent to the Vatican. In the name of the Basque people, who are lovers of justice, law, and order, and in the name of the Christian conscience of many of my compatriots I beg the holy father to break his silence."

Decline to Admit Protest.

VATICAN CITY, April 11.—(AP)—Semi-official Vatican sources declined tonight to say whether the Vatican had received a protest from the president of the Basque republic against alleged assassination of priests.

NEW AMERICAN HOSPITAL UNIT REACHES SPAIN

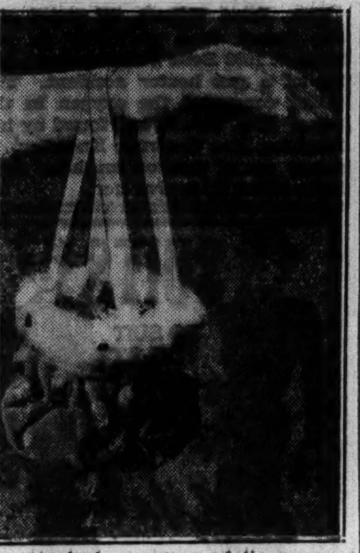
VALENCIA, April 11.—(AP)—A third detachment of the American Friends of Spanish Democracy hospital unit arrived in Valencia today. There were thirteen persons in the group, headed by Dr. Donald S. Pitts of Elk City, Okla.

They left immediately for the new American base hospital near Tarancon, southeast of Madrid. Their number will bring the total of Americans in the unit to 43. More than 100 aids of other nationalities have been added since the unit began operations in Spain.

Coronets Anchored

A model, wearing a coronet, tilts her head to show how securely the headpiece is fastened to her coiffure. The coronet is similar to those which will be worn by peeresses at the coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth.

Arrows point to combs which anchor the coronet. This coronet will be worn by a baroness.



Attached to this model's wrist is a coronet similar to those to be worn by peeresses at Westminster abbey. The headpiece actually will serve as a lunch basket, as guests will have to be in their places early for the ceremony.

what is believed to be a large toll of civilian lives.

The shelling came from Mount Garabitas, in the Casa de Campo, the park on the city's western edge which formerly was the pleasure ground of Bourbon royalty. While shells filled the area the troops of Gen. José Miaja, defense commander, were pushed forward on both sides of the mount, threatening to encircle it.

Third Night of Fighting.

The bombardment came after a third successive night of bitter fighting for domination of the Casa de Campo and adjoining sectors.

Residential districts as well as the downtown section of Madrid suffered from the bombardment. The Gran Via, Madrid's Broadway, suffered the heaviest punishment. One shell started a fire in a church on Disengaño street, one block from the Gran Via.

Another shell landed on a street car in the Salamanca quarter, killing two passengers and injuring several. A shell fired into the Puerta del Sol in midafternoon injured a number of persons. At another spot a shell fell among a group seeking refuge in a subway entrance. Ambulances took away many injured.

Gen. Miaja called the bombardment "vengeance" and charged German experts were directing the fire.

Believe 3,000 Rebels Trapped.

As the shells screamed over and explosions raised clouds of dust and smoke, pedestrians scurried into ground floors and basement retreats. Three cars parked in a row were blown to bits by one projectile that arched steeply over a tall building and fell in the street. The occupants of the cars had just run to cover in a nearby building.

Government troops succeeded in extending an unbroken line along the Manzanares river between Casa de Campo and University City, said Miaja. This was believed to complete the isolation of 3,000 rebel troops in the latter sector.

Gen. Miaja announced the bridge over the River Manzanares, the rebels' means of communication with their University City forces, had been dynamited. New positions occupied by government troops, he said, assured "complete domination" of all points where rebels might be expected to reestablish communications.

A lake in Casa de Campo, north of Mount Garabitas, was encircled by the government forces, which were trying to take a group of houses on the road to the hill itself. About three-quarters of a mile from the lake Garabitas itself reared up, a formidable redoubt.

32 Tanks in Action.

SALAMANCA, Spain, April 11.—(AP)—Spanish rebel reports from the battle front northwest of Madrid today asserted the Fascists continued to hold their ground despite terrific attacks for the fourth successive day by Gen. José Miaja's government troops. One government attack in the Casa de Campo district late yesterday was reported led by 32 tanks.

Five government tanks were reported captured in the Aravaca [northwest] sector when their attack was turned into a rout so quickly that the crews were unable to retreat.

A convoy of 50 trucks bringing government reenforcements from El Pardo, just northwest of Madrid on the Coruna highway, was shelled heavily.

Gen. Francisco Franco's headquarters here denied reports that a number of rebel planes were destroyed by an air bombardment of Malaga.

Bomb Town Near Valencia.

VALENCIA, Spain, April 11.—(AP)—A rebel seaplane today bombed Sagunto, on the coast fifteen miles north of Valencia, killing five persons and injuring several. Government aircraft bombed Motril, south of here, the air ministry announced.

Reporting a government offensive in Cordoba province, south of Madrid, government sources alleged rebels there were reenforced with Italians landed at Cadiz "within the past few days."

"The French Corner"

underscores POROSA ENSEMBLES for spring success

Right from the seaside came the name for this successful new fabric. And right from Paris came the inspiration for these new Porosa ensembles. A little creature belonging to the coral family gave his name for the fabric because of the porous, air-cooling perforations in his shell.

Forstmann applied the idea to wool, producing Porosa which is a cool hard-twist fabric in a perforated-effect weave and yet resistant to moisture and defiant of spots. It is crisp, sheer and soft as chiffon yet requires no pressing because it doesn't wrinkle. For proof of its tailoring effectiveness we sketch two from a new collection of Porosa ensembles that are definitely "the French Corner."

RALPH INCE DIES IN AUTO CRASH; WIFE AT WHEEL

LONDON, April 11.—(AP)—Ralph Ince of Boston, Mass., motion picture director and actor, was killed today when an automobile in which he was riding with his wife struck an iron standard at Kensington. Mrs. Ince, who was driving the car, was taken to a hospital suffering from lacerations on her face.

Ince, formerly connected with the picture industry in Hollywood, has been in England for three years, directing for Irving Asher and Warner Brothers.

Married Three Times.

A son, named Joe E. Ince for Joe E. Brown, the comedian, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ince in London last June 20.

Mrs. Ince is the former Helen Tigges of Ohio. She was Ince's third wife. His first wife was Lucy [Lee] Stewart, sister of the once well known actress, Anita Stewart. His second wife was Lucilla Mendez, dancer and actress, from whom he was divorced in 1932. His brother, the late Thomas H. Ince, motion picture producer, died in 1924 of heart seizure following an attack of indigestion while on a yachting expedition.

Ralph Ince was born in Boston in 1887 and entered motion pictures as an actor after a brief career on the legitimate stage which included an appearance in Richard Mansfield's company in "The College Widow."

Directed Vitagraph Films.

He first directed pictures for the old Vitagraph company. After the introduction of talking pictures he directed or acted in a long series of pictures for Columbia, Radio, Universal, First National, and Monogram companies.

Ince directed and starred in "The Goddess," one of the first and biggest serial pictures ever filmed. He directed Charles Ray in a "comeback" attempt, "Dynamite Smith"; produced, directed, and starred in "The Sea Wolf," based on Jack London's novel, and directed Peter B. Kyne's story "Breed of the Sea."

POLICE FIREARMS BUREAU MARKS 6 YEARS' SERVICE

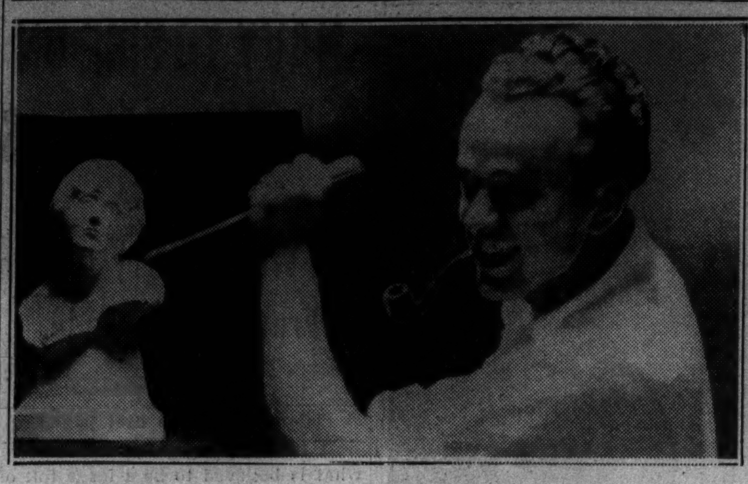
Sergt. Frank Ballou, head of the gun investigation bureau of the police department, looked over a score of pistols, revolvers, shotguns, and other firearms yesterday and remarked that his bureau during six years of existence has assisted in obtaining convictions in more than 1,100 criminal cases.

The bureau has investigated approximately 8,600 guns of every type, Sergt. Ballou said. Its most important task, he said, is to trace ownership, and so far it has never failed to do so.

Sergt. John Janousek, Ballou's assistant, pointed out that criminals try to defeat efforts to trace ownership by filing off the numbers stamped in their guns. But the obliterated numbers can be brought out by heat and chemicals, Janousek said.

'Mad Sculptor' Writes Autobiography



Robert Irwin, sought by New York police as the slayer who killed three people in model's apartment on Easter day, as he appeared at work. Irwin's autobiography starts on page 1 of this issue.

MODEL'S SLAYER SUSPECT WRITES HIS LIFE STORY

Irwin Born in Gospel Tent.

sent himself from his family, with poor faithful mother the sole support of myself and two brothers. Then these absences became increasingly longer until finally he never returned. Rumors were that he had made other family ties in far parts. He was the Elmer Gantry of his day.

Mother came from Texas. She played and sang. Her religion was the consolation from all the woes that flesh is heir to. Day by day and one step at a time was her plan. She never doubted the Lord would provide. Hers was an abiding faith. Though aware of my father's unfaithfulness, she never faltered in her faith in him. There was always the silver lining.

Neglectful of Children.

Though affectionate in her way, she was wedded to God's mission and with this absorbing interest, she became increasingly neglectful of us children. We were reared in squalor, under-nourished, poorly clothed and our housing was merely a shelter. Our life was drab, and insecure. Mother had her religious emotions to sustain her, while we had but empty stomachs to go to bed on.

A charity organization finally persuaded my mother to part with us three boys. It relieved her of a heavy burden and she had more time to serve the Lord. My brothers are convicts in Oregon.

We became inmates of the Oregon training school, which is refined name for an orphans' home. With my two brothers, I soon accustomed myself to the group life. For us it was a step up in comforts and relief from children's fears and dreads. Here were the only continuous school days I ever had, and I ranked high in the school rating. It was here my instinctive love for art, and drawing especially, asserted itself. My brothers were musically inclined and one of them led the school band.

Like other schools of the kind in those days, the children were herded together. There were the usual visiting days for those who had parents, but I soon learned I was but one of the pack and must run with them. From then on I was the lone wolf and have been from those days on to the present.

[In the second instalment of his autobiography, Robert Irwin describes his ideas of beauty and his theories on religion.]

Mrs. Teiwes was found by her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Knoedler. A rescue squad worked an hour in a futile effort to revive her.

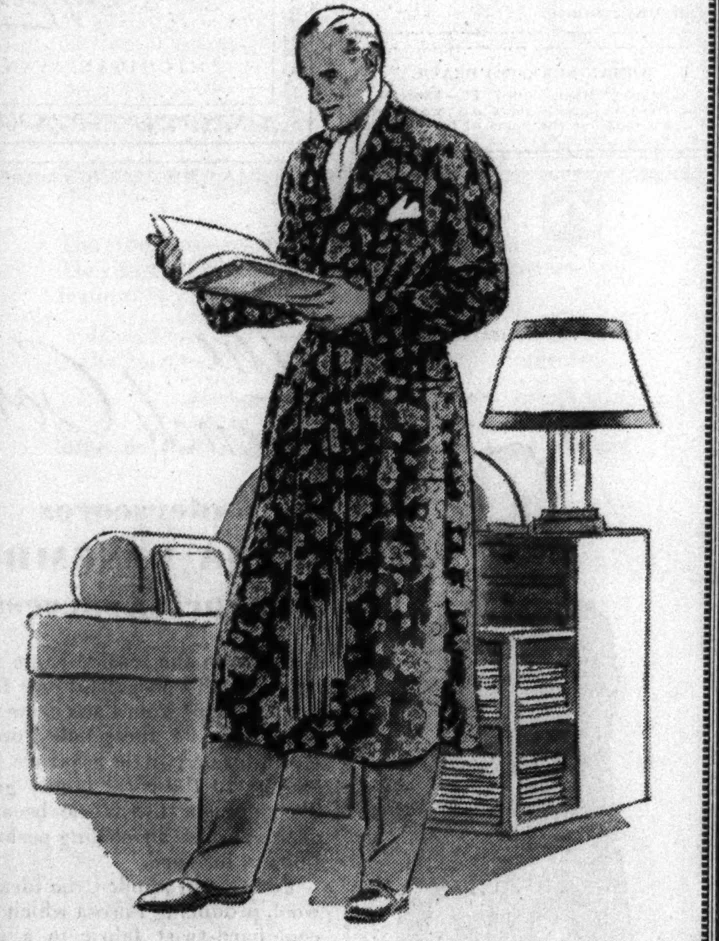
MARSHALL FIELD & CO.



A NEW
Lightweight Robe
$10

ideal for the man who travels or for the man who stays at home

Because we believed a good, synthetic crepe robe at this price would be a better value and give longer satisfaction than a silk at the same price, we combed the market and found this new, lightweight robe. It is a stronger and more serviceable cloth, has a better "feel," is better-tailored, fits you better, has richer colors and patterns, and we believe a longer life than a silk robe at this price. Its small bulk makes it ideal for the man who travels; while its roomy comfort, light weight, and coolness make it equally suitable for the man who dresses or lounges in heated rooms. $10

ATTENDS CHURCH, ADMITS MURDER OF HER HUSBAND

Rockford, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—After attending a religious service in the Winnebago county jail here today, Mrs. Helen Clark, 43 years old, confessed to the murder of her husband, Richard, 53 years old, who was found shot to death in their home on the edge of Rockford last Tuesday night.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Clark had been taken to Chicago to undergo the lie-detector test at Northwestern university, and on Saturday "truth serum" was administered to her, but she persisted that her husband had ended his own life.

After attending today's service the woman became moody and began to weep. Then, toward evening, she called Mrs. Alice Jameson, jail matron, and asked her to send for Sherif Paul F. Johnson so that she might admit the crime. She declared that she had killed her husband because he did not return her love for him.

GUARD VASSAR COLLEGE GIRLS AGAINST IRWIN

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 11.—(AP)—Extra policemen tonight were called to duty at Vassar college after Detective Captain Joseph Shelly said a man resembling Robert Irwin, sought in the Gedeon murders, had been seen loitering near the campus.

Dr. Henry Noble McCracke, president of Vassar, said he had "more regular policemen on duty at night and watchmen in all dormitories have been instructed to be on the alert.

Mrs. Gustave Klein, wife of a drugstore proprietor, and Helen Mario, clerk, told police that a young man who "looked like" the pictures of Irwin, entered the store tonight and purchased a soda.

FATHER IS SLAIN BY TWO GUNMEN IN STORE HOLDUP

Frank Panfil, 55 years old, father of four children, was shot to death last night by two young gunmen in his grocery and delicatessen at 3736 Irving Park boulevard. His wife, Lillian, heard the fatal shot, but did not see the killers.

Albany Park police said the slaying appeared to be quite definitly the work of quick trigger bandits, probably out on their first robbery. Earlier, however, they had considered the possibility that Panfil was slain for revenge in connection with a recent robbery case in which he was the complaining witness.

Alleged Robbers Held.

On March 17 Panfil was robbed of $14 by a young woman and a man, both armed. On April 2 Des Plaines street police rounded up a band of five men and three women as robbery suspects. A few days later Panfil identified two of them, Justine Le Blanc, 18 years old, and James Pecones, 26, as the ones who held him up. All were named in true bills last week, and are now in county jail.

When the gunmen entered Panfil's store last night he was in the rear playing pinochle with his wife; Charles Carter, a friend; Mrs. Martha Czubeck, a sister-in-law, and Mrs. Mary Gerard, a friend. He went outside to wait on the two men, believing them customers.

Hear Cry and Then a Shot.

A moment later those in the rear heard him cry, "A hold up!" and then heard a shot. They ran in front as the two men went through the door. Carter pursued them, but they disappeared in an alley. Panfil lay near the door. Carter found Lieut. Anthony Gentile in the neighborhood. After making a quick search for the gunmen Gentile went to the store to question Panfil, but the latter died on the way to Belmont hospital.

Panfil's family insisted that no robbery was attempted, and that he was slain in cold blood. Police found three witnesses who saw the killers just before and after the shooting. They described them as about 22 years old.

BRITAIN, FRANCE REJECT SPAIN'S MOROCCO OFFER

LONDON, April 11.—(AP)—Great Britain and France today politely declined the Spanish government's offer of special privileges in Spanish Morocco.

Responding to the Valencia government's note dated Feb. 9, France nevertheless "noted with satisfaction the intention manifested by the Spanish government . . . to collaborate with the great democracies of western Europe."

The British and French notes were almost identical. Each government expressed the belief that consideration of offers of Moroccan privileges should await Spain's return to peaceful conditions.

McKINLAY REPLY IS DUE TODAY IN JURY BRIBE CASE

Robert W. McKinlay, a federal receiver who is under indictment on charges of bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the two trials of Frank V. Zintak, ousted clerk of the Superior court, has been ordered to submit written answers today to 135 interrogatories in a contempt citation issued by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

McKinlay's lawyer, Benedict J. Short, pointed out last night that McKinlay's answers to the questions will reveal his defense to two indictments returned as a result of the Zintak jury scandal. Short said he was considering some method of combating what he regards as an invasion of McKinlay's right in compelling him to answer the questions.

3,000 See Zion's Passion Play in Civic Opera House

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of the Christian Catholic church, moved the third annual presentation of the Zion Passion Play from his north shore community to the Chicago Civic Opera house yesterday. The move was necessitated by the fire which recently destroyed Shiloh tabernacle at Zion City. The cast of 300 was greeted by an audience of almost 3,000. Mr. Voliva announced another presentation of the spectacle in the opera house next Sunday.

'BABY CARRIAGE' FIREBUG IS BUSY AGAIN; TWO DIE

Two Others in Family in Hospital; 8 Saved.

New York, April 11.—(AP)—The "baby carriage" fire bug, blamed for more than fifty fires and two deaths, was credited with striking again early today in a Bronx tenement fire which caused two deaths and sent two others to a hospital.

Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy said the fire started in a baby carriage in a ground floor hallway. Another fire, started the same way a few blocks away, was discovered 45 minutes later and extinguished.

It was the first time the "baby carriage" fire bug had struck since last December when he stopped suddenly after successfully eluding for months special police details which sought to trap him.

The police were convinced that the same man was responsible for the series of incendiary fires which occurred in the Bronx because they were all set in the same way—in baby carriages left in hallways by tenants

The dead in this morning's fire were Morro Bressetti, 47, and his 8 year old daughter, Celia. They were suffocated in bed in their flat.

Yolanda Bressetti, 33, wife of Morro, suffered contusions and possible fractures of both legs, and Oriano Bressetti, 10, another daughter, suffered lacerations and possible fractures of her legs. They were injured when they jumped from a window into outstretched overcoats held by passersby as an improvised net.

Admits $23,000 Gem Theft from Jocky Club Official

Miami Beach, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—Detective Chief Earl D. Carpenter said a man listed as Harry Howard signed a confession today that he took $23,000 in jewelry from the hotel suite of Joseph E. Widener, president of the Miami Jocky club. Howard formerly was houseman at the hotel. Carpenter said the gems were owned by Mrs. P. A. Widener. Carpenter quoted Howard, who is 50 years old, as saying he stole the gems in February and hid them behind a couch cushion until he left Monday.

CRUSHING DEFEAT HANDED FASCISM IN BELGIAN VOTE

Premier Wins Seat by 275,840 to 69,242.

BRUSSELS, April 11.—(AP)—Belgian Fascism received a stunning defeat today as Brussels district electors chose Paul Van Zeeland, American-educated premier, to represent them in parliament.

Voters flatly rejected the Rexist leader, Leon Degrelle, Van Zeeland's foe, in a test of Fascist and anti-Fascist strength. The vote was 275,840 to 69,242.

Van Zeeland, whom Degrelle attacked as "American bred—Yale and Princeton," received 75.89 per cent of the votes cast.

The Rexists, backed by their Flemish Nationalist allies, polled 4,479 votes fewer than the two parties received in May, 1936. Then they acted independently.

Premier's Hopes Exceeded.

This showing stung the followers of Degrelle because it made their defeat even more complete than Premier Van Zeeland hazarded it would be.

The more candid of the Rexists privately acknowledged they had not expected Degrelle to win but rather that they foresaw increased support sufficient to show that Van Zeeland had lost the country's confidence. Had this happened King Leopold would have been obliged to dissolve parliament and general elections would have been held in which the Rexists hoped to gain a majority in their campaign for the abolition of parties and creation of a corporate state.

Pledged Against Dictatorship.

Seasoned observers said the ringing victory of the premier, who was pledged to fight dictatorship, did not necessarily mean the end of Belgian Fascism but might oblige Degrelle to reorganize his forces.

The Rexists made gains in four of the thirteen subdistricts forming the Brussels district, but these were wiped out by heavy losses elsewhere. Brussels City gave 76.53 per cent of its vote to the premier. Degrelle announced "the fight will begin anew tomorrow."

Degrelle Blames Primate.

He attributed his defeat to a public letter issued by the primate of Belgium, cardinal and archbishop of Malines, disavowing him.

"It was a late hour maneuver," Degrelle said, "and I did not have time to reply. The Flemish Nationalists also partly deserted me as a result of the primate's letter."

He denied there was any conflict between the Vatican and Rexism, declaring "the conflict is not between us and the church but between us and the archbishop of Malines."

PUBLIC SPENDS $300,000,000 YEAR FOR 'CURE-ALLS'

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—An international prize for gullibility should be established, a group of department of agriculture officials said today, and awarded to the American public for its purchase of "cure-alls."

Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp and a group of colleagues in the federal food and drug administration said the public spends 300 million dollars a year on medicines, nostrums, cure-alls and other preparations "which have no curative values whatsoever."

Miss Ruth De Forest Lamb, one of the officials, said that during the last month the administration seized and prosecuted fifteen individuals who were selling such preparations, "but we have more than fifteen new ones appearing every day." "Grandmother" remedies are among the principal favorites, Miss Lamb said.

ELEVATOR BLAST TOLL PUT AT 4 IN MILWAUKEE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—Two bodies were found by searchers today in the ruins of the corn mill of the Charles A. Krause Milling company plant, bringing the toll of yesterday's explosion and fire to four dead and twenty-nine injured.

The dead were Frank Wozniak and William Porath, found in the deep water filled basement of the mill, and George Becker and Everett Scott, who died of injuries today.

Public curiosity soon after daylight brought automobiles by hundreds to the Burnham street district, threatening to tie up trafic and prevent access of workers to the ruins. Sherif Edward Mitten and the police put lines five blocks away from the mill later in the day, shutting off sightseers.

Fire Is Checked.

The fire that followed the explosion was overcome before daylight and employés and police went into the ruins to search for bodies. Wozniak and Porath were employed on the first floor as packers. Apparently they had made their way to the basement before their injuries stopped them.

Investigations are being pressed by company officials and by Coroner Frank Schultz. The explosion occurred just as the day shift was leaving and the night men coming on. The possibility was advanced that the blast resulted from a fault in electric wiring or carelessness in the disposal of a match or cigaret that ignited explosive grain dust.

Second Blast in Plant.

It was the second serious explosion at the Krause plant. In 1924, fire followed an explosion leveling four buildings and causing one death.

At the County Emergency hospital today Ray Dahl Sr. of Waterford was reported in a serious condition from burns. Four others in poor condition who still were in hospitals are Ray Dahl Jr., Waterford; Robert Reichardt, Stephen Foreit and James Hayes.

RUSSIA FINISHING CANALS BUILT BY FORCED LABOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 11.—With the opening on May 1 of the canal linking Moscow and Volga rivers, making the city of Moscow for the first time a seaport, 200,000 enslaved workers employed in building the canal will be available for other Russian projects. It is predicted they will be transferred to various provinces to work on railway and highway construction.

The Moscow-Volga canal, which was started in 1932, is about 80 miles long. It is the final link in the series of waterways constructed in the last few years by forced labor under the G. P. U. [soviet secret police] to enable through boat trafic from the Baltic and White seas, down the Volga river past Moscow to the Caspian sea.

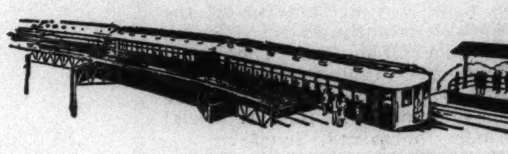
A Sure Way to Entertain Aunt Minnie —or the Kids



A visit from Aunt Minnie is something of a problem. She's been almost everywhere. She knows all about automobiles—drives one herself, in fact. Chicago-through-a-windshield is no treat to her. Yet, there's one way to show her the city that will make a hit . . . Take her for a sightseeing trip on the "L"—one of the few ELEVATED RAILROADS in the world. That's something that will be new to her. She'll see more of Chicago, enjoyably . . . economically. There's no surer way of entertaining any visitor than a trip on the "L".

CHICAGO AFTER DARK

Chicago is never more beautiful than at night. Towering skyscrapers are clothed in jewels of sparkling light. Darkness adds a new mystery to familiar streets, main thoroughfares become blazing whiteways. You've never seen Chicago till you've seen it at night, looking down on it from an "L" train. The town's alive with interesting places to go, fascinating neighborhoods to explore—and the most convenient way to get there is by fast, reliable Rapid Transit.

LET'S GO DANCING ALONG THE "L"

Do you like to dance to the smooth, swinging rhythm of a "big-time" orchestra in the beautiful surroundings of a spacious, modern ballroom? "Dancing along the 'L'" has become the worthwhile recreation of thousands of Chicagoans. Many of the most famous dancing-places of the country—the Trianon, Aragon, Guyon's Paradise, Merry Garden—are reached directly by the "L". Why not visit one of them tonight? You'll have more fun if you go the comfortable way—by "L".

Are the youngsters restless and fretful on out-of-school days? Why not take them for an "L" ride? Ask any child you know—he'll tell you it's fun. Something new every minute. Active young folks can move around as much as they like. A real education, and at the low children's fares the biggest bargain you can find in entertainment today!

TAKE THE "L" TO STADIA, SPORTS EVENTS

Every important stadium or athletic field is on or near the "L" . . . Chicago Stadium, Cubs Park, Dyche Stadium, Mills Stadium, Arcadia, Sox Park, Stagg Field, Soldier's Field, White City . . . many others, and most public parks. Hardly a day goes by without some important sporting event taking place in Chicago. Wrestling matches, fights, hockey games . . . baseball games on summer afternoons, football in the fall. And to all these events the one sure, comfortable way to go is by "L". No traffic jams . . . no parking problems. You go to relax—why let your nerves get jangled going and coming?

HOLD YOUR CROWD TOGETHER . . . MULTIPLY YOUR FUN!

Meet at an "L" station. Board the same TRAIN. Go together, come back together—it's half the fun of the party! If your group is exceptionally large just call Randolph 8200, Local 347, and complete arrangements will be made. The "L" carries hundreds of such parties for lodges, schools, teams and out-of-town sightseers every year.

NO NEED TO DRIVE AT NIGHT

You can relax when you ride the "L" at night. Slippery streets, blinding headlights, cars springing suddenly at you out of side streets—don't give them a thought. "L" service is all-night service. You wait in protected stations, off the streets, out of the weather. If part of your trip is not directly on the "L", transfer from street cars or motor coaches and travel fast by Rapid Transit for the long part of your trip.

GET THERE! Ride the "L" — A RAILROAD!

YELLOW FEVER SOURCE HUNTED BY FOUNDATION

Mosquito Is Not Only Carrier of Disease.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—The annual report of the Rockefeller Foundation within the next few days will admit error in proclaiming the defeat of yellow fever and will present a "new and darker picture of yellow fever," according to a part of the report made public today.

"Reports of the Rockefeller Foundation prior to 1929 expressed the belief not only that yellow fever as a human menace fast was disappearing," according to its president, Raymond B. Fosdick.

"Then," he continues, "almost without warning the South American jungle struck back and in a few years the epidemiological strategy of battle had to be completely altered.

"The first idea was that yellow fever was largely an urban disease, transmitted solely by the ædes ægypti mosquito. The second idea was that through the destruction of the breeding place of this mosquito, yellow fever would disappear.

"As it turned out, both ideas were only partly true. The mosquito certainly is a carrier of the disease. But it has been discovered that an endemic type of yellow fever occurs in areas where there are no arder aegypti mosquitos."

Sweetheart on Trial

MRS. RUTH KLOOZ.

Kokomo, Ind., April 11.—[Special.]—Ray Stansberry, automobile salesman of Logansport, is scheduled to go on trial here tomorrow on a first degree murder charge in connection with the fatal shooting of his sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth Klooz, last September. Police pursued Stansberry after the shooting and he made an ineffectual attempt at suicide in his automobile. He sent a bullet through his shoulders, but soon recovered.

EDITH McCORMICK ESTATE 7% DEBT PAYMENT HALTED

Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court said yesterday he had withdrawn permission given last week for the Chicago Title and Trust company to make a 7 per cent payment to creditors of the estate of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick, of which the company is executor.

The claims total $5,100,000 and the 7 per cent which was to have been paid this week amounts to $357,000. One creditor, the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, foreclosed its $526,000 mortgage on Mrs. McCormick's town house at 1000 Lake Shore drive in 1935 but failed to realize the full amount of the mortgage.

Last week Judge O'Connell approved a 7 per cent payment to the Metropolitan only on the unrealized portion of this $526,000 but the company insisted it was entitled to 7 per cent of the entire amount. The judge said yesterday he wished this issue settled before he allowed any distribution of assets.

Turkish Chiefs in Serbia; New Balkan Lineup Seen

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 11.—(AP)—Alterations in the Balkan political scene were believed in prospect today as Premier Ismet Inonu of Turkey and his foreign minister, Tevfik Rustu Aras, arrived here for conversations. The visitors planned to remain until April 19, then go to Sofia, Bulgaria. Political sources said they believed the possibility of bringing Bulgaria closer to the Balkan entente—which she has consistently refused to join—would form the chief topic of the conversations.

PEACEMAKER FAILS; KILLED.

His efforts as peacemaker in a fight cost the life of Anton Washkowiak, 47 years old, 817 South Honore street. He died in the County hospital yesterday from a knife wound inflicted by one of the fighters.

WHO HERALDS THE SPRING?

By CALEB

SOME mornings ago a full page newspaper ad said, "V—— Gives Us Spring," and presented spring merchandise. During the night preceding that morning, a half inch of snow fell. Snow was still in the air when hundreds of thousands of newspaper readers were "given spring."

Any individual who places an ad in a paper may make a mistake in "calling the turn" on spring. But something there is that can tell the turn of the season. And that is youth—youth in the mass.

We do not know what mystic thing stirs in the marrow of men's bones or in the hearts of trees which somehow is a part of spring. But the effects of this magic we read clearly in our daily transactions.

Some morning we note that many marbles are missing from the displays of yesterday. Balls and bats begin flowing like a young freshet from our counters to the great outdoors.

An earnest investigator would find that spring was being proved by small boys on their knees in city courtways, in parks, in front yards, and in places wherever "mibs" can click and roll. Even a blind man walking in the right places would know that spring had come—not by the balminess of the air, for that sometimes is deceptive, but by the thwack of bat on ball and the thump of ball in glove.

Roller skates are another clew. When roller skates start from our fourth floor and create their cacophony of sounds on the pavements and sidewalks, the curtain is rising on spring. This, too, is a cue from youth.

Spring hats for style conscious ladies are something else. Style is so important and beautiful a thing in the lives of so many adults that it can act over and above the weather and the seasons. The style to which adults are devoted flows with overlapping ease from season to season.

With children it's different. Their spring is truly spring.

Already the trend is on. There is no mistaking the majestic movement of spring, when marbles to be measured by the quarter million, when roller skates to the tune of four or five thousand pair, when stroller carriages and go-carts to pass the thousand mark, begin their exodus from our fourth floor and seek the sky for their roof.

CONGRESS WILL GET RELIEF NEED STORY THIS WEEK

President's Message May Affect Inflation Talk.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Important revelations of New Deal fiscal and economic policies bearing on the danger of disastrous inflation of which Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board gave warning will be forthcoming this week.

President Roosevelt will transmit to congress a message estimating the cost of relief in the next fiscal year, a message that will disclose what possibility there is of that "prompt balancing" of the budget Mr. Eccles pronounced necessary to avert a runaway inflation.

With government revenue falling about 400 million dollars short of estimates the problem of balancing the budget resolves itself into one of radical retrenchment or stiff increases of taxes or a little of both.

Await Labor Decision Today.

The President's projected program of legislation empowering the federal government to fix wages, hours of labor, and otherwise control industry and agriculture will be affected by the Supreme court decision in the cases involving the Wagner labor relations act which may be handed down tomorrow.

Also affected by the Wagner act decision will be the fate of the President's undertaking to pack the Supreme court. If the Wagner act to enforce collective bargaining should be upheld by a substantial majority of the court the President's cause would be weakened, for it would appear that the court was interpreting the constitution as liberally as could be desired.

Nor would a unanimous invalidation of the act help him, for it would be demonstrated that even the court of fifteen justices he proposes would still stand 9 to 6 against him on the question of federal power to control industry and agriculture. A decision either way by a narrow majority presumably would be to his benefit.

Ovation for Justice Hughes.

With the court fight nearing a showdown in the senate, the talk of the capital today was the impressive ovation received by Chief Justice Hughes at the Gridiron club dinner last night in the presence of Mr. Roosevelt. The demonstration was evoked by recognition of Mr. Hughes' 75th birthday today. The chief justice was the picture of physical and mental vigor when he rose to acknowledge the tribute.

Members of the house appropriations committee are pessimistic on the matter of reducing expenditures which now are running half a billion over expenditures last year.

Unofficial estimates gave the conclusion that spending during the present fiscal year would be near $8,430,804,498 estimated. It appeared that the treasury's daily statement of financial position would be changed unfavorably as soon as debt charges were met and adjustments made for a carry-over for more than $500,000,000 of adjusted service compensation transfers.

Cite Expenses of Next Fiscal Year.

Nearly $300,000,000 of new expenditures in the next fiscal year would be authorized, if the housing, farm tenancy, and education measures were enacted, according to estimated appropriations in pending measures.

This includes $135,000,000 for farm tenanacy, $100,000,000 for state educational aid, and at least $50,000,000 for low cost housing aid. The budget for the 1938 fiscal year calls for revenues balancing expenditures, except for $400,000,000 of debt retirement, but the next budget makes no provision for farm tenancy, housing and the education aid measures.

The president said last January that the budget for the next fiscal year would remain in technical "balance" even if he recommended relief appropriations up to $1,500,000,000. Senator Joseph T. Robinson in reply to a question agreed that he had heard $1,200,000,000 mentioned as the possible presidential recommendation, and the possibility existed that the appropriation might be lower than expected. In the same breath, however, he pointed out that the conference of mayors wanted the President to spend $2,200,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

COURT FOE WINS

LYNDON B. JOHNSON.

Austin, Tex., April 11.—(AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, defender of the Supreme court reorganization plan who at the age of 29 bested seven opponents for the 10th Texas district congressional seat, today prepared to throw his support to President Roosevelt's program.

Johnson swept to victory yesterday in the special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James P. Buchanan, chairman of the house of representatives appropriations committee.

Two of his opponents were opposed to the court plans. All are Democrats. One Republican withdrew during the campaign.

W. Fred Barnard Elected Old Time Printers' Head

W. Fred Barnard was elected president of the Old Time Printers' Association of Chicago at a meeting in the Stevens hotel yesterday. Other new officers are William Bentley, vice president, and John H. Quadland, secretary-treasurer. New members of the board are George H. Benedict, W. F. Howe, and James C. Holmes.

NATIONAL ECONOMIC PLANNING.

The nation during recent weeks has had another exciting experience in national economic planning. This was afforded by the steps which the government has taken as a result of growing alarm over the rise in commodity prices, and the steps taken to counteract the effects of these steps.

On March 15 Federal Reserve Board Chairman Eccles pointed out that an inflationary rise in commodity prices was in progress resulting from the government's deficit and urged that the budget be balanced as a condition precedent to the restoration of our economic good health. The reserve bank authorities had previously shown their alarm about the skyrocketing prices by ordering a staggered increase in the amount of funds which each bank is required to keep on deposit with the federal reserve bank.

Mr. Eccles' statement and the preparation to meet the increase in reserve requirements happened to synchronize with a demand for funds by commercial borrowers. These developments found the banks with the bulk of their assets tied up in government bonds. The demands of commercial borrowers alone would have forced the banks to sell some of their governments. But that demand, coming in coincidence with the requirement of larger reserves, meant that a large amount of government bonds had to find new owners before the first of May.

At other times insurance companies and private investors would have come forward to take over whatever bonds were offered and at but small concessions in prices, but not this time. For the receipts of the first quarter instalment of the income tax showed that the government had overestimated the collections by a wide margin. Since the government was not cutting down on its outgo, it was clear that the government would have to sell bonds, too. And if the government was going to offer new securities at the same time that the banks were obliged to throw old securities on the market, the insurance companies saw no reason for haste in buying. Patience has already been rewarded. Some of the government issues have declined five or six points in a month.

Into this breach, after a worried conference over the previous week-end, the federal reserve banks have stepped. The loading up of the reserve banks with government securities is certainly not the end of this incident. Something further has to be done, but what no one is willing to say. As Mr. Morgenthau has said on several occasions, we are on a 24 hour basis.

Some have been inclined to credit the unhappy results of these efforts at national economic control to the inexperience of the managers of our fiscal affairs. There may be something in that. But this is not the whole reason. It is doubtful that the outcome would have been any different if those in control far outranked Morgenthau in erudition and Eccles in practical experience. Our experiences with national manipulation of finances extending over a decade force the conclusion that neither these men now with the reins in their hands, nor any other men, possess so much knowledge and talent as to be able to manipulate money and credit in the interests of the whole people.

It is just ten years since a different group of men in control of the federal reserve system reduced the rediscount rate for the purpose of bringing about better export grain prices in the fall of 1927. There was doubtless some benefit to farmers, but the forcing down of interest rates also produced an unprecedented boom in stocks which culminated in a panic and a severe depression.

In 1931 and 1932 the government sought to revive business and check the fall of commodity prices by making funds more plentiful. This was done by having reserve banks buy government bonds from the banks, giving cash in exchange. The common judgment now is that this operation had no effect at all in checking the downward course of commodities. Certainly it did not bring an end to the depression. The maneuver only served to freeze the liquid funds of reserve banks, so that when the bank panic came they were not in the strongest position to cope with it.

Under the present administration one effort at financial control has succeeded another. To the recent unhappy experience the silver episode is added merely by way of illustration. This government adopted a policy of buying silver in huge quantities with the purpose of raising the price so that silver using countries could buy more of our goods. But instead of increasing the purchasing power of China the higher price drained the country of its metal, giving it a depression. The other result is that we have accumulated a stock of silver for which there is no earthly demand.

The basic difficulty in national economic planning is the limitation of human knowledge. Too much is undertaken. Dr. Adolph Miller, who retired last year after twenty-two years' experience as a member of the federal reserve board, had rare opportunities to observe the use of financial controls by the government. His conclusion was adverse. He told a group of economists a short time ago that "we have been living in an over-manipulated world and the manipulations have worked out frightfully." He is convinced that the country would be better off without the manipulation. On the record it is hard to disagree with Dr. Miller.

THE CHAMPIONS OF COURT PACKING.

Illinois has two Democratic senators and a score of Democratic congressmen, but it was none of these whom the administration sent to Chicago to defend the court packing scheme. Instead we got Senator Barkley from south of the Ohio river in Kentucky. It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that the men of Illinois in congress who are willing to defend the scheme are not able and those who are able are not willing.

Honest Harold Ickes was sent along also, and that is even more difficult to explain. Surely in Washington they cannot be unmindful of the fact that in this community he is a man of little standing. He is remembered as a lawyer who could not earn his living in the practice of his profession; as a patriot who did not fight for his country in the great war; and as a Republican politician who did not hesitate to spend campaign money turned over to him by George Brennan, the Democratic boss.

OPPORTUNITY BECKONS.

Some three or four months ago the United States maritime commission mailed specifications for a new United States Lines' flagship to 125 shipbuilders. On April 2 the sealed tenders were opened to show that only two corporations had been interested in the fifteen million dollar contract. Such news would tend to excite curiosity in the public mind until a little investigation develops that our shipping and shipbuilding industries have fallen to such a low ebb that only two or three yards are equipped to build a modern ship of transoceanic dimensions. Political red tape required that specifications be mailed to every one in the industry, including, we suspect, a substantial number of firms that never have launched anything larger than a yacht and possibly others located on the Great Lakes or even on the Mississippi river.

Three designs were suggested—a practical duplication of the highly successful Manhattan, a streamlined version of the Manhattan type, and a "K" model, which would violate traditions of the sea to follow trends originated in the aviation and automobile industries. The last mentioned design was favored by naval authorities. There was no intention of producing a contender for the so-called blue ribbon of the North Atlantic that has been disputed by the Queen Mary, Normandie, Rex, Bremen, et al.

The streamlined ship should be built despite the slightly higher cost. As the design has been understood, it would embody all that is novel in transportation as well as fireproofing, and other safety features. If the Pullman company, with its vast experience as the world's greatest hotel proprietor, could be persuaded to advise or even operate its service facilities, our overseas traveler would be offered something new in the way of salesmanship. In the meantime the public interest in the new construction should be carefully weighed and more plans devised for succeeding vessels that will give foreign ships a run for their money. The railways managed a revival and the steamship lines can follow suit if they will take courage and conquer tradition. In the meantime the revelation regarding our lack of shipyards will draw public attention to the stiff climb upward that is necessary before the United States reëstablishes itself as a principal maritime nation.

THE SOUTHWEST LEVIES TRIBUTE.

New Mexico and Arizona are among the western states which have set up port of entry systems to tax motorists from other states for use of their highways. While these taxes are levied in theory only on passenger cars used for commercial purposes, and trucks, the zeal of enforcement officials in the two states mentioned has resulted in a considerable harassment of tourists as well.

In protest against such practices, automobile clubs are warning their members to avoid New Mexico and Arizona. An alternate northern route to southern California by way of Salt Lake City is already free of snow. The motor clubs estimate that a tourist switch will cost Arizona and New Mexico a third of their present income of $130,000,000 a year from the trade.

The United States is what it is today because for nearly a century and a half it has managed to avoid the erection of interstate barriers against the free flow of commerce and travel. The port of entry system, in practice if not in theory, is fostering the erection of substantial equivalents of customs barriers on state boundaries.

The long term interest of New Mexico and Arizona in free communication between the states is greater than any temporary interest they may have in imposing highway costs on their neighbors.

Editorial of the Day

THIRD DEGREE.

[Minneapolis Journal.]

Reporting New York police efforts to discover the murderer of three persons, the New York Sun said April 1 that one Gedeon, husband of one victim and father of another, had been questioned unceasingly by the police for twenty-four hours. This was the description of the procedure:

> For almost 24 hours Gedeon has been walking a circle naked, a detective at each side while other detectives walk with him, pounding him with questions, trying to make him "break." He has had little or no food and no sleep. His thin, mustached face is red and fatigued, his glasses are fogged with perspiration, and his narrow shoulders droop.

A day later Gedeon was released under bond, accused of possessing an unregistered weapon. That charge was for the sake of holding him after the police had failed to pin the murder on him.

On April 5 the Associated Press brought in this dispatch from New York:

> Police today branded Robert Irwin, 29 year old sculptor and divinity student, the murderer in the triple slayings Easter Sunday on Beekman Hill as they sent out a general alarm for his arrest.

The murder was an especially atrocious one. But suppose Irwin is found guilty of the murder. Where does this leave the police? And where does it leave Gedeon? And where, respect for the administration of the law?

Spring is here. The sweet young things are strolling the avenues with their friends of the week. They bring back memories of Alf, the hired hand. . . . 'Twas Alf who, one spring night, lit a smoky, smelly lantern to help him on a half mile journey through the fields to the home of his one and only. His employer, a nickel nurser [that was before AAA], protested the use of his lantern. "When I was courtin' my wife I never took a lantern with me," said he. To which Alf retorted, as he finished lighting the lantern and moved to the door, "That's the truth—and look what you got." C. of Ottawa.

THE BROOK.

Long ago all traces of the little brook I used to know were lost in an underground drain tile and the trees that protected it were cut down. But in the old days we were pals, the brook and I, especially in the springtime. Soon after it was released from its wintry fetters of ice I cast off my shackling shoes and joined it in the woods. I loved the clear, cool water, rippling over pebbles with the tinkling tones of fairy bells, or whispering through rushes with a murmur softer and more soothing than the wind in pine trees. Clear, cool water, with minnows playing in it, with water spiders walking upon it, wild birds laving in it, and I dabbling my bare feet in it.

Idlers, both of us, yet Time was hurrying us on even then to the distant sea—the brook by way of Sugar creek and ever broadening rivers, and I through the Sugar creek of Youth and the rivers of manhood to the briny sea of age. The ravine we loitered in was a deep and shadowy retreat, guarded by swarthy sycamores and elms. Flowers tiptoed shyly along the brink of the brook early in the season, but later they were routed by a vandal host of roughneck weeds that scoffed at and sometimes almost choked the brook, and it never seemed so merry after they appeared. When it arrived at the creek it was charming still, but had lost much of its pristine glamor. Its voice changed, its waters became often turbid, and it had sandbars and swimming holes, and was inhabited by bigger fish and mud turtles and occasional snakes.

But even after the brook reached the ocean I fancy it still retained dreamy memories of its infancy in the woods in springtime, and would gladly have exchanged some of the salt of experience for one more taste of the freshness and sweetness of sylvan things. For the sea has such dim and far horizons and such cruel winds; and the cry of gulls is so harsh and lonely. Eolus.

THE RATIONALE OF PEPTIC ULCER.

As long as we endure the hurly-burly of daily life we shall probably have a high incidence of peptic ulcers. Thirty-five per cent of the patients, in some series, who have stomach symptoms—chronic indigestion with pain—have such lesions, and two-thirds of these are found in the first portion of the intestine—not in the stomach proper. In 3,000 patients studied in one of our large clinics, ulcers occurred five times as frequently in the duodenum as in the gastric pouch.

In the age bracket 15 to 50, when men and women are more active and have greater responsibilities, there is found a higher proportion of these cases. The optimum period is early adult life and long hours without food, irregular meals, and occupations involving considerable nervous strain have much to do with the onset.

There is also a typical ulcer constitution—the thin, worried young man whose face is lined with wrinkles and who appears, and is, anxious about everything. He is a mental sprinter who exhausts his endurance quickly.

Fortunately most of these affairs are prone to heal spontaneously, but they also have a tendency to recur. Periods of distress will be followed by intervals when the patient feels perfectly well. Gradually, if an ulcer is in the process of development or of recurrence, the attacks of pain will persist for a longer time, associated with a feeling of tightness or fullness in the stomach area, severe enough to interfere with work.

Where is the characteristic pain located? In most cases it will be felt below the breastbone in the center of the body and may bore through, as the patient will state, to the back. One thing may be said rather definitly, namely, that when discomfort in this vicinity wakens one out of a sound sleep and is relieved by food or alkalis, the chances are that an ulcer is present.

Most victims observe that the difficulty is accentuated if they are tired, and now and then this is confused with functional indigestion or with what is called nervous dyspepsia. If under a rest program, or at least amelioration of work, the pain disappears and does not return, ulcer may be disregarded. If it persists, however, even though it is milder, we are not entitled to dismiss the situation wholly. Nausea and vomiting are fair indications of trouble, and the constant occurrence of water brash or sour material in the mouth, although frequently coupled with functional indigestion, is significant.

Strange as it may seem, the appetite is usually good. Sometimes the patient will conclude that such and such food is bad for him and he may eliminate articles from the diet until finally he is eating so little that considerable loss of weight ensues. Such a one should drink rich milk between meals, as this is the least irritating food and usually will bring relief, at least for the time being.

Let us assume that an ulcer has been discovered. The question then is what to do. First of all the patient must be given a curtain lecture by his physician in understandable terms, pointing out that cure is entirely possible, but the job is one in which he himself plays a prominent rôle. He must adopt a regular daily program, avoid excesses of all sorts, and arrange for as many half hours of inactivity as is consistent with his duties. Second, unimportant tasks that can be unloaded upon some one else should be so disposed of.

Sores will not heal if they are constantly irritated, and a gastric or peptic ulcer is a raw sore. The stomach, therefore, must be rested. Its movements must be restricted and the excess acid, if present, absorbed or neutralized. With some people the organ contracts more vigorously when it is empty than when it contains food. Filling the pouch one-third to one-half full with soft material, protecting the membrane with gastric mucin or some other bland substance is the program.

An ulcer diet will be sent if stamped, addressed envelope accompanies request.

YAWNING.

Mrs. M. B. writes: For the last two or three months when I yawn I feel as if my jaws are going to stay open or go to one side. They snap when closing the mouth. Once I start to yawn I continue to do so for some time. I feel as though my jaw would become dislocated. What is the matter with me?

REPLY.

Yawning is one of nature's signs of fatigue. It may ensue if sufficient oxygen is not supplied to the blood. It is one of the early signs of an enfeebled circulation. In some persons it is purely a question of habit, occurring in those who are naturally indolent or lazy. The cracking sound is due to a minor deficiency in the lubricating fluid of the joint. It may indicate also some slight degree of arthritis. If obliged to yawn, do not do so expansively, that is, to the limit of your ability to open the jaw. Dislocations have occurred in this manner. Get more sleep and do not overload the digestive tract.

DROPPED STOMACH.

C. A. E. writes: What are the causes and the symptoms of dropped stomach? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

In most instances the stomach will function reasonably well regardless of its position. Sometimes overfilling the gastric pouch [overeating] will cause it to stretch and hence hang lower than normal. Posture is an important factor. One who stands erect, who is able to contract the abdominal muscles, will have little to fear in this respect.

There is, however, a well recognized type [Glenard's disease] in which the stomach and the intestine lie low in the abdomen. Most of these patients are thin and stoop-shouldered. Exercise, good posture, and an abdominal binder will remedy the situation in most cases.

Mrs. Q. writes:

1. What is Osgood-Schlatter's disease?
2. Is there a cure for a 12 year old child with this disease?
3. Is it all right to give her grapefruit and orange juice for breakfast?

REPLY.

1. A deformity of the large bone of the lower leg, technically known as osteochondritis deformans. The cause is supposed to be a low grade infection.
2. Most cases recover spontaneously, but support for the diseased part will aid healing.
3. Yes.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD GARDENER'S DREAM

From the Tribune's Columns

20 Years Ago Today

APRIL 12, 1917.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Warning that German submarines are operating in the Pacific was sent to all steamship captains at sea by wireless on order of Lieutenant Commander E. C. Woods of the Twelfth naval district here. Where the submarines are operating was not disclosed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America is to be consulted and its coöperation asked in every plan which the entente allies will make in regard to the future conduct of the war. It is to be urged to agree with the entente powers, not only on the methods of defense but also the methods of making peace. It is understood that the administration favors this plan.

AMSTERDAM. — The American army is held up to ridicule by Maj. Moraht, writing in the Deutsche Tages Zeitung. He said: "The American army is no danger to Germany. The civil war cost half a million lives because neither side had a trained army. Now Wilson, forgetful of history, is trying the same thing, but it will be shown once more that the braggadocio of his countrymen is in inverse ratio to their fighting value."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—While again maneuvering for a separate peace with Russia, Germany is concerned over the attitude of Denmark, which is the subject of great pressure to enter the war on the side of the entente allies.

CHICAGO. — The Chicago Retail Grocers' association unanimously indorsed suggestions that all gambling in foodstuffs be prohibited; all sales on the Board of Trade, except for actual delivery, be stopped, and all trading in futures be restricted, if not prohibited. The suggestions will be forwarded to government authorities at Washington.

AMSTERDAM.—Two hundred persons have been killed and wounded in rioting at Aix la Chapelle, according to advices received by the Nieuwe Amsterdamsche Courant. The town hall in the city was said to have been fired.

CHICAGO.—A man who worked as a cook at the Saddle and Cycle club —an organization composed of many of Chicago's wealthiest citizens—has been taken into custody by government secret service agents as a German spy. The man, who gave the name of Andrew Rosenburger and stated he was proud of his German citizenship, boasted he had held the lives of the club membership in his hands for months.

MINOR'S FUNDS.

Chicago, April 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have just started to read your column and find it very interesting. My problem has me guessing as to what I should do. In 1927 I was hit by an automobile and received a big cut on my left leg and a fractured skull. I was awarded $1,000. Out of this I had to pay hospital bill, doctor's bill, lawyer's bill, court fees, etc., which left a balance of $585.95. I drew the cash out and had $500 left.

1. Then some one down there put the money on a $500 bond, without my or my parents' consent. The bank was paid $50 to hold that for me until I became of age.

2. Did they have a right to put that money in a bond? I found out the other day that when I am 21 [3] they will give me the cash and that $500. I don't care for the bond.

4. Is there any way I could find out who signed his name to that bond and could I reopen that case again? F. S.

1. This implies that the money was not merely deposited in your name but that the bank was made guardian of your estate. We suggest that you look up the guardianship records in the office of the clerk of the Probate court.

2. You will probably find on the records that they obtained court authority.

3. We do not understand you at this point. The bank you name is not in existence.

4. Your first step should be to look up the court records.

SENSELESS WARFARE.

Chicago, April 7.—The senseless warfare between labor and capital is reminiscent of two dogs fighting for a bone, which another and foxier cur consumes, while the two destroy one another.

While our two dogs tear at one another's throats over division of the profits of industry, the foxy cur, government expense, gets away with it all.

With government already taking 25 cents to 30 cents of every dollar the nation earns, and its demands steadily increasing, there is little left over which to fight; and that little is being destroyed by the futile struggle.

Labor and capital are natural allies, dependent upon each other and upon the production of wealth through their joint efforts. Taxes to support a topheavy and expanding political incubus absorbs more and more of the wealth produced, leaving less and less for the producers to divide. How can wages increase with government taking the profits?

By exercising our alleged intelligence, we producers should see the futility of fighting among ourselves and the necessity for joining forces against the confiscation of what we produce. So long as we tolerate myriads of political parasites, with their waste, graft and squandering of all kinds, just so long the billions they take will come out of our pockets and pay checks. Any 10 year old schoolboy can tell that if a workman earns $100 per month, and the government takes $30 of it to support some lazy bum or political satellite, only $70 remains for the man who produced it.

It is swell business for politicians, from the President down, when they can keep us quarreling among ourselves while they play Santa Claus, buy votes and live the life of Riley on our hard earned substance. S. Z. SCHENCK.

EGGS BY THE POUND.

Newark, O., March 29.—A writer inquired recently in this column why eggs are not sold by the pound. The big wholesale markets buy them that way, as your correspondent can learn by consulting the big eastern produce market reports.

At the Wooster, O., egg auction, where 750 producers sell their eggs to the highest bidder, the eggs are graded to five or six sizes and sold by grades, and the producer is paid accordingly.

Most consumers also know their eggs and refuse to pay top prices for eggs under standard weight. The government standards are fair if the producer gets paid for what he produces and the consumer gets what he pays for.

O. E. COOPERRIDER.

DAMAGE SUITS AND DOWNSTATE JUDGES.

Chicago, April 4.—Corporation Counsel Hodes' recent tirade against downstate judges who have "good intentions," "integrity," and a "knowledge of general law," bespeaks a contempt for the very qualities in a trial judge that should command the respect of litigants.

No litigant, not even the city of Chicago, is entitled to special consideration in a court. A moment's reflection ought to convince Mr. Hodes that a street in a metropolitan community, used by thousands daily, ought to be kept in better condition than a seldom used road in the country. A judge from a downstate community, used to applying country standards, might be disposed to favor a municipal corporation defendant at the expense of one of its injured citizens because, not in spite of, his lack of knowledge of local conditions.

Mr. Hodes pretends to think his own office is free from blame. If Counsel Hodes would turn over, for a trial period, this department of his office to the same counsel who defend clients of liability insurance companies from personal injury suits, the citizens of Chicago would learn a great deal about where the fault lies in this respect. M. S. A.

CANVASSERS.

Chicago, March 6.—Mr. H. L. Davis says he hates door to door salesmen. I myself am not one of them, but I think we should try to help them by purchasing the things they have to sell. These people are real patriots and good citizens. They do not lean on government help but keep their self-respect by earning a living.

I have a suggestion to make. Print on a paper: "Night worker sleeping; please do not disturb." I am sure all door to door salesmen will respect Mr. Davis' wishes and pass up his door.

JOSEPH E. CHVATAL.

DOGS.

Glenview, Ill., March 30.—I would like to congratulate you on the splendid column which appears every Sunday in your Graphic section, conducted by Bob Becker. The one which appeared Sunday, March 14, was a masterpiece.

WILLIAM SCHAFER,
Lindenhof Kennels.

QUESTION.

Chicago, March 31.—What has happened to Officer William Ward's promotion? He is the policeman who shot the "masked bandit." Remember? Courage of the type that he displayed should be rewarded by something more than a handshake or a pat on the shoulder. SOUTH SIDER.

DAWN REVEALS BODY IN AUTO DEATH MYSTERY

Driver Aware of Striking Something in Dark.

In the darkness early yesterday, Edwin Henderson, 33 years old, 228 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, and his wife, Hiltrude, felt their car strike something in North avenue as they drove out of Oak Park toward Elgin. He found blood on the bumper, but neither he nor Oak Park police, whom he summoned, could find the victim.

At daybreak, State Highway Policeman Louis Monogue found the body of Henry Zimmerman, 79 years old, 4014 North Laporte avenue, in bushes near the North avenue pavement, opposite 21st street in Melrose Park, a mile west of the spot where Henderson said the accident happened. Police said a second motorist may have moved the body after running over it and thinking he had killed the man.

Two Killed in Hammond.

Jackolyn Horton, 3 years old, was killed yesterday in front of her home at 537 Cherry street, Hammond, by a car driven by Newton Branson, 18 years old, a neighbor. David S. Weiner, 42 years old, 32 Kenwood avenue, Hammond, died yesterday after his car collided Saturday night with a bus at 169th and Hammond streets in Hammond. The bus plunged through windows of a store, but ten passengers were unhurt.

An automobile, knocked on the sidewalk by a taxicab, struck and fatally injured William Sullivan, 42 years old, last night. Sullivan, a street car conductor living at 226 East 69th place, was standing on the northwest corner of Wentworth avenue and 69th street when a northbound Yellow cab, driven by George E. Davis, 39 years old, 601 East 60th street, rammed the westbound machine of William Duncan, 21, of 7115 St. Lawrence avenue. Duncan's machine bounced to the sidewalk, hitting Sullivan.

Shirley Radcliffe, 9 years old, colored, 6752 St. Lawrence avenue, died in St. Bernard's hospital early today of injuries suffered yesterday afternoon when she was run down by an automobile at Marquette road and Champlain avenue. The driver was Carlo Fioretti, 25 years old, 208 East 153d street, Harvey.

Two Hurt in Crash.

Two persons were injured yesterday when fire engine 119 swerved to avoid an automobile moving across its path at Touhy and Harlem avenues and struck the stopped car of Roy G. Chaffin, 32 years old, 8307 Olcott street, Niles. Chaffin's wife, Jewell, 28 years old, suffered face injuries, and Fireman Fred Both, 41 years old, 2937 Lowell avenue, was thrown to the pavement and incurred a broken right arm and possible internal injuries.

Percy Keeley, 45 years old, 6945 North Ashland avenue, was arrested as driver of the car that cut off the fire engine. He was found to have a cataract in his left eye and admitted he read with a magnifying glass.

Die After Trafic Mishaps.

James Malecek, 67 years old, 4842 South Wood street, died in Southtown hospital last night of injuries suffered Saturday night when he was struck near his home by a car driven by George Dombroski, 24 years old, of 4917 South Marshfield avenue. Dombroski was held.

Peter Galman, 19 years old, 3329 Lithuanica avenue, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries incurred in a collision April 4 at Canal street and Cermak road. Five others were hurt when the car driven by John Jankaukas, 12422 South Carpenter street, Calumet Park, collided with a cab driven by Frank Nardo, 742 Forquer street.

By 4 p. m. yesterday 295 persons had been killed in Cook county trafic accidents since Jan. 1, the coroner's office reported. Of these deaths, 233 occurred in Chicago, where 5,419 were injured in the same period.

Semi-Finalists in Charter Jubilee Talent Parade

Tour Is Planned

Young singers, dancers, musicians, and actresses performed last night in Recital hall of the Auditorium building in the first of the semi-final contests in Chicago's Charter Jubilee talent parade. Another semi-final contest will be held next Sunday and final judging will be April 25.

Winners will go to Hollywood for screen tests, with possible contracts in the offing. Four winning performers will tour the county in a "covered wagon" trailer in behalf of the Chicago Jubilee events, urging persons in other cities to attend. Twenty will make shorter tours. The contest is sponsored by the Chicago Jubilee committee.

Forty boys and girls between 16 and 21 years old, chosen from an original field of 680, appeared last night.

Japanese Girl Sees Chicago on Way to Rotary Conclave

Chikako Uyeda, who will perform the Japanese tea ceremony at the Rotary International convention in Nice, France, early in June, saw Chicago sights yesterday with her father, Kokichi, a Tokio industrialist. They also will visit Washington, D. C., and New York City before going to France. Miss Chikako demonstrated the ceremony and several dances for a photographer.

Four Californians Drown When Motor Boat Upsets

Fresno, Cal., April 11.—(AP)—Four residents of nearby Corcoran were drowned and five others were rescued when a motor boat capsized on Tulare lake this afternoon. The dead were: Mrs. Esther Batelle, 45; her daughter, Betty Jean Batelle, 12; Albert Switzer, 21; Maxine Elliott, 12.

Appleton Couple Killed When Train Hits Auto

Appleton, Wis., April 11.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Newland, Appleton, were killed today when a Chicago and Northwestern road passenger train struck their automobile at a grade crossing. They were 69 and 61 years old, respectively.

ROOMER FOUND DEAD OF GAS.

Roy Briette, 48 years old, was found dead yesterday in a gas filled bathroom in a rooming house at 849 Lakeside place. Police found rags and paper stuffed into cracks around the door and window.

NINE COACHES OF FAST CHICAGO TRAIN DERAILED

Plymouth, Ind., April 12 [Monday].—Nine coaches of the Pittsburgh section of the Pennsylvania railroad's Gotham Limited were derailed early today at Grovertown, ten miles west of here. The train left Chicago at 10:30 o'clock last night. One hundred and thirty-six passengers were shaken up, but only two injured. Their injuries were slight, an ankle sprain and a thumb bruise. The passengers were bound for Cleveland or Pittsburgh.

The cause of the accident was not learned. The locomotive and first three coaches of the train stayed on the rails, but eight Pullmans and the day coach jumped the tracks. All remained upright. All are steel cars. The two-way tracks were blocked, and following trains were detoured to Logansport.

TWO SHOT TO DEATH, ANOTHER WOUNDED IN DANCE HALL BRAWL

Battle Creek, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—Three persons were shot, two fatally, in a brawl at a dance here early today. Those killed were Sue Kawecki, 19 years old, a bystander, and Andrew Frcak, both of Battle Creek.

Antonio Marco is under police guard at a hospital with a bullet wound in his leg. Louis Babick is held in jail for investigation.

Police were told the shooting took place when Frcak struck Marco, who shot him and the girl, and that Marco was wounded when Babick tried to take a gun from him.

INDIAN KILLED BY AUTO.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—John Paul, 57, Indian from the reservation near Athens, Mich., was struck and killed by an automobile near here today.

SHOOT EAGLES TO SAVE LAMBS; BIRDS KILL DEER

Boise, Idaho, April 11.—(AP)—State Game Warden Amos Eckert today proposed intensification of a month old campaign against the golden eagle after he received a letter from central Idaho saying the big birds were killing lambs.

"I have one eagle execution squad of five men in the central Idaho Salmon River country now," said Eckert. "They will get new orders to shoot every golden eagle they see, destroy all the nests and young they can find. If necessary, more hunters may be sent out."

Elmer Keith, of North Fork, wrote:

"I have found up to a dozen sets of lamb feet in one nest and one to three sets of young mountain goat feet in a nest.

HERE THEY ARE — 24 SUPERB VOLUMES — AWAITING YOUR CALL—THEY'RE YOURS — IN THE AMAZING PRESENTATION OFFER TO READERS OF THE

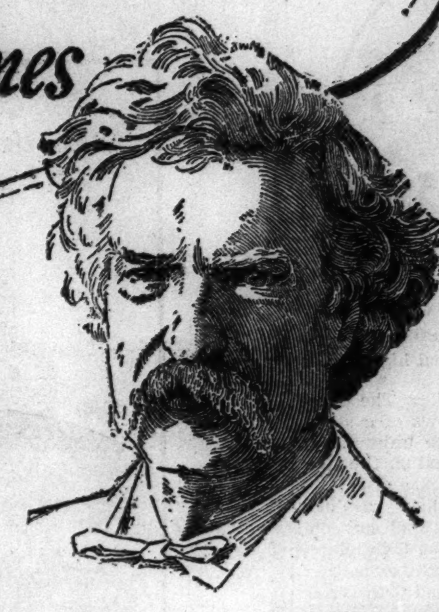
WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

The Complete Works of MARK TWAIN
AUTHORIZED EDITION
In 24 Magnificent Volumes



Yours at last! The glorious library that you have always wanted. That EVERYONE has wanted. . . . The precious, closely held works of America's Prince of Laughter, her greatest, best-loved author!

WHO has not some time dreamed of owning a complete set of the sparkling, laughter-compelling, thrill-packed works of America's supreme writing genius? Pause, then, to consider the modern publishing miracle specially wrought for you and every reader of the Chicago Tribune. . . . Twenty-four superb volumes—the Complete Works of Mark Twain—and yours, practically for the asking.

Rare, indeed, the family fortunate enough to possess this Authorized Edition. Other books, yes, but not MARK TWAIN! For these are copyrighted, closely held, precious volumes. These are all the world-celebrated stories, novels, travel tales, essays, speeches—all the exciting, soul-stirring works of genius of the Prince of Laughter—America's supreme contributor to the great literature of the world. This is the glorious library NEVER before within reach of the average American family—that holds Mark Twain in such pride and esteem—that loves his books, his laughter-filled stories best of all!

Here they are—and all yours! For they are practically a gift to you in this belief-shattering surprise to Chicago Tribune readers!

Imagine! Twenty-four superbly bound and printed volumes! Massed together, stretching more than forty inches of width. A magnificent library containing over thirteen thousand pages and three million words. Weighing thirty-three pounds! Splendidly illustrated with delightfully painted, handsomely reproduced scenes and situations from the stories. New, clean, large-faced type. Select, white wove, nonglaring paper, specially chosen for its easy-reading qualities. Luxuriously stamped and embossed binding. Finished with gilding!

Books to read and reread and treasure all your life. Books of proud, enduring beauty. Books no truly American home can afford to be without! And YOURS—as a reader of the Chicago Tribune—practically as a gift!

A Chance You May Never Have Again

Read the giant list of titles and enjoy the thrill of a lifetime! Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn! Can all the field of living literature show two more famous characters? What child and what adult has not breathlessly followed their adventures? "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," "The Prince and the Pauper," "Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc!" What novels in all the libraries of the earth are more justly renowned, more widely loved than these? And who but Mark Twain had such breadth of genius as to encompass ALL these!

"Connecticut Yankee" is perhaps the most uproarious, side-splitting riot of fun ever penned. "Joan of Arc" is a tender, compassionate, adoring tribute, a soul-searing tale that will leave your eyes wet with tears and your heart uplifted with heroic inspiration. "Prince and the Pauper" was Mark Twain's own favorite, most famous of all child's stories. Transformed into a play, Twain himself and his children acted in it. Transformed into a movie, the amazing adventures of a prince and a beggar boy who changed places entranced the audience of the world!

Virtually beyond the power of any pen to describe the range, depth and majesty of these works. Literature that was the despair of every author of his time. Novels and stories translated into more languages than any other. Books that have stirred people in all lands to mighty acclaim, that stand today as an imperishable monument to America's greatness. To think of owning them—all of them—and for hardly more than the asking!

"Innocents Abroad," called the greatest book of travel ever written. Frolicsome, wise, pervaded with joyous laughter. Twain himself, footloose, young, seeing the world with a twinkle in his eye and a chuckle up his sleeve. "Mysterious Stranger," weirdly gripping, supernatural tale set in the ghost-ridden Middle Ages. Twain's uncanny imaginative power at its finest.

"Life on the Mississippi," immortal saga of the romance-driven, adventure-seeking characters, and scenes of past glory on the river. Fact and drollery mingled in an enthralling, stirring story that you will hate to leave when the last page is reached. "Gilded Age," hilarious tale of the famous Colonel Sellers, penniless and cheery gentleman with wild pretenses of grandeur and perpetual schemes for vast financial ventures—one of the most famous characters and best loved books in all fiction. "Pudd'nhead Wilson," "What Is Man," "Man That Corrupted Hadleyburg"—let your eyes feast on the brilliant list of world-celebrated novels, stories and essays that will keep you entertained for years of gay, laughter-studded reading!

No family in all America can afford to deprive themselves of this glowing, amazing opportunity. Here is a chance you may NEVER have again! So seize it! Now! Read below how easily you may—as a reader of the Chicago Tribune—receive your volumes. Then send in the Reservation Form immediately.

How to Get Your 24-Volume Library — Almost as a Gift!

What You Have to Do

The first thing to do in order to receive your library is to fill in and mail the Reservation Form and Label at the right.

You will be sent by return mail Privilege Vouchers entitling you to the complete library of twenty-four volumes. As soon as we receive your reservation the first two volumes will be printed and bound, to be ready for you, straight from the presses, two weeks from now.

Every volume is published by Harper and Brothers and when the first group of two volumes is placed in your hands the second group is put to press, to be ready for delivery at the end of two more weeks—and so on until your twenty-four volume library is complete.

You will find each day on page 6 of The Daily TRIBUNE a numbered Mark Twain Certificate. Clip out and save these until you have 12 of them. Then bring in your 12 Certificates with appropriate Voucher and 67 cents for each complete group of two volumes. Not 67c for each volume but 67c for BOTH VOLUMES.

You can commence to collect the numbered Certificates at any time within the next few days, but the sooner you begin the more quickly will this incomparable library be in your home.

Important!

In extending this great privilege to readers of The TRIBUNE there are two difficulties, both of which make it necessary for you to act promptly if you want your volumes.

First, there is the difficulty of supplying a huge demand with the limited edition which the copyright owners have permitted to be published. No reservations can be accepted beyond the allotted figure!

Second, the cost of paper, printing and binding is rising every day. If you do not reserve your set immediately we cannot guarantee to supply the volumes at the nominal cost mentioned above!

MARK TWAIN Reservation Form

No application from this announcement will be accepted after April 22, 1937.

Chicago Tribune Mark Twain Presentation Dept.

GOOD-WILL PRESENTATION TO ALL Chicago Tribune READERS

Why have scanty, shabby hair?

If your hair is beginning to look shabby at the temples, frontal, or on top—your scalp is "sick." It needs competent specialized attention such as only The Thomas' can give it. General "cure-all" remedies and surface lotions will only make your hair more scanty and lead you more rapidly to baldness. Why waste your time and your hair experimenting when the reliable, proved Thomas' treatment is so conveniently and reasonably available?

Thomas' treatment goes to the specific source of your scalp trouble. Thomas' specialists readily recognize the various types of dandruff. They know the many causes of falling hair, dry hair, oily hair, itchy scalp—and they know exactly how to treat all of these scalp conditions. They know how to re-grow hair on the thin or bald spots. Decide today NOT to have shabby hair and let The Thomas' help you with their 18-year proved treatment. Write for the new Thomas' booklet on the care of your hair and scalp—or better, come in for a scalp examination. No charge or obligation for the booklet or the scalp examination.

URGES SPENDING OF 4 BILLION ON WATER PROJECTS

Resources Committee's Report Ready.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—The national resources committee recommended today expenditure of more than 4 billion dollars on a long range water program affecting 118 drainage basins.

The 540 page report advocated the immediate undertaking of one group of projects estimated to cost 1 billion 720 millions; asked a later start on another group expected to cost 1 billion 54 millions, and relegated to an indeterminate date the commencement of a third list involving 1 billion 400 millions.

The minutely detailed recommendations for a coördinated program of development, which also would combat floods and stream pollution, went to President Roosevelt as a supplement to the general public works planning report the President sent to congress Feb. 3.

Sees "Orderly Program."

Abel Wolman, chairman of the water resources committee which prepared the study for the parent organization, said a waiting list of projects such as his committee proposes "should tend to replace the haphazard approach of the past with a program of orderly development."

Wolman said listing of projects which are primarily of local interest did not indicate a feeling federal funds should be used for their construction. He pointed out the committee emphasized the importance of keeping an "equitable balance" between federal and local payments, in line with the way benefits accrue.

The committee's recommendation, Wolman said, "appears modest and consistent" in view of past spending on water use and control.

No Measure of Benefits.

He said the committee "did not venture to suggest what the exact yardstick should be for measuring such benefits and payments.

"The broad bases for a definitive national policy on all phases of the problem of financing water projects have not been established. The committee has set in motion activities which it hopes will contribute to the development of such bases. At the moment, however, this important and controversial field remains open as an arena for the battle between expanding national interest and declining local responsibility."

U. S. DIPLOMAT FOUND HURT IN ALBANIAN HILLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TIRANA, Albania, April 11.—Benjamin Reath Riggs, first secretary of the American legation, who had been missing since noon yesterday on a hunting trip in the Dajiti mountains, 20 miles east of here, was found at dawn today by a searching party of 150 men. Riggs was lying at the bottom of a ravine suffering from an injury at the base of the skull and exposure. He was semi-conscious. After being revived he said he had struck his head on a branch and had fallen into the ravine. Hugh Grant, American minister, participated in the search.

Wants County Hospital Probed After Husband Dies

Mrs. Stella Hurd, 8004 Evans avenue, announced last night that she would ask an investigation into the death of her husband, Hallock Hurd, 47 years old, who died in his home last week shortly after his release from the County hospital, where he had received treatment for injuries suffered when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver. She charged that he was released prematurely from the hospital, thus contributing to his death. Mrs. Hurd said she would ask County Commissioner H. Wallace Caldwell to initiate the investigation. Caldwell recently charged laxity existed in the hospital.

DOGS IN THE DAY'S NEWS

"PEGLEG."

Buffalo, N. Y., April 11—[Special]—"Pegleg" won over "John Silver" today as a nickname for a curly haired mongrel dog after veterinarians got through with him in an animal hospital. They made him a genuine wooden leg to take the place of his left foreleg lost under an automobile wheel. The dog was taken to the hospital immediately after the accident, and the doctors were about to put him to death humanely when he licked the hand of one of them. They changed their minds and saved his life.

Kay, the St. Bernard, and the kittens she took away from their mother.

They may be Minnie the cat's kittens, but it's the St. Bernard watchdog, Kay, who's taking care of them. Henry, Henrietta and Thomas were just a day old when the St. Bernard, who has raised some puppies of her own, growled something about the way some mothers care for their children.

Kay lumbered right over the basket, drove Minnie away, and picked up Henrietta in her mouth. One by one she carried all the kittens to the farthest corner of the System Products company at 539 East 61st street, their bithplace. Since then the big dog has been mothering the kittens, over the protest of Minnie.

Kay even objects when Donald Henderson, an employé, takes the kittens to their real mother at dinner time. And when dinner's over the mother cat has to give them right back—or else.

TWO FLEE STOLEN TAXI; ONE SHOT AND BOTH CAUGHT

Joseph Patrick Shanahan, 25 years old, 5425 South Halsted street, was shot and seriously wounded early yesterday as he and a companion were fleeing through an alley near 54th and Halsted streets from a taxicab which they had stolen and abandoned. The two stole the cab at 51st and Halsted streets from George Burger, 2959 Bonfield avenue. Policemen Thomas Cassidy and Raymond Boske of the Stockyards station pursued the fugitives, forcing the cab to the curb. The second man escaped from the scene but was captured later. He identified himself as Edward Rafferty, 21 years old, 815 West 54th place.

POPE TAKES FIRST CAR RIDE SINCE ILLNESS BEGAN

VATICAN CITY, April 11.—(AP)—Pope Pius, recovering from serious illness, this morning took his first automobile ride in six months, making the circuit of the Vatican grounds several times in the warm spring sun. It was the first time he had been in the gardens since he was gravely stricken last Dec. 5.

Attendants brought out a new platform specially constructed so that the pontiff walked directly from the Vatican building into the car without ascending or descending steps. Pope Pius exclaimed to a prelate who accompanied him, "We enjoyed that very much indeed."

Before his ride the pope received 400 workmen employed by the Vatican who appeared before him in their working clothes. He said "We are sure that the echo of our encyclical against communism [published March 18] has reached the working men. We urge you to do your duty in a Christian manner."

Hungry Child Needs Food, Not Scolding

Depleted Energy Causes Him to Be Irritable.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Feed the brute! Don't ask him now. Feed him!" whispered the older woman to her daughter-in-law as she took the steak off the broiler. "No matter what you ask that husband of yours to do when he's hungry, he'll refuse."

"I was just beginning to suspect that, Mother. Has he always been like this?"

"Yes, he has, and you can't do anything about it, either."

Lots of wives know that hunger does things to the dispositions of their men folks, and, instead of trying to work against the tide, they simply feed them.

Yesterday we were talking about the tired child and remarking that he shouldn't be held to account for every little thing he did. The same is true of the hungry child. Many a mother has seen an irritable child sit down to lunch and a sweet dispositioned one leave the table after a satisfying meal.

All children don't act in this way, because all children's bodies are not the same, or are not tied up in the same way with their natures. This sort of thing is mysterious. We may see the results, but we don't always know why they are what they are, and certainly younger children can't analyze themselves.

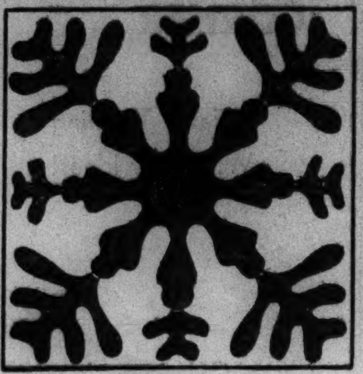
Sometimes age enters into this particular problem. Generally speaking, the younger children are, the more indifferent they are to food. So in some cases, although we are almost certain that a younger child is hungry, he will give no sign of it in crossness or any other way.

All this has to do with momentary hunger and momentary irritability or crossness, which vanishes when the young animal is fed. There is, too, such a thing as continuous hunger, or what we might call hidden hunger, which may produce a generally low physical and mental tone in a child. This is due to wrong feeding, in selection of foods or quantity.

"Physical Care of Children of All Ages," is the name of a leaflet containing comprehensive reading references. It will be sent on receipt of a large, 3 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

Quilt Block Is Favorite of Old Time State Fairs



Red Oak Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Red Oak" is one of the beautiful applique blocks popular in the days when our great-great-grandmothers would select it as a design worthy of state fair exhibits. The block is done in russet and light tan today, but in 1840 turkey red and white were the favorite combination. The entire quilt was composed of appliqué blocks set together with five inch bands between blocks, and surrounded by a five inch border. The finished coverlet measures 90 by 107 inches.

Costumes worn by fashionable Chicagoans in past years were modeled yesterday by members of the Junior League in a fashion show delineating 100 years of women's styles, in the Chicago Historical society auditorium. The hobble skirt, the long waisted, short skirted dress of 1921-29, the great picture hats of an earlier Gibson girl age, all were greeted with laughs.

One of the earlier fashions which aroused only sighs of admiration from the audience, however, was a gown of pink silver cloth, which Mrs. Edward A. Leight wore in 1904. It was modeled by blonde Margaret Wiley, of 1136 East 48th street, who was applauded with enthusiasm. The dress material was purchased in Dehli, India, and the embroidery on the tight bodice, peplum and net skirt was a copy of the embroidery Lady Curzon [formerly Mary Victoria Leiter] wore on a dress at the durbar held at Delhi in celebration of Edward VII.'s coronation in 1903.

200,000 Bid Capital Cherry Blooms Adieu

Trees May Be Moved Before Next Season.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Fully 200,000 persons, a large proportion of them out of town visitors, viewed the Japanese cherry tree blossoms in Potomac park today for possibly the last time.

Before another spring shall come the cherry trees will be no more, if congress approves the pending project to abolish the tidal basin and erect on the site the proposed 3 million dollar memorial to Thomas Jefferson. To carry out this undertaking it is planned to move the cherry trees to another place. Department of agriculture experts, however, have stated that the trees are too old to be moved without killing them.

Whether the trees can be saved is a grave question, for there is a strong urge in the breasts of the Democrats to take advantage of this period of their power to create a memorial to their patron saint.

But if it was a parting of old friends, the cherry trees made it a memorable farewell. Clothed in diaphanous clouds of pink, they stood almost touching each other, poised on the brink of the lagoon in which the gleaming white shaft of the Washington monument was reflected like a quivering, silver lance. Almost encircling the great pool, a quarter of a mile in diameter, they spread their pink and white arms like nymphs joining hands for the dance. On the very brink of the pool they stood, tiaraed, necklaced, ringed, bespangled, garlanded, and festooned from crown to waist with pearls of pink petals—stood there reaching far out like Narcissus to embrace their images in the rippling water.

By early afternoon every avenue leading to Potomac park was streaming with people. They came afoot and rolling on rubber in every sort of conveyance, from grand limousines, sporting footmen and coats of arms, to rattling flivvers and careening motorcycles. License plates of almost every state in the Union were to be seen. But where they came on wheels by the thousands, they came on foot by the tens of thousands.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

MINIMUM DEFENSIVE OVERCALLS.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Any defensive overcall should show, in addition to the winners required under the Rule of Two and Three, about one and one-half honor tricks. In most cases the overcall also shows a five card or longer biddable suit.

A defensive overcall of one-odd should be made:

When not vulnerable with four winners, including about one and one-half honor tricks and a suit as good as Q 10 x x x or K Q x x. When vulnerable, five sure winners, including one and one-half honor tricks and a suit as good as Q J 10 x x or A Q J x.

A strong four card suit may be used, but only when the hand as a whole contains the required number of winners. The requirement of one and one-half honor tricks may be shaded only when the hand contains more than the minimum number of winners.

The Delayed Finesse.

It must not be imagined that all finesses are simple cut and dried maneuvers to take advantage of a hoped-for position of honors. Some card combinations require preliminary skirmishing. Consider the declarer's problem in today's hand.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the queen of diamonds and continued with the jack, declarer ruffing the second. Two rounds of trumps ending in dummy cleaned up the adverse spades, and a low heart was led toward the closed hand.

Obviously, declarer's only problem was to avoid losing three heart tricks. When East played low, declarer did not commit the error of risking everything, at this stage, on the fortunate position of the heart ace. If this card were held by East, there was no hurry in bringing home the king. The immediate danger was that the king, if played, would be smothered by the ace in West's hand. Declarer therefore played the nine spot. West won with the jack, and shifted to a club. Declarer won and ruffed a club in dummy, then led the ten of hearts through East. The queen showing up, it was all over. Declarer now played the king on the assurance that, when it lost to the ace, dummy's eight would be promoted to a third round trick.

It should be noted that in only one case, namely, the queen and jack blank in West's hand, could declarer's method of play lose. In that case a heart to the nine would lose to the jack, and a second heart lead of the ten from dummy, properly ducked by East, would, if also ducked by declarer, lose to West's now blank queen. But even with this position of cards, declarer might make the winning guess at the second lead from dummy, and put up his king. Against all other lays of cards there would be no point in the immediate rather than in the deferred play of the heart king.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on the following:
♠ A K Q 7 ♥ 9 6 4 ♦ 10 5 ♣ A Q 8 6?

Answer: One club.

Von Zedtwitz Group Wins Team of Four Bridge Championship

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—The contract bridge team of Waldemar von Zedtwitz, Theodore Lightner, Samuel Fry Jr., and Edward Hymes Jr. won the masters' team of four championship in the tournament conducted under the auspices of the American Bridge league with 8,750 points. Play finished tonight at the Park Central hotel.

The victorious team won its 8,750 points by cumulative score in 100 boards played against the team composed of Phil Abramsohn, Lewis Bernard, Morrie Eli, Harry Fishbein, and Herman Goldberg.

The Von Zedtwitz team played a steady, consistent game from the time the team of four event started last Wednesday and in every session of the final increased the margin over the runners-up.

KEMPNER WINS CHICAGO TITLE.

Ralph Kempner of the Del Prado hotel, representing the Board of Trade Bridge club, was declared winner last night in the fourth Chicago masters' individual bridge tournament. It was held in the Chicago Contract Bridge clubrooms, 710 Capitol building. Thirty-six players competed. With a score of 476½ points Kempner wrested the M. S. Reilly trophy, a silver cup, from Edward Jacobs, who represented the Chicago Contract Bridge club in last year's contest.

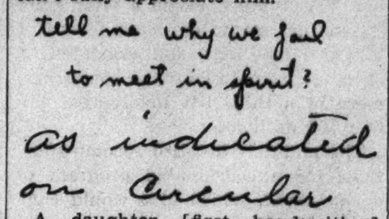
Perplexed Girl Is Advised by Writing Expert

Told to Ignore "Chasm" in the Family.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

When two clever and charming persons do not understand each other, the result eventually is bewilderment. You may admire somebody you don't understand, but you can't fully appreciate him.



A daughter [first handwriting] says: "My father [second writing] and I have been living together these last several years—yet a wall or chasm seems to definitly separate us. Can you tell me why we thus fail to meet in spirit? Is the fault mine? What may I do about it, please?"

As you can see, these two writers are unlike in almost every way. The daughter is a restrained and intellectual person whose mind governs her actions. She has a small backhand, and these writers are more inclined to be interested in ideas. This writing is especially gentle and even altruistic, according to the letter formations, but her real interests would be essentially scholarly.

Her father is a sociable man with an affectionate, spontaneous nature. He likes people for many reasons and would enjoy a friendly chat with almost anybody he happened to meet. His temper is quick, but his compassion is even quicker. Much versatility and a love of action are evident in his handwriting. His intelligence is keen but not pedantic.

In other words, we have the handwriting of an introvert and an extrovert. They look at things from an altogether different point of view. The daughter has expressed it well when she says a "chasm separates us." Both sides of the chasm are interesting, though.

Why worry? If either of you had qualities in handwriting that would make the other unhappy, it would be a true cause for worry. Just wave genially to each other across the "chasm" and be sure not to beckon or attempt changing places.

Simple, Smart for Daytime

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

The beautifully flared cape sleeves distinguish this simple daytime frock for late spring and early summer. This dress is perfectly styled for either time of year, and if you make it of washable silk you may make the two seasons dovetail and save wardrobe expense. If you are inclined to pooh-pooh the idea of economy at the moment, select a lovely print which is not washable, if you like. After all, you owe yourself one little indulgence or so!

There is a choice of necklines. The collar may stand up and be enhanced by a pretty 'kerchief, or it may lie flat in the V manner. Two dashing pockets do duty on the bodice, and you may have either a regulation belt or a soft sash which is slipped through loops at the waistline.

The skirt is nice and full, although it fits snugly through the hipline. An inverted plait helps to create width in the hemline. The sketch at the left shows how contrasting colors may be used effectively in this model, and the other illustration reveals how enchanting a colorful print may be.

Style No. 3071 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Rare Contralto Range Shown by Colored Artist

Mayble Roberts Walker Is Heard in Recital.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

If Mayble Roberts Walker wants to bill herself as a contralto that is her business, and hers alone. This gifted Negro singer proved yesterday afternoon in the course of a Civic theater recital that she has at her command both an actual range and a tonal variety not possessed by the run of the mill contralto.

She also proved, after her program had bidden farewell to German lieder and Italian arias, that the limitations of range and color at which most contraltos chafe do not, in fact, constitute an unmixed evil. Those ladies of the darkling voices are spared by these very limitations a temptation that besets most sopranos—the temptation to sing "cute" songs. Miss Walker did a couple of these—then turned to the striking spirituals of the Negro race.

These she executed with tenderness, fervor or gayety, depending on the character of the song actually at hand. She has a rarely beautiful quality in her middle range and knows how to use it with magical effect.

L. Sterling Todd provided highly competent piano accompaniments. The recital was sponsored by the Chicago Music association, Maude Roberts George, president.

Trudi Schoop and her comic ballet, playing the dance comedy "The Blonde Marie," before afternoon and evening audiences at the Studebaker yesterday, gave Chicago two more demonstrations of what can be accomplished when nature dowers a single person with extraordinary powers of observation and penetration, the cleverness necessary to transfer the results of such observatoin and penetration to a strange medium, and a talent for the art of pantomime that really amounts to genius.

That single person, of course, is Trudi Schoop herself. She organized the comic ballet, plans its choreography, and mimes its principal parts. As if nature were still unsatisfied she gave Trudi a brother, Paul Schoop, to write the music for her creations and to play one of the two pianos which provide the instrumental foundations for the dances.

"The Blonde Marie," a loosely strung together story of a servant girl's dream, gives Trudi Schoop and her troupe a chance to caricature a bewildering number of real life types and to satirize such disparate things as suburban teas, laryngitic sopranos, operattas, art lovers, night club turns. She turns the merciless white light of laughter into the humblest crannies.

Frank Sykora, who usually functions as principal cello at the Illinois Symphony orchestra's Sunday afternoon concerts in the Great Northern theater, took the limelight yesterday for a performance of the Haydn concerto.

He has a sense of true classical style, and delivers the attractively guileless melodies in a fittingly guileless manner. His simple, genuinely Haydnish phrasing kept the architecture of the music clear. There were one or two passages where the cellist did not seem to be hitting the pitch exactly in the middle, and a first movement cadenza that compromised, by a temporary loss of tonal suavity, the sunny insouciance of this division of the work. Izler Solomon conducted.

Myrtle Stolt, dramatic soprano who is scheduled to appear with New York's Hippodrome Opera company in the early future, made her local recital debut in Kimball hall yesterday and, with the coöperation of Nicola Berardinelli, baritone, presented a full program of operatic excerpts. Alexander Astir played intelligent accompaniments for both artists.

Miss Stolt is capable of remarkable volume without loss of tone quality. The intelligibility of her words still leaves something to be desired. Also, there is a tendency to limit too narrowly the number of tone colorings used. Mr. Berardinelli has a smoothly textured voice which he uses effectively.

Miss Barrymore—
Mr. Bernie—
Viewpoints—
Wine—
Striker.

ETHEL BARRYMORE, looking fit and handsome, passed through town over the week-end on her way to visit her brother Lionel. Her series of radio appearances has ended, and her comment as she left the studio after the last broadcast was in the Barrymore tradition.

"Wasn't that a terrible script?" she had said to Mrs. Jacques Gordon at the termination of the broadcast. "Imagine asking anybody to work from a script like that."

"Yes, but you redeemed it," Mrs. Gordon told her.

"I've been redeeming them for 26 weeks," responded Miss Barrymore gloomily. "After all, the Greatest Redeemer had to do it only once."

BEN BERNIE also stopped off to see friends before he took a train for the coast. He had a toy Dobermann-Pinscher with him, a tiny fellow weighing about three pounds. It rode on his shoulder when he stopped in to see Ernest Byfield. Bernie said its name was The Killer. It killed a cricket in Dallas once. Bernie has just completed his first movie, made jointly with Walter Winchell. Asked how he looked on the silver screen, he retorted:

"There was enough left on the cutting room floor to make a Dracula short." Then he added reflectively, "There's nothing so bad, though, that a four point rise in the market won't cure."

IN the morning mail: Letter No. 1 re "Little Old Lady" mentioned in this space:

"No, I haven't seen her, for if I had twice a day for five years I should have done something about it. Frail-tumbled white hair under a poor excuse of a hat—purple old rags secured with safety pins and rope, about 80 years old and wearing old rubbers for shoes. This in the heart of Chicago! Somebody's mother! Somebody's child. And North State street shoppers have been wondering for five years as to her identity?

"Where are the paid social workers whose job this is? Let's do something about it, June Provines."

Letter No. 2: "In regard to the old lady, I, too, have passed her a few times, but my eyes have dwelt lightly on her, as I felt she was probably minding her own business. . . . Take a look at the ciphers in the bank accounts of these ladies, usually printed in the newspapers, when anything happens to them and you will find lack of funds is not their trouble."

THE most expensive wine we've heard of any one serving recently is some Rhine wine that cost $520 a case that recently arrived in Chicago. It was Hochheimer, 1911. A long word on the label arrested our attention. It read, "Dom de Chaney, feinste, Trockbeerenauslese." It was explained that the long word indicated the procedure used in selecting the grapes, each grape being selected singly and cut off with scissors.

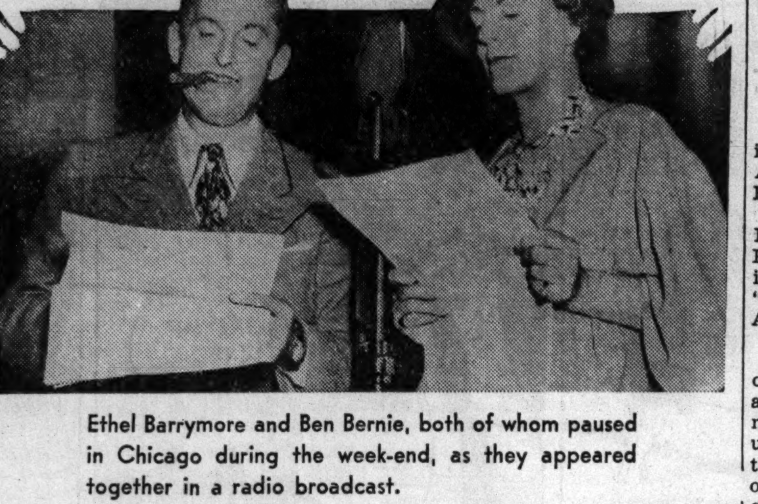
A LAYDOWN strike has come to attention. A girl was operated for mastoid in a Chicago hospital. When the doctors told her she could be up and around and might return home in a few days, she refused to get up. She stayed in bed for a week, and refused food until it was necessary to feed her forcibly. The reason? She had fallen in love with the intern assigned to her case and, when he was shifted, inaugurated the strike to effect his return.



Ethel Barrymore and Ben Bernie, both of whom paused in Chicago during the week-end, as they appeared together in a radio broadcast.

Ratoff Writes Another Good Role for Self

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 11.—[Special.]—About six months ago Gregory Ratoff, who is Hollywood's "all around champion" at motion picture studio assignments, wrote an original story which is called "Café Metropole." He sold it to his boss, Darryl Zanuck, production head of 20th Century-Fox, for a reported $25,000.

The story had a wonderful character rôle written into the plot. The rôle just fitted Ratoff. Writer Ratoff had seen to that. Ratoff was cast in the rôle by the studio casting.

It worked so smoothly that Ratoff has used the same recipe again. "Café Metropole" was completed last month, and Ratoff improved the two or three weeks elapsing to write another original story. This one is called "I Love the Author." Zanuck has bought it. It embraces another "fat" rôle for Actor Ratoff. The rôle will keep Ratoff on his hearty niche on the studio pay roll for another two months.

But before he can start it, Ratoff must direct an intervening movie. It's titled "Lancer Spy" and its writer is Marthe McKenna, the Belgian woman who was an allied secret agent during the world war. She wrote "I Was a Spy," which became both a popular volume and was filmed by Gaumont British in England.

Ratoff's all around "championship" contract with 20th Century binds him to serve his employers in any of four capacities—author, characters, director, or film supervisor.

M-G-M is trying to sell the Gloucester schooner, O. F. Spinney, which was used in "Captain Courageous," for $30,000, which is only a fraction of the investment in this sturdy craft.

Good Morning!

This gay, timely, romantic comedy, introduces a French film favorite to American audiences. The name is Fernand Gravet and he is tres nize.

The story is localed in Paris and Monsieur Fernand plays a certain King Alfred who, forced to abdicate, is now ruler of only two subjects, "Count" Humbert and the "Duchess" Anna.

These two devoted and persistent clingers to the old order of things are greatly disturbed by Alfred's ennui which causes him to consume unheard of quantities of brandy with the result that he sleeps all day and owls about all night. They wish they could get him interested in somebody—anybody. True, he has philandered a bit here and there, but his conquests have all been too easy to keep him intrigued. For Alfred is a mighty charming person, besides having once been a king.

One night Anna and Humbert persuade him to visit the Folies.

Here a charming American chorine turns the sunshine of her smile on him—and he invites her to supper.

Humbert and Anna escort her to his apartment—to discover that Alfred is asleep. From long experience they know he will not awaken till the following night. . . . Exit Miss Dorothy Ellis with head in air after giving vent to several scathing impressions of him whose head had formerly worn a crown. . . .

The faithful retainers go into a huddle. Here, at last is the girl who may pull their beloved out of the slough. . . . They must fix things, tell him that Miss Ellis had refused his invitation—an unheard or proceeding in his life. They call on Miss Ellis and, finally secure her as their ally.

The plan works excellently until Dorothy discovers that she reciprocates the love Alfred now has for her. Which wasn't in the cards at all.

But she is a noble damsel, and, feeling that such as he is not for such as she, plans a Camille renunciation act. [Everybody's doing it in the movies these days.]

Alfred, however, is pretty smart. It doesn't take him long to see which way the wind blows. His activities in outsmarting his darling result in a laughable, romantic and decidedly unusual finale.

See you tomorrow.

Chicagoan and Peoria Girl to Lead U. of I. Cadet Ball

Urbana, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Cadet Colonel Paul W. Neidhardt, 11206 Eggleston avenue, Chicago, and his guest, Miss Phyllis Burns, of Peoria, recently named president of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority for next year, will lead the grand march at the annual military ball to be held Friday night on the University of Illinois campus. Approximately 600 couples are expected to attend.

Most of Original Party at Anniversary Affair.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE aren't many brides and bridegrooms at silver wedding anniversaries who are able to wear the clothes they wore when they were married, but Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Gordon welcomed their guests Saturday night in the same outfits they wore when they were married on April 10 twenty-five years ago. The party to observe their silver wedding was a dinner-dance in their lovely home on Indian Hill road in Winnetka and at it were many of those who attended the wedding in Chicago.

Mrs. Gordon, formerly Miss Josephine Duback, has kept not only all her own wedding clothes but all of her husband's so on Saturday night they presented a picture of what the well dressed young bride and groom wore at an evening wedding in 1912. The only difference between the bride's costume then and now was that on Saturday night she wore a wreath of silver leaves in her dark hair instead of a veil, and the flowers she carried were the gift of her son, Stuart, 10 years old, instead of being from her husband.

Detroit Guests Also Observe Anniversary.

Among the guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Field of Detroit, who also were celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary that day. They were married in Chicago, too, but they and the Gordons did not become acquainted until both couples were living temporarily in Washington during the world war. The Fields, whose daughter is Mrs. Lester Knight of Winnetka, spent the week-end with the Gordons. Also at the party were most of those who were in the Gordon-Duback wedding party, including Mrs. Southgate Freeman of Cody, Wyo., who was the maid of honor and the bride's roommate for two years at Dobbs Ferry. Miss Helen Gurley, Mrs. Alan C. Dixon [Janet Miller], and Mrs. Hobart P. Young [Isabel Chandler] were the bridesmaids who were present at the dinner.

The only bridesmaid missing was Mrs. Thomas Francis Geraghty [Louise Clarke], who is in California with her husband. Mr. Geraghty was an usher at the wedding. Two who ushered are dead, but the other one, Charles Mansur, was at the party and so was the best man, Leslie Albert Weary. He and his wife now live in Detroit, but they came over for the party.

Mrs. Gordon's mother and aunt, Mrs. George A. Duback and Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt, were there, and also Mr. Gordon's mother, Mrs. Thomas Weston Ritchie. Mrs. Hewitt and Miss Gurley have just returned from a cruise to South America and Mrs. Ritchie is leaving shortly for a trip to England.

Evanston Junior League Elects Officers Today.

A dozen young women will be elected to office in the Evanston Junior league, and 20 others will be admitted to provisional membership at a luncheon today at the Georgian hotel in Evanston.

A nominating committee headed by Mrs. John Turner and including Miss Alicia Barber, Mrs. Thomas Craig, Miss Helen Sargent and Mrs. John Taylor, is submitting the following slate, and there will be nominations from the floor:

President, Mrs. Arthur W. Rogers or Miss Helen Chapman; first vice president, Mrs. John M. Maxwell or Mrs. William Stahl Jr.; second vice

Mrs. Paul Fentress will be one of several young women wearing old fashioned gowns who will serve as ushers at the 80th annual meeting of the United Charities at 4:30 o'clock next Friday afternoon at the Palmer house. The gown Mrs. Fentress, the former Roslyn Paine, is wearing above was made in 1885.

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

At a tea Saturday afternoon in their Evanston home, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Capp announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Frances, to Charles T. Stordens Jr. of Minneapolis, Minn. It will not be a month before the many friends of the young people who congratulated them on Saturday will be wishing them happiness at their wedding, for the date has been set for May 8.

Miss Capp and Mr. Stordens both are graduates of Lake Forest college. Miss Capp later took a postgraduate course at Northwestern university.

At a luncheon Saturday at the Homestead hotel in Evanston Mrs. William A. Sheehan announced the engagement of her daughter, Dorothy Clay, to William Van Buren Mesick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Mesick of Essex road, Kenilworth. The former schoolmates of Miss Sheehan who always is called Bobbie, at the Roycemore school were invited to the luncheon. After graduating from Roycemore, Miss Sheehan attended Northwestern university. Mr. Mesick, who is engaged in business in Minneapolis, Minn., is a graduate of Northwestern.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young Atkin of Beverly Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Manas Millington Torcom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manas M. Torcom of Chicago. Miss Atkin attended Kemper hall and La Salle Junior college. Mr. Torcom was graduated from the University of Wisconsin. The wedding will take place in June. Mr. Torcom will take his bride on a cruise to the Mediterranean on their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel Engelman, 5344 Kimbark avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth to Edgar Wall Warner Jr., son of Edgar Wall Warner of Buffalo, N. Y., and Erie, Pa. Miss Engelman is a graduate of the University High school and is a junior at the University of Chicago. Mr. Warner is a graduate of the University of Buffalo.

Lake View Musical Society Has Varied Program Today

Designed for Shoes That Expose Feet.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There's much ado about the high visibility of the current toe lines. Spring footwear features intricate cross straps and darn little of these, a confining narrow strap around the heel and nothing over the toes. These styles are making some conservatives derisive, but all young, adventuresome shoppers are wearing them and having a grand time.

Keeping in step with the shoemakers, the hosiery designers have been busy and inventive. Last winter we danced in lace toe—and highly colored toe—stockings to match or contrast out pet dancing sandals.

Now these decorative toe effects are appearing for daytime wear. While the colored toes probably will go everywhere this spring and summer, some new arrivals will add to the gayety. They're so fresh and colorful it's a wonder some bright soul didn't think about the trick a long time ago.

Applied to the toe sections of sheer chiffon hosiery of that popular shade called cassandra, the color that goes with everything and with every dress color, are small, intriguing sections of printed silk. The background colors are off-white, light green, a light and dark shade of blue, and a delightful yellow and rosy red. Floral designs in mellowed contrasting colors are small and effective, similar to peasant printed designs.

These are perfect finds for the footwear with toe sections exposed, and for all the colored and dark toned suedes and gabardines. Later, when the weather permits, these stockings will be worn with vividly patterned challis, embroidered linens and striped or printed crêpes and other summertime fabrics.

TRUTH TO TELL

By Alice Grant Rosman

SYNOPSIS.

Malcolm and Susan Dubenny's parents died in a flu epidemic during the war. Susan was taken by her mother's parents, the Somervilles. Mrs Somerville refused the boy in hatred of his father, who had eloped with her daughter. Malcolm went to live with his Aunt Lorna and Uncle Hugh Lowell, his father's half-brother. When 15, Malcolm, who had not seen his little sister for nine years, went on a secret mission to Crofter's End, the Somerville estate. In the woods of the estate the children met. Susan denied she had a brother. Malcolm left, deeply hurt. Mr. Somerville's sister, Alison Loftus, returns to England after a long absence and visits Crofter's End. She antagonizes Mrs. Somerville by her concern about the fate of the boy, Malcolm, and her visit is cut short. Mrs. Somerville fires a faithful servant, Ella Wilcn, without notice, for falling in love. Sue flies to her defense. Mr. Somerville makes up the injustice and sends Ella to his sister, and promises Sue to send her to boarding school. Alison Loftus traces Malcolm to his school, but Malcolm refuses her invitation to visit them in hatred of the Somervilles. Susan enters boarding school. Time after time Sue tries to find out the truth about her parents.

INSTALMENT XXV.

A QUESTION OF PARENTAGE.

One day in November Sue was actually on her way to see Ella. By chance two days before on a search for specimens with the botany class she had seen the car turning into an orchard down in the hollow beyond the school grounds, had identified Parrot, his master and his new mistress.

It had taken some self-control to prevent her from racing after them before the eyes of the botany mistress and the whole party, for at that moment she was homesick for the first time.

She had found few specimens that day for her attention had wandered all the time to the orchard and the landmarks surrounding it; and afterward she had begun to plan, slipping away to explore the garden at every opportunity.

On Monday, excused from games on the score of toothache, she had seized her chance and here she was, hurrying through a drift of fallen leaves on the wooded slope below Hawthorn Lodge, her eyes bright and her cheeks glowing with the satisfaction of achievement.

It was a cold, clear afternoon of lambent sunshine and all the trees were aflame. Walking swiftly, head down and heart thumping, she was halfway to the orchard before the dreadful thought struck her that Ella might not be there.

She began to run, madly, as though pursued, climbing at last into Donald Rich's orchard, and hardly able to believe her eyes when she saw an open window and the dog Parrot lying at rest in the sun.

"Ella, O Ella!"

The dog's excited barking had brought out his mistress, and Sue, the unusually undemonstrative, was hugging her.

"You didn't write to me—not even a postcard," she cried reproachfully.

"But Sue, dear, I couldn't. Your grandfather forbade it . . . he said it wouldn't do. I hadn't forgotten you for a single moment, but how did you come?" exclaimed Ella, looking round incredulously in search of some explanation for her presence here at the back of the house.

"I slipped out . . . I simply had to see you. . . . I came over the fields and ran most of the way."

"O, Sue, but this is awful. Come inside quickly. I must get you straight back! Have you no sense—to break bounds like that," cried Ella distractedly. "No school would stand for it; if you are missed there will be no end of a row. I'll get my hat."

Ella saw at once how this might involve her. Mrs. Somerville, inimical already, would be only too glad to implicate her in this escapade. Mr. Somerville, to whom she owed so much, would be furious, too.

So thought Ella, hurriedly slipping into her coat and hat, pushing her visitor out the door and saying anxiously:

"If I'm with you, it will not look so noticeable if we should meet any one."

Sue moved away from her touch. She had believed that Ella would be so glad to see her and show her the little house; she had expected to hear everything—all her adventures since that summer evening when she had been snatched away. And now this!

"You needn't come, really. I am practically there."

"No, but I'd like to see you into the grounds. I wish we could have a talk, Sue. It was very sweet of you to want to come. . . ."

"I wanted to ask you something," Sue said. "I wanted to know about my parents."

"But darling, I don't know a thing, except that they died of influenza within a few days of each other when you were a baby. It was such a shock to your granny that she could never bear to speak of it."

"Well, what's my real name, though?"

"I haven't the least idea, Sue, really. . . . I wouldn't have dreamed of asking. Naturally, it wasn't any business of mine."

"Then why were you always throwing off at me?" cried Susan, turning upon her. "Because you used to, so you can't deny it, Ella. You said I wouldn't have had a friend in the world if it hadn't been for granny . . . things like that. What did you mean?"

Ella exclaimed with real distress.

"I know I was often beastly to you in the old days. You used to get my back up and irritate me somehow, but I was always sorry after and felt a pig. It didn't mean anything at all but that."

"I'm nearly there. You'd better go back or you may be seen."

Sue shot out the words, then took to her heels, running up the slope between the trees. Ella, at first attempting to follow, soon gave it up and stood watching, helpless, troubled, and upset. When the slope was empty she turned and went slowly home.

Nobody had missed the fugitive and at tea time when the occupants of Hawthorn Lodge came trooping in from games she descended from her room looking listless enough for toothache or any other ill.

"Better, Susan?"

"O, yes, thanks."

The first effect of the scene with Ella was to drive her back a little way, at least, into the old alliance with her grandmother, who, whatever else she might be, was fond of her still and permanent.

Twice Mrs. Somerville had driven over on Sunday afternoons to see her granddaughter, once still semi-invalid and leaning on the arm of Miss Pender, whom Sue had detested at sight, and the second time leaving her companion in the car.

Any conversation in Miss Pender's presence was quite out of the question and Sue was anxious to talk to her grandmother, even though in the past all her efforts in this respect had been unfruitful.

On Sundays she wrote home because everybody else did so, even though it seemed a little odd to be writing to some one only two miles away. In her next letter, therefore, she said:

> "When you are well enough to come and see me alone, granny, I can show you my house and dorm and everything, but it ought to be soon before the days are too cold and dark, as we have to go through the garden and it might be too damp for you. . . ."

Mrs. Somerville smiled at the word alone, understanding it perfectly. ["The puss is jealous."] She was sufficiently flattered by the invitation to accept it too and leave Miss Pender behind, and Sue, grateful for this concession greeted her with enthusiasm, looking, the visitor thought, very handsome and a credit to her grandmother.

In this spirit Mrs. Somerville was pleased to admire the school under Sue's eager guidance. It was a most successful afternoon right up till the end when quite suddenly a confidential voice inquired of her:

"Granny, I wish you would tell me something. What is my real name?"

"What do you mean?" Mrs. Somerville exclaimed, faintly. "Who has dared to put such ideas into your head? . . . I don't know what you are talking about, child. . . ."

"O, granny, it's all right, really. Nobody has put any ideas into my head. Don't get so upset," begged Sue. "You forget I am almost fifteen, and can see that if my mother was Isabel Somerville, my father's name must have been something else. I don't mind, but I should like to know."

"Somerville is at least a name to be proud of and it is the only one you shall ever bear with my consent," declared her grandmother, rallying a little and speaking with decision.

"Well, that's all right, but—but—what did he do, granny?" questioned Sue, now certain there was some crime to be disclosed.

"Don't ask me to talk about that scoundrel who married your poor mother, darling. He lured her away from her home and parents and we never saw her again. I can't bear it," cried granny.

Hand Gestures Important to Genuine Chic

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Regardless of how busy a woman may be, she will find time to keep her nails well manicured and her hands immaculately clean. She knows hand care is just as important an item of grooming as brushing the hair or removing an unflattering shine from the nose. And she is to be commended for this care.

Now if you will only stop to think how revealing hand movements are you will devote a little time to the cultivation of graceful hand gestures. The first thing to do in the development of hand grace is to remove all traces of stiffness from the wrists. A stiff wrist not only will lend awkwardness to all hand movements but it will add years to hand age. You cream your hands to keep them soft, smooth and youthful, yet will allow your wrists to tighten up and add years to your appearance, when a few extra minutes each day will enable you to keep them supple, graceful and, consequently, gracious.

Exercise is the means to attain suppleness. Simple exercises which you may do at any time and almost any place. I'll suggest a few of them for you to try. Put hands out in front of you, shoulder height, then let them drop limply. Next, shake hands up and down as though you were shaking the stiffness out of them. If this has a tendency to make the veins stand out and the hand appear red, just hold them in an upward position for a few minutes and the redness and veined effect will disappear.

A friendly handshake is a gracious gesture and one worth cultivating, but when you extend your hand, let it be graciously. There's nothing quite so disconcerting as to have a limp hand extended to you to shake. It makes you feel you'd like to suggest a little feeling be put into it if one takes the trouble to extend the hand at all. When the hand is extended let the palm be turned up, or partly so, and put friendliness and graciousness into the grasp.

Keeping the hands constantly in motion is a mannerism to be avoided. It is anything but lovely. Sit and watch a woman fiddling with her bracelet, her ring, twisting and turning it around, and your inclination is to tell her to stop it. You may say it's a nervous habit, but it is annoying and shows a lack of poise. Playing with the silverware at the table is another deplorable practice. Don't let yourself do these unlovely things.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Talking with a fashion expert not long ago, we found out that with her glamorous clothes—the romantic, luxurious gowns of her own design for which she is famous—she has strong opinions about the "trick" makeup. She believes that when a color and a design prove perfect for an individual it's because that color and line have a natural affinity for that woman's own coloring and figure.

Therefore, a natural makeup, or at least one so completely harmonious that it looks like naturalness properly glorified, is usually the best choice. Any radical makeup is a false note, even though it is chic.

We don't agree completely on this point, since it's often a little smarter to be chic than picturesque, but we do believe that the trick makeup has no place in the daytime scheme at least.

We can't quite see the business of changing one's type completely for daytime—going dark, for instance, when one is naturally fair. It seems to us a lot of trouble and not too successful in the broad daylight.

From what we can see, a soft, subtle makeup is by far the best for the average woman. Her own skin tone should be echoed in her own powder shade, with cheek and lip rouge in the same key of red as the natural blood color of her lips. It's really her own coloring delicately enhanced.

Naturally, with difficult colors she will have to make some adjustments, but the woman who chooses her wardrobe carefully can manage to avoid difficult colors or, if her heart is set on one, to make up accordingly and expertly. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Mrs. J. Leslie Rollins and Mrs. Rodney Starkweather are the committee's choice for general treasurer and charity treasurer, respectively. Mrs. Carol W. Alton, who has been president of the league for two years, will welcome the 20 provisional members, who will be seated at table with the board. Mrs. Alton's term of office expires in June.

The provisional members include Miss Betty Archer, Miss Mary Louise Arnold, Miss Florence Barry, Miss Lucy Botts, Mrs. R. Douglass Cooper, Miss Ruth Harvey, Miss Ruth Johnson, Miss Prudence Johnson, Mrs. Thomas McKeown, Miss Nancy Poppenhusen, Mrs. John C. Ratcliffe, Mrs. Frank Rowley, Mrs. Thornton W. Cliff Dwellers to Hear New Zealand Artists.

Members of the Cliff Dwellers are looking forward with pleasure to an entertainment they will have next Saturday evening, for the two young artists who will give it have been highly recommended by Mrs. Frederic W. Upham. The artists, who call themselves troubadours, are Joan and Betty Rayner and they come from New Zealand.

Their appearance at the Cliff Dwellers will be their Chicago debut, but Mrs. Upham, who met them on the west coast, will not be here for it because she will not return from California until the 20th.

The Misses Rayner are real traveling troubadours for they travel and live in a trailer—caravan to them. During their Chicago visit they are parked on the lawn of the Charles J. Kostbades' home on Woodley road, Winnetka. The sisters have toured not only the United States, but most of Europe in their caravan.

Wide Variety of Prizes Given for Opera Party.

Some one who attends the party the woman's board of the Chicago City Opera company is giving next Saturday night at the Ambassador hotel will go home with a Scotty puppy, given by Robert Hall McCormick as one of the many door prizes to be awarded. Mrs. Jacob Baur has selected a handsome butterfly clip that will be an addition to some lucky woman's toilette, and Jay Gould has donated a case of whisky which will be taken home with pleasure by a fortunate masculine member of the throng of merrymakers.

Many shops and department stores have given presents to the committee to be awarded during the evening, and Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever has given a crystal vase and Mrs. Ernest Byfield a magnum of champagne to be added to the stock of gifts. Mr. and Mrs. William E. Graham [Andree Vilas] are entertaining some forty of their young friends at dinner before taking them on to the dance, which is being given, of course, to raise funds for next winter's opera season. Miss Anna Fitziu and Miss Edna Kellogg also will give a dinner. Among others who have made reservations for the party are the John Drums and Mrs. Drum's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Royal C. Vilas, Miss Anne Huston, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce P. Adams.

"Idiot's Delight" Draws First Nighters Tonight.

The sixth and final offering of the Theater Guild and American Theater society subscription season will open tonight at the Erlanger theater with the Theater guild's presentation of "Idiot's Delight," with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. The performance will draw a large crowd of prominent first nighters, including the Walter Paepckes, the Harold Pynchons, just at home from an eastern motor trip; Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, the Bryan S. Reids, the William B. Cudahys, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams.

A committee to interest Chicagoans in the forthcoming musical festival taking place in Patten gymnasium in Evanston May 11, 13, and 15 will be organized today at the Casino. The Northwestern University Festival association is sponsoring the three day event.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk and Mrs. Loyal Davis are co-chairmen of the Chicago committee, which will coöperate with suburban committees in selling boxes and tickets.

Next Friday is a day to be marked with red ink on a bargain hunter's calendar, for that is the day when a spring clothes sale will be held at the White Elephant Rummage shop in East Ohio street. The Junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital is sponsoring the sale, and undoubtedly many articles of wearing apparel from the wardrobes of the chic young women who compose the auxiliary, including, among others, Mrs. William O. Hunt, Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., and Mrs. Ralph N. Isham, will find their way into the stock of goods for sale.

The Mary Crane league has set the dates for its rummage sale for Thursday and Friday of next week. The sale will be held at 1027½ Davis street, Evanston.

String Beans Desert Realm of the Prosaic

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A good string bean isn't stringy any more than a wax bean is waxy. Strings in the beans may be quite as annoying as nutshells in the fudge. Neither strings nor nutshells have any place in eatables.

Few of the string beans in the markets this time of year are stringy. They are young, tender, and crisp—as they should be. And when they're cooked until tender [in boiling water to cover] they also keep their color and flavor. The yellow beans are different only in color. Their texture and flavor are the same as those of the green beans. In the recipes which follow either may be used.

String Beans in Lemon Butter.
[Serves Four.]

1 pound string beans, cooked
Salt, pepper
3 tablespoons butter
Juice of ½ lemon

Pour the butter and lemon juice over the hot cooked beans which have been seasoned.

Ginger-Sweet String Beans.
[Serves Four]

1 pound string beans
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup bouillon or meat stock

Wash beans and cut lengthwise in shreds or into two inch lengths. Cook for thirty minutes in boiling water and drain. Melt butter in saucepan, add seasonings, and cook until the butter is absorbed. Add beans, lemon juice, and bouillon and simmer until beans are tender.

STRING BEANS WITH BACON.

Wash the beans, break off the tips, and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and reheat with minced cooked bacon and the bacon fat. A little onion may be aded if desired. It may be cooked with the beans or browned in the bacon fat.

Baked String Beans with Cheese.
[Serves Six]

1½ pounds string beans, shredded
2 tablespoons butter
Salt, paprika, few grains cayenne
¾ cup grated cheese
¾ cup milk

Combine ingredients and place in a greased baking dish. Cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for one hour.

Baked String Beans with Tomato Juice and Bacon.

Remove ends and shred beans. Place in a baking dish and cover with tomato juice. Place slices or squares of bacon over the top and place in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until the beans are tender. Add salt just before serving.

Sweet and Sour String Beans.
[Serves Four]

1 quart string beans
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
Salt and pepper

Cook the beans in boiling salted water, drain, and reserve one cup of the drained liquid for the sauce made from the remaining ingredients. Melt the butter, add the flour. Mix until smooth and add liquid and other ingredients. Pour the sauce over the hot beans.

Diana Huebert Gives Recital of Modern Dance Abstractions

Diana Huebert, an interpretive dancer and teacher of modernist dance forms in Chicago studios, returned as a recitalist in the Goodman theater last night after several seasons of absence. She gave a program of "abstractions," the first part of which was solo work while the second introduced her group of disciples, sixteen in number. She is a native Chicagoan, but has had international experience. The music for three of her numbers was written by young Chicago composers—John Jones, Ernest Brooks, and Florence Galajikian. The recital was well attended. Miss Huebert is an interesting representative of the modern dance cult; pale blonde of hair, in the Ann Harding style, intellectual of face, tall and athletic of figure.—C. C.

How Dangerous Is a Married Woman Rival?

Adviser Discusses This Alliance Problem.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How dangerous is a married woman as a competitor in love?

Tina inquires. Tina thinks she has something to worry about in the young married woman who likes to include Tina's fiancé in a threesome including herself, her husband, and said young fiancé.

"Before he met me," Tina tells, "he was interested in a young married woman with whom he went horseback riding and dining, most often with the husband not included in the plans. Then I became angry one evening when he phoned he had a date with the woman and her husband and couldn't keep the appointment with me. I wouldn't see him for two weeks and, in the meantime, took pains to be seen out with a young man he detests.

"Now he is willing not to see the married woman or go riding or dining with her, but not so the lady! She does not want to release her 'extra' man to his fiancée."

Some married women are like that. A husband isn't enough of a conquest to parade. Gluttons for show they are, but silly as they come. No one seeing their goings-on is fooled. Instead of giving the impression that they are so attractive men can't keep away from them, the judgment pronounced is that they're two-timing the mate and are cheaters of the meanest sort.

Certainly, if a woman wants to pay her husband the lowest compliment she can pay him, it is to insist on dragging around an extra man everywhere. If he stands for it, he is deemed a weakling. And the reflection on him, if he does stand for it, is that he isn't a strong enough number to hold the attention of any woman.

But Tina has her man where she wants him now. She obviously knows how to handle him, too, letting him understand he can't have the proverbial cake and consume it too. One must pull these young men up with a start sometimes. They may drift into an alliance with a married woman innocently enough. She sees that the poor goat of a husband foots the bills, which is no boost for the extra man, either. In fact, the Greeks and a lot of other people have a word for a chap like that, and it is no distinction to be proud of, believe us. Which idea Tina might pass on to her young man should he show signs of succumbing again to the married woman's charms.

FROM California TO CARSON'S

OUT of the sunlight of California—into the spotlight at Carson's—come new fashions for you and your home. Here are dresses and coats and accessories that reflect the Hollywood taste for the dramatic—here is furniture that blends the practical with the amusing—here is China whose brilliancy of color repeats the tones of the California picture itself.

IF you would enjoy a prevue of the California picture as a whole, before you come inside to see the representation from each section individually, make it a point to see our fifteen California windows. They are on the State and Madison Street sides of the building.

Sun Chaise, $38.75

TONI hats are Hollywood headliners. These two show the big and little of Toni fashions. Both are of leghorn, one broad-brimmed with double-faced satin ribbons, $8.75; the other with an open crown of belting, $7.50. Exclusive with Carson's in Chicago.

Toni Hats, Fifth Floor.

INDIAN jewelry set with real turquoise matrix, the color of the western sky. The matrix is mounted in coin silver 900 fine. Unusual designs, and many one-of-a-kind pieces. Rings, 50c to $10; bracelets, 75c to $20.

Jewelry, First Floor.

CALIFORNIA belts are all the rage for Spring! They lend a touch of Hollywood gaiety to dark frocks. Styles galore in string, wool, and hemp. Colors to punctuate every costume. According to kind, $1 to $2.50.

Belts, First Floor.

HANDMADE handkerchiefs come out of the West to Carson's. We bring them to you in a variety of styles with hand-appliqued designs, and hand-hemmed edges. Gay colors to accent every Spring ensemble. Price, ea., 25c.

Handkerchiefs, First Floor.

EVENING frock of net, that gives the impression of having attracted, and held, the rays from a whole circle of brightly colored spotlights. A taffeta weave slip keeps the skirt spread dramatically. 10 to 16. $19.95.

SUITS bred under the California sun have broader shoulders, slimmer waists—every detail intensified a bit. This style has smart stitching on the pockets and lapels. Shetland type fabric in bright or dark navy, black, or beige. 12 to 20. $19.95.

CALIFORNIA Coat—a glorified beach coat that refuses to stay on the beach. It may be worn over your play clothes, to breakfast, or for lounging. In gay tropical patterns, with coconut shell buttons. Sizes 14 to 20. $5.95.

JIGGERS! This smart version of the new short coat shows its California breeding in its jauntily flaring lines and its brilliant colorings. Nude, royal blue, navy white or black, taffeta-weave lined. 12 to 20. $16.95.

POLKA DOT shirtwaist frock with details that show its California origin. Little bows tie below the elbows and a bigger bow under the chin. In navy, blue, copen, green rose. 16 to 44. $6.95.

Apparel, Fourth Floor.

PATIO dress designed for the open Patio courts that are a part of so many California homes. Long and attractively styled for dinner at home, for lounging, for beach wear. Big prints with a rich oil painted look on heavy chintz-like cotton. Canyon red, brown or black grounds. 12 to 20. $7.95.

CULOTTE dress that has a fit and dash all its own. Made for sports—perfect for tennis and golf or bicycling. Wonderfully comfortable for lounging. Note the suspender squares of painted wood, the enormous pockets. In gay print cottons. 12 to 20. $5.95.

CACTUS linen (see Vogue for confirmation of our statement that rough weave linens are headliners this season) in an exquisite desert print that looks like a real water color and comes in lovely hazy shades. Accented with a hemp monk's belt. In brown or aqua tones. 12 to 20. $16.95.

California Shop, Third Floor.

CALIFORNIA babies worship the sun in styles like these we have sketched here. We were so intrigued we've brought them to Chicago just in time for the very young to start off the outdoor play season. Both the smock (which can double for a dress or a beach coat) and the sun suit come in sail cloth in Canyon shades of yellow, blue, or turquoise. 2 to 6. Sun suit, $1.25; Smock, $1.50.

Baby Shop, Third Floor.

California Originals—(Not Sketched)

HOLLYWOOD cinema lipsticks, $1. Hollywood blouses—distinctive, dashing, and individual, $2.65. Brilliant California colors in sheer chiffon hosiery, $1 and $1.35 pair. Stamped pieces to embroider, 15c to 51.

SHEER nightgowns in tropical pastel prints. $10.95.

TRAPUNTA work Celanese taffeta bedspreads. $10 to $45.

SUN furniture, made with the needs of Southern California play spots in mind, is exclusive with Carson's in Chicagoland. It's made of Oregon pine and soaked in oil to withstand extreme climatic conditions. Each piece, of which we have a great variety, is laced with ropes on which rest the cushions of army duck, vat-dyed in brilliant "desert" colors.

Furniture, Ninth Floor, Wabash.

POTTERY made in California—three groups in a variety of colors, some flaming as a desert sunset, others soft as the first tints of sunrise.

"Montecito," an exquisite openstock pattern in eggplant, satin gray, seladon and dusty coral. Pieces are priced from 35c to $2.75.

"California Rainbow," 20 piece set including 4 of each piece shown, in glowing green, blue, turquoise and orange. Set, $3.95.

"Pintorio," 34 piece set in a unique square shape and in magnificent clear colors—Delphinium blue, Poppy orange, Canary yellow, turquoise, cream and rust. Set, $19.50.

China, Seventh Floor, State.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dallas, Tex., April 11.—The White Sox had another keen appetite for base hits today and Pittsburgh's Pirates paid for the feast necessary to appease the unruly Chicagoans. The Sox took nourishment in the shape of 16 drives of various length, a total sufficient to lift them to their third straight exhibition triumph over the National leaguers. The score was 8 to 5, giving the victors a 3 to 2 edge in the spring series.

John Whitehead.

The Pirates did some hitting on their own account, but not enough to eclipse the fact that they were looking at some stylish pitching. For five innings they touched John Whitehead for only five hits and one run. He compensated by fanning five of them. Then Sugar Cain served through the four remaining innings and while he was jostled slightly in the eighth it was mainly because he had such a healthy lead that he could afford to gamble.

Make Merry with Swift.

The display of Sox hits ruined another effort by Pie Traynor, the Pirate boss, to discover whether he has a nine inning pitcher at his command. Big Jim Weaver was supposed to go the route on this occasion but tired suddenly in the seventh after holding the Chicagoans to one run despite numerous safe clouts. Weaver's departure made room for Bill Swift and the Sox then put it on properly, rocking him for seven runs in two innings. It was a happy occasion, for they haven't forgotten that a year ago Swift was reported to have referred to them as a bunch of bushers.

The Sox could extract nothing from two hits off Weaver in the first inning and used up three safe drives to get their initial run in the second. The scoring started with Hayes and Dykes singling to left. Rensa spanked a liner to right on which P. Waner made a nice catch. Dykes was so interested in watching the elder Waner that he neglected to get back to first in time to avoid being doubled. Whitehead walked and Radcliff ripped off a single on which Hayes counted. Walker also drew free passage, loading the bags, but Weaver escaped additional injury when Rosenthal fouled to Vaughan.

Whitehead Wriggles Through.

Whitehead's portliness got him into a jam in the Pirates' half of the second but his arm pulled him through undamaged. Suhr led off with a two bagger to center and Brubaker followed with a pass. Handley was set down on strikes. Todd pushed an easy roller to the left of Whitehead, but the big fellow couldn't bend over, so it went for a hit, filling the bases. Whitehead then fanned Weaver and forced Lloyd Waner to ground to Appling.

Whitehead had another problem on his hands in the fourth, mainly because of his own mistake, but wriggled through with his one run lead intact. Brubaker opened with a pass and was forced on Handley's grounder to Hayes. Todd bounced to Whitehead and the latter, not observing that Handley had started with the

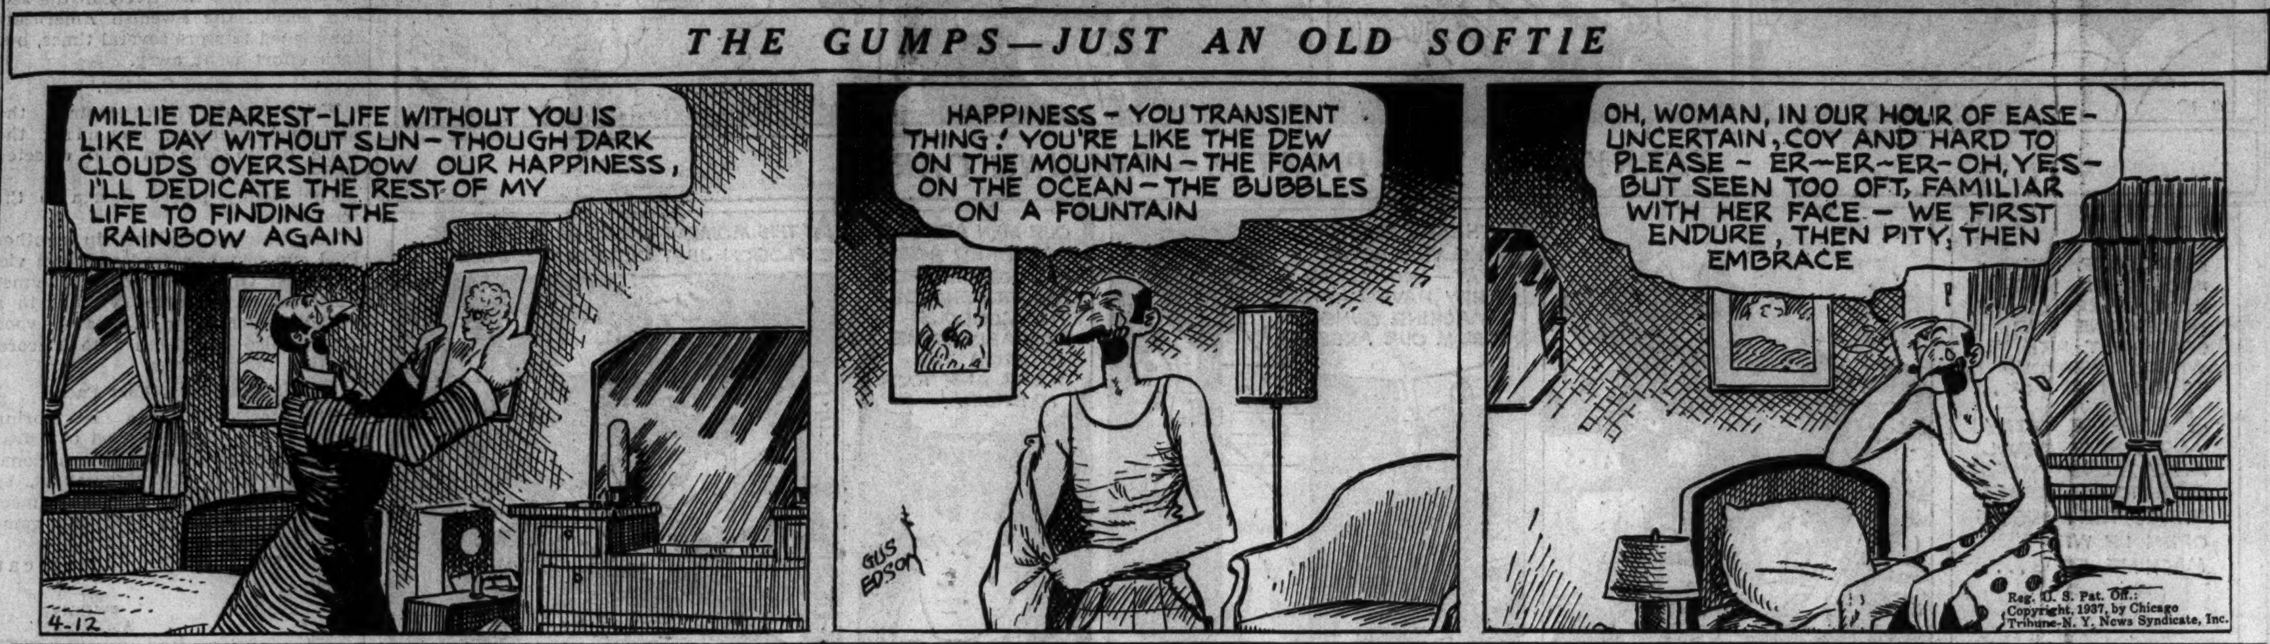
THE GUMPS—JUST AN OLD SOFTIE



AN ERROR FOR MR. DYKES

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, meeting in Chicago last week, made a more or less blanket indictment of intercollegiate athletics. . . . As usual, no specific detail was announced. . . . The committee on physical education, however, reported that its survey convinced it that subsidizing and proselyting, those twin devils of college sports, were increasing. . . . Lest their attitude be misconstrued, they made clear that intercollegiate athletics still are on a higher plane than professional wrestling. . . . This really is too bad and obviously something ought to be done about it. . . .

This department knows so many young men who play college football or other intercollegiate games for the fun they get out of them and so many universities that conduct their athletics on a high plane that it hesitates to make a generalization of the problem, as the North Central committee has done. . . . It would be silly to deny that here and there you will find a school that cheats or a player who demands money for potential touchdowns. . . . But these institutions and the commercially minded athletes are rather widely known. . . . The schools which observe and practice amateur sport do not need the help of the Carnegie Foundation or the North Central committees to regulate their athletic affairs. . . . It is a simple matter for them to arrange schedules with other universities following the same code and to avoid contacts with those which conduct professional sports under the guise of amateurism. . . . This policy is gaining in popularity. . . .

It is easy to distort the facts and make college football look strictly commercial. . . . But with the exception of a few scattered instances there is little room for criticism. . . . Next to the anti-athletic element within educational circles, sports writers seeking to gain national recognition, who probably couldn't achieve their objective in any other way, break into print with blanket charges against football. . . . Seldom or never do they submit concrete facts. Such articles, based on innuendo, are cowardly. . . . If there is specific evidence of irregularities in the conduct of athletics they ought to be aired. . . .

It may be a terrible thing that alumni try to encourage promising athletes to enroll at their various alma maters, but, frankly, we are all for it. . . . It is merely a manifestation of loyalty, and loyalty, we always have thought, is a commendable attribute. . . . If we could afford it we would send eight or ten of the best high school athletes who could meet matriculation requirements to Notre Dame, Purdue or Dartmouth every year, because we know of no finer environment in which a young man can obtain his education. . . . And we are no isolated individual. . . . There are thousands of others with equal or greater enthusiasm for Northwestern, Chicago, Illinois or old Slippery Rock. . . . Of course, this sort of liberality might invite embarrassing conditions, but none of the schools mentioned need worry. . . . Nothing will come of it. . . .

And what do you think of the chances of the Cubs and the Sox?

Ten Years Ago Today—Charley Root's pitching and Earl Webb's two home runs gave the Chicago Cubs a 10 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the opening game of the season. . . . The Cleveland Indians nosed out the White Sox, 3 to 2. . . . Dave Shade, challenger for the 160 pound title, defeated Phil Krug in ten rounds at the Coliseum before 9,000 fans who paid $35,000. . . . The opening day baseball games drew 230,660 spectators.

DERBY HOPEFULS WILL GET TEST IN HAVRE MEETING

14 Day Program to Open Today.

Havre de Grace, Md., April 11.—(AP)—During fourteen days of racing starting here tomorrow the hopes of a number of Kentucky Derby and Preakness candidates will receive the test of actual competition.

Because this meeting extends to within a week or so of the Derby date, owners and handlers traditionally bring their hopefuls here to determine their fitness for the big turf classics. The principal pre-Derby test is the $10,000 added Chesapeake stakes for 3 year olds at a mile and a sixteenth on April 24.

Harford Opens Meting.

Among the Derby or Preakness eligible now in Maryland and likely to race here are E. R. Bradley's Biologist, William du Pont Jr.'s Fairy Hill, Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral, Walter M. Jeffords' Matey, J. W. Y. Martin's Triple Action, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Tedium.

The Harford—a $5,000 added 6 furlong test for handicap horses—will open the meeting tomorrow. Saturday the distance will be lengthened to a mile and a sixteenth and the added money raised to $7,500 in the Philadelphia handicap.

Hirsch's Columbiana Eligible.

Eligibles for the Philadelphia include W. J. Hirsch's Columbiana, winner of the Widener Challenge cup; Mrs. E. Denemark's Finance, Foxcatcher Farm's Gold Seeker, Hal Price Headley's Whopper, J. W. Y. Martin's Dark Hope, Townsend B. Martin's White Cockade, J. E. F. Seagram's Stand Pat, E. D. Shaffer's Floradora, and C. V. Whitney's Red Rain.

The Aberdeen stakes, a 4½ furlong dash for 2 year olds, will close the meeting April 27.

BAER WINDS UP HEAVY TRAINING FOR FARR FIGHT

LONDON, April 11.—(AP)—Max Baer, the playboy ex-heavyweight champion, wound up heavy training today for his fight Thursday with Tommy Farr, British title holder.

A large crowd turned out to see the last practice session for the Californian, whose self-told accounts of his love life have just about crowded the duke of Windsor out of London papers lately.

Farr won the British title by outpointing Ben Foord, the South African, on March 15. Baer, his contract difficulties with Madison Square Garden in New York over so far as his English appearances are concerned, is scheduled for one other fight here in addition to the Farr bout.

LORETTA THOMAN WINS WOMEN'S FENCING TITLE

Loretta Thoman of Cleveland won the women's foils title last night in the midwest fencing championships at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

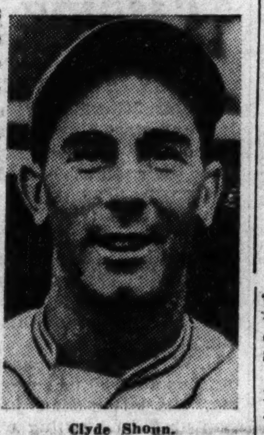
Miss Thoman won two matches and lost one. Second place went to Arvilla Droll, St. Louis; third to Violet Wilhelm of Cleveland, and fourth to another Cleveland entry, Gladys Gibson.

Frank Righeimer of Chicago won the men's foils with Albert di Giacinto of St. Louis second. Eugene Williams of Chicago won the saber championship and Harry Lemon of Chicago the epee title to give the Illinois division the team title with 41 points. St. Louis was second with 39 and Cleveland third with 25½.

Cubs' Four Runs in 11th Beat Browns for 3d Straight Time

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., April 11.—The Cubs this afternoon tied the St. Louis Browns with one run in the ninth inning, then crashed through with four in the eleventh to win, 9 to 5. The outcome gave the Cubs three straight over the Browns and celebrated the St. Louisans' farewell to their 1937 training camp.



Clyde Shoun.

Leroy Parmelee, starting Cub pitcher, failed to distinguish himself as he did against the White Sox in El Paso Wednesday. He was bumped for 10 hits, five of them in the sixth. The assortment included two homers by Harland Clift, a San Antonio boy who for a long time looked like a hero to his neighbors. Clyde Shoun, winning pitcher in the Cubs' one previous extra inning game over the Sox in Phoenix last Sunday, pitched the last five innings and held the Browns to one hit, the single with which Rollie Hemsley led off the tenth inning.

Frank Demaree led the Cub attack with four hits, a homer which drove in three runs and put the Cubs momentarily ahead, 3 to 2, in the sixth and three singles, the last of which drove in the final run of the game.

Augie Galan scored after doubling in the seventh and got home with the tying run after tripling at the start of the ninth. He scored the second run of the cluster in the eleventh after walking.

In the Wake of the News

1937 SPORTS.

RETURNING from vacation and from improving the breed of thoroughbreds for Friend Arch in the southland, The Wake foresees, unless all signs fail, a great year of outdoor sports impending for 1937.

Our Cubs and our Sox command the respect of their respective followers. Whether that respect will continue until the last of September one does not attempt to foretell. While more strength could be used in some spots, the Cubs at least are pennant contenders despite adverse views of outside experts. Certainly they'll be there giving interesting arguments to any who try to outspeed them to the flag.

Progress of the White Sox will be doubly interesting after their unexpectedly fine showing last season. It's rather too much to expect a championship against the strength elsewhere, but even another third place in the fierce competition looming would be an achievement—and, of course, it might be better. No longer does one go to Comiskey park with feelings of "What's the use?"

We're on the eve of the Kentucky Derby, with that always more or less open fixture more open than ever—with the 3 year old championship now any one's guess. There are at least a dozen high class colts and fillies which figure in the rating besides those which improve over their 2 year old form.

Arlington Park, Chicago racing's high spot, promises the most liberal purses it ever has offered horsemen in an effort to attract the best eastern stables. In fact, track sponsors have let it be known they will be discouraged over the future if generous response is not made by owners and trainers to the liberality. Washington Park and all other local tracks are seconding the movement with increased offerings.

In golf we face the usual competition and Chicago's first really pretentious open event of recent years almost sure to enlist the nation's greatest performers.

In lawn tennis, with the retirement of Fred Perry from amateur ranks, the United States has more than an outside chance to recover the Davis international trophy so long missing from these shores. This promise is based on the expected predominance of Don Budge.

Professional boxing is still a mess, but it's certain there will be some sort of championship bout. In view of all that's happened and is happening we hesitate to say yet that it will take place in Chicago June 22, but that's the best outlook now.

In amateur boxing, however, we know there'll be a great series of contests in the International Golden Gloves in Chicago May 28. It will be the first time that the combined nations of Europe have pitted their topnotchers against Chicagoland's best amateur mitt swingers, although individual nations have been downed with the exception of Germany, which tied against a somewhat below average Chicago outfit.

Indeed, of the events which happened while The Wake was away, probably Chicago's victory over New York in the intercity bouts gave most satisfaction. It was not only that our boys won against New York's best team of years by 9 to 7, but that five of those decisions were in the championship class against three for the invaders.

Yes, the 1937 sports outlook is rosy at this writing.

TRIS SPEAKER FRACTURES HIS SKULL IN FALL

Tumbles 16 Feet Onto Stone Walk.

Cleveland, O., April 11.—(AP)—Tris Speaker, who managed the Cleveland Indians to the world series championship in 1920, is in critical condition tonight in Lakeside hospital with a skull fracture suffered in a fall from the second story porch of his home.

Tris Speaker.

He also suffered a badly lacerated face and a fracture of the left arm.

His physician, Dr. E. B. Castle, said: "His condition is critical, but I think he'll make it. He has taken care of himself and he is strong."

Speaker was putting up a flower box for his wife when he fell from the porch, landing on a stone walk edged with jagged cobblestones. A porch railing against which he was leaning gave way.

Is 48 Years Old.

Speaker, who is 48, resigned as manager of the Cleveland team Nov. 29, 1926. He played with Washington in 1927 and with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1928. He managed Newark in the International league in 1929 and 1930, and later was part owner of the Kansas City team in the American association.

Breaking into the major leagues with the Boston Red Sox, he played in three world series, two with Boston and one with Cleveland, and had a series batting record of .306.

Walks to Lawn Chair.

In 1931 Speaker was a radio broadcaster of major league games in Chicago, and in the winter of 1931 he had a brief experience as a motion picture actor in Hollywood. He entered the liquor business in January, 1934, and is now president of Tris Speaker, Inc., wholesale wines and liquors.

Speaker's physician tonight said that the average person would have been knocked unconscious by the blow on the head which Speaker received in his 16 foot fall, but that Speaker got to his feet and walked to a lawn chair where he waited for an ambulance.

Fort Sheridan Poloists Defeat Des Moines Team

Detroit, Mich., April 11.—(AP)—The New York Rangers advanced to within one game of Stanley cup custody tonight, defeating the Champion Detroit Red Wings, 1 to 0, before 13,735 as Goalie Davie Kerr returned to his mastery of the nets.

Davie Kerr.

Neil Colville's short drive on a rebound while Johnny Gallagher, Detroit defense man, was in the penalty box for tripping provided the victory margin in the third game of the five game cup series. The goal was scored 23 seconds after the second period started.

Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit and Babe Pratt of New York produced the fistic highlight, drawing five minute penalties in the third period after swapping punches lustily. Eleven penalties were called in all.

Kerr New York Star.

Kerr, who scored his fourth shutout in seven playoff games, was the New York star. Jumping about in the nets he stopped drive after drive in the late stages of the game as the Red Wings put on the power with five man rushes in an attempt to tie the score.

Because of the many penalties, however, there were frequent moments when five man rushes were impossible. Pratt, in addition to his major penalty for the Goodfellow fight, was in the box on two other occasions.

Penalty Leads to Goal.

Gallagher's tripping of Ott Heller opened the way for the Ranger goal. On a face-off in the Detroit corner, Cooper got the puck to Pratt at the blue line, and the Ranger defense man fired a long drive that Cooper deflected slightly. Goalie Earl Robertson stopped the puck, but Neil Colville was in on the rebound to hit an open net.

Heller and Alex Shibicky, both with brain concussions suffered Thursday when Detroit evened the series, played tonight with special headguards, but Shibicky was on the ice only at infrequent intervals.

The teams resume the series here Tuesday, with the Rangers needing only one victory to take the Stanley cup from the Red Wings.

CHICAGO ELKS' BOWLERS HURT IN ELEVATOR FALL

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—Six members of the bowling team of the Chicago Elks lodge of 6156 Cottage Grove avenue were injured today when an elevator fell five floors at the Columbia hotel here. Four remained in the Borgess hospital when their teammates returned home from the national Elks bowling meet in this city.

Those in the hospital were: Frank Freely of 7812 South Shore drive, Ralph Mathews of 7901 Calumet avenue, Robert Swanson of 6837 La Fayette avenue, and Harold Landwehr of 5761 South Maplewood avenue. Charles Fink of 6225 Cottage Grove avenue, and James McGuckin of 5500 Blackstone avenue were able to return.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Bill Ahnert, Elgin, Ill., came within two pins of toppling Ernie Soest, Santa Monica, Cal., out of the lead in the singles division of the American Bowling Congress tournament today.

Ahnert just missed the lead when he scored games of 258-202-268 to total 728, his highest tournament score in twenty years of bowling.

Ahnert turned in the best performance of the day in going through his three games without an "open" frame. He spared to open the series, struck in the second and third frames, spared in the fourth, struck six times and then spared out for 258. In the second game he struck in the first, spared in the second, struck in the third, spared in the fourth, struck in the fifth, had four more spares and then doubled in the tenth for 202.

Almost Does It.

Needing a score of 270 to take the lead, Ahnert clustered six strikes to start his final game, spared in the seventh and eighth and then struck four consecutive times for 268.

Mike Anderson, a member of the Michelob team of Chicago, went into fourth place in the singles with a 719 series and took eighth in the all-events class with an aggregate total of 1,903. He preceded his singles series with counts of 610 in the five men event and 574 in the doubles.

A 4-5 split, the result of a "light" hit in the opening frame of the second game, is all that prevented Anderson from topping the singles field.

One Bad Shot.

One bad shot, a 4-5 split in the tenth frame of the last game, prevented Ray Achenbach and Larry Dunn from taking third in the doubles. The pair registered games of 439-439-409 with Achenbach hitting 206-238-200 and Dunn adding 233-201-209 to go into tenth place with 1,287.

Rolling as the final squad on the minor events schedule for the day, Herb Gumz and Charley Schroeder gave Chicago eighth place in the two-man event when the totaled 1,290 on games of 371, 415, 504.

$50,000,000 Sets Florida Bet Record

Miami, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—Winter visitors and homefolks wagered a record $50,121,647 and the state of Florida reaped a record tax harvest of $1,833,719.84 during the racing season just ended, Chairman Joseph R. Stein of the racing commission announced today.

The state's revenue from two horse tracks, ten dog tracks, and a jai alai fronton was derived from taxes on pari-mutuel pools, admissions, and occupational licenses.

The pari-mutuel total increased by $11,295,515 over last season's $38,826,132 turnover. The state's revenue gained $400,055.69, or more than 34 per cent, over last season's collections.

Legalized in 1931.

Last season's totals constituted the previous records since pari-mutuel wagering was legalized in 1931.

The state's revenue, after the commission's expenses have been deducted, will be divided equally among the 67 counties. Gov. Fred Cone has estimated the commission's expenses will run about $100,000 less than last year's $315,359.74, in which case each county would receive approximately $24,000.

Horse racing contributed $1,086,559.47 to the state, of which $924,754.92 was from the 3 per cent tax on a $30,825,164 mutuels play, $149,272.55 from a 15 per cent tax on admissions, and $12,532 from occupational licenses.

Dogs Pay $716,280.

Dog racing paid the state $716,280.39, of which $561,920.49 came from an $18,730,683 mutuels turnover, $144,142.90 from admissions, and $10,217 from occupational licenses.

The Biscayne fronton at Miami, only one licensed in the state, yielded $30,879.98 to the state, of which $16,974 came from a $565,800 mutuels play, $13,437.98 from admissions, and $468 from occupational licenses.

Attendance at the three sports for the 1936-'37 season was 2,330,984.

Horse racing drew a total of 756,955, dog racing 1,441,429, and jai alai 132,600. Increases over last season were: Horse racing, 171,321; dog racing 262,796, and jai alai 37,647.

Eight of the dog tracks closed last night. The other establishments had closed previously.

ITALIAN BASKET TEAM DEFEATS FRENCH 44 TO 35

ROME, April 11.—(AP)—A friendly crowd today watched an Italian basketball team defeat a French team, 44 to 35.

The game was played without incident despite the cancelation Thursday of an Italian-French football game which was to have been played today in Paris.

The French basketball team came here in spite of an order from the French federation forbidding it to play in Rome.

Practically the same Italian football team that was to have played France today defeated Frankfort at Milan, 4 to 2. Among the spectators was the German Labor Front leader, Dr. Robert Levy, and Achille Starace, secretary of the Italian Fascist party.

Ed Greisheimer Gets Perfect Casting Score

Ed Greisheimer shot a perfect score in the ⅝ ounce accuracy test at the weekly meeting of the Illinois Fly Casting club at the University of Chicago fieldhouse yesterday. Eddie Davis and Clare Bryan tied for second and third with 96 each. Other results were:

Be Sure to See All Wisconsin Fishing Laws

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois fishermen who may have a desire to start pike fishing this month in the state of Wisconsin will have to bide their time, according to the Wisconsin department of conservation. Although residents in Wisconsin are allowed to fish for wall-eyed pike in Lake Winnebago and other lakes and rivers nearby starting April 10, nonresidents are not allowed to take advantage of this early opening.

H. W. McKenzie, conservation director, has advised us regarding this ruling. His letter came just in time to stop us from hustling up to Oshkosh and Winneconne to see if we couldn't hook enough wall-eyes for a shore dinner.

The Letter.

Mr. McKenzie's letter about the early opening of the pike season around Oshkosh and how existing statutes freeze out the nonresident fisherman is as follows:

"I regret very much to inform you that section 29.14 of the Wisconsin statutes provides that a nonresident fishing license shall be effective only from the first day of May until the next succeeding last day of December and, because of the fact that it is a legislative regulation, neither the conservation commission nor the department can make any change or allow the fishing privilege.

"I feel confident that the law was enacted at a time when the trout season opened on May 1 and the general fishing season was on May 25th.

"I can but express my regret that the law dealing with nonresident fishing licenses reads as it does. But I know that you will appreciate I have no authority to moditfy it in any way."

Unusual Situation.

This early pike season thus brings an unusual situation to say the least. The law says that it is legal to start fishing on April 10 for wall-eyes, pickerel, white bass, and several other species of fish in the waters around Oshkosh. There is nothing ambiguous about the wording of it.

Yet there is a regulation in the statutes which says that annual fishing licenses for nonresidents are not any good until May 1. So the one contradicts the other.

Inasmuch as nonresident fishermen must have licenses if they are going to abide by the Wisconsin fishing regulations and avoid trouble, there is no way for a visitor to go into Wisconsin and enjoy a little early fishing, although there is legally an open season for such fishing.

RIDAY DEFEATS GIBBS FOR PARKS BADMINTON TITLE

Jack Riday of the Winnetka Badminton club won the men's singles championship of the Chicago Parks District tournament yesterday at Columbus park. He defeated Bill Gibbs of the host park, 15-4, 15-1.

Billie Traxel Markt of the Lawson B. C. captured the women's crown by defeating Barrie Dillon, Winnetka B. C., 11-7, 11-5.

The men's doubles title went to Fred Russell and Horace Williams of Winnetka, who won from Tom Collins and Lyle Shortz of the First Presbyterian church, 15-7, 15-3.

Riday teamed with Miss Dillon to defeat Shortz and Wilma Wildes, 15-4, 15-9, for the mixed doubles title.

Riding—Ruth Musselman, Quincy.

SHAMROCKS WIN

Chesney, St. Louis Shamrock goal tender, turns back one of many New York American threats yesterday at St. Louis as the eastern and western divisional soccer title holders battle in the opening game of the national championship series. The Shamrocks won, 1 to 0, on Kane's first half goal.

CHICAGOANS WIN TITLES IN A. A. U. WEIGHT LIFTING

Mount Morris, Ill., April 11.—(AP)—Tony Petroline of Chicago won the individual trophy for the best all around performance and the German-American Weight Lifting club of Chicago the team title in the Central-West A. A. U. weight lifting meet today.

The Aurora, Ill., barbell team scored 18 points for second place in the team competition, two less than the winning team's total.

The heavyweight championship went to husky Ed Galligher of Rockford, who scored 685 points, 25 more than the mark reached by the second place man and defending titleholder, Ned Payne of the Chicago Midcity club. Galligher also tied the record in the two armed snatch at 210 pounds.

Petroline, a member of the Chicago Weight Lifting club, scored 740 points, the high total for all divisions. He set two new records—lifting 225 pounds both in the two hand snatch and the two hand military press.

The Chicago Weight Lifting club was third in the team standings with 14 points. Other team scores:

Decatur Y. M. C. A., 13; Midcity club, Chicago, 8; Swedish-American Gymnastic club, Rockford, 7, and the Mount Morris club team, 2.

WARNER TO QUIT WHEN HE HAS ONE MORE STAR TEAM

Philadelphia, Pa., April 11.—(AP)—Glenn S. [Pop] Warner, Temple football coach who has been tutoring football teams for 42 years, plans to retire sometime within the next four years if his current squad turns out to be as good as it looks.

Warner, who began coaching in 1895, recently celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday by revealing his intention to quit.

"I would like to have one more great team before I retire," he said, "and if I can show the doubting Thomases that I am not a has been by producing a nationally recognized eleven, that is going to be the end of my career." He also hinted he may retire anyway when his Temple contract expires in 1939.

St. Louis Wins, 1 to 0, in U. S. Soccer Series

St. Louis, Mo., April 11.—(AP)—The St. Louis Shamrock soccer team, western division champion, scored a 1 to 0 triumph over the New York Americans, eastern title holders, here today before 5,000 in the first of two games which will determine the national champion.

The title will be decided on total goals, with the teams scheduled to meet again next Sunday at New York.

The only goal of the game was scored by Eddie Kane a few seconds before the end of the first half. Another goal by Billy Gonsalves in the final seconds of the contest was not allowed by Referee Tommy Crompton of Chicago.

St. Louis Crippled.

Despite their crippled condition, with Manager Alex McNab out and Gonsalves ailing but playing, the Shamrocks delivered a fine performance in winning their twenty-second triumph in 23 starts. The contest added another casualty to their hospital list, however, as Jimmy Roe suffered an injured knee.

The New Yorkers were thrown on the defensive early in the game, and during the first 13 minutes Goalie Stan Chesney and his full backs, Capt. George Moorhouse and Jimmy Hendron, were kept busy stopping the Shamrock attack.

Michaels New York Star.

George Michaels, who holds the eastern scoring record of 17 goals in three games, was an offensive threat throughout, breaking through the St. Louis defense several times in the second half. The lineups:

SHAMROCKS [1].		N. Y. AMERICANS [0].
Hamm	G.	Chesney
Hebberger	L. B.	Hendron
Erbe	R. B.	Moorhouse

Substitutions—Shamrocks: Egan. Americans: Ferreria.
Referee — Tommy Crompton [Chicago].

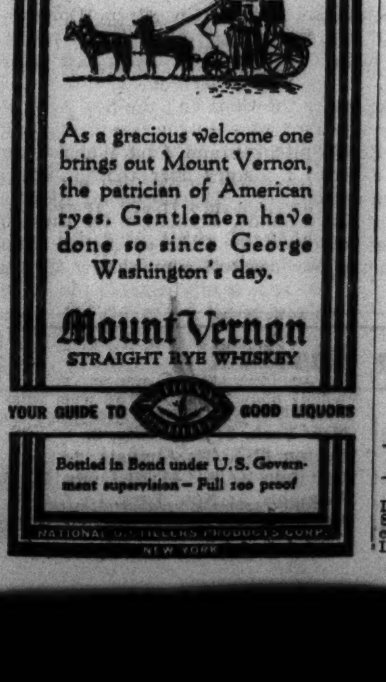
LEAGUE LEADING OAK BROOK TRIO FACES RAMBLERS

Leading the Metropolitan Indoor Polo league title race by a slim margin, Oak Brook will meet the Chicago Ramblers in Saturday night's high goal feature at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

The game will mark the last appearance of the season for both teams unless a tie for first in the final standings necessitates a playoff for the senior title.

In the first game of Saturday evening's double-header, Olympia Fields will take on the Senecas in the junior division.



Sparta Wins Cup Soccer Match, 4-0

BY OFFSIDE.

Scoring twice in each period, Sparta yesterday defeated the Swedish Americans, 4 to 0, in a second round Peel cup soccer game. The game was played at Sparta stadium.

Though dominating the play from the start, Sparta was unable to score for the first thirty minutes. Then Rezak, with Fraser's assistance, scored. Rezak scored again in five minutes on a high shot close in.

Playing more effectively in the second period, the Swedish Americans threatened to score several times, but each effort went awry.

Resume Scoring.

The Chicago Kickers, in another Peel cup match, scored an upset victory over Olympia, 2 to 1. Calumet Park turned back the Vikings in a replay match, 1 to 0. Ravenswood Hearts also won by a 1 to 0 score, beating the Hakoahs.

Maccabees Set Fast Pace.

The Maccabees hit a fast scoring stride in the second period to defeat the Fichte team of the International league, 7 to 1. The Maccabees, by virtue of yesterday's victory, meet Calumet Park in a Peel cup game next Sunday.

The Sparta-Swedish American lineups:

221 Boxers Open A. A. U. Meet Today

Boston, Mass., April 11.—(AP)—The cream of this year's bumper crop of amateur boxers, 221 of them from 25 states, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii, will perform in two rings during tomorrow's opening National A. A. U. boxing program at the Boston garden.

The tourney, which lacks a single 1936 champion in eight divisions, has attracted the best field since 1924, when it launched the careers of Fidel La Barba, Jackie Fields, Al Mello, and many another who gained fame and fortune in the professional ranks.

Three Junior Champions.

Most of the entries are state, sectional, or Golden Gloves champions, but three of them were crowned national junior champions in last week's competition at St. Louis. They were Gilbert Murakami, Eddie Yausi, and Salvadore Laboy, all members of the strong Honolulu team.

Murakami, who topped the 112 pound class at St. Louis, has been entered in the 118 pound division, and Yausi, the 118 pound junior champion, will battle in the 126 pound class, along with Laboy.

West Makes Strong Bid.

Most of the midwestern and far western teams are rated as strong threats and unusual interest is centered in the group from Oklahoma, which includes six boxers from the Chilocco Indian school.

The entries have been spread evenly over the eight classes. When the entry list was closed it included 26 flyweights, 28 bantams, 32 featherweights, 28 lightweights, 27 welters, 29 middleweights, 26 light heavies, and 25 heavyweights.

PAT KISSINGER, GARRISON TOP MARIGOLD CARD

Tonight's Card

Jimmy Garrison vs. Nick Torres [8], 140.
Pat Kissinger vs. Wesley Martin [8], 140.
Ray Baker vs. Harry Booker [4], 135.
Carl Vinciquerra vs. Harold Ulmer [4], heavyweights.
Pat Schoenberger vs. Hal Mollison [4], 145.

Jimmy Garrison, gangling Kansas City, Mo., youngster, who carries a wicked punch, and Pat Kissinger, who won 15 amateur titles before entering the professional field three years ago, will inaugurate their 1937 Chicago campaign tonight in a double feature at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Each contest is set for eight rounds at 140 pounds, five over the lightweight limit.

Garrison, who made an impressive debut here last December by knocking out Joey Connolly at the Stadium, and Kissinger are strong contenders for a bout with Lou Ambers, lightweight champion. Their foes this evening threaten to make things unpleasant for them. Garrison and Kissinger are under the same management.

Ray Baker, Grand Forks, N. D., 135 pound boxer, who has toyed with his six previous opponents at Marigold this season, will be in quest of his seventh victory in a row in a supporting contest at four rounds against Harry Booker, south side veteran.

Carl Vinciquerra, last year's Chicago Golden Gloves champion who turned pro two weeks ago, will be after his fifth straight triumph against Harold Ulmer, Milwaukee heavyweight. They fight four rounds.

Bert Rubi will display his wares against Jack Conley and Hans Schnabel is to meet Max Martin in two headline bouts on the wrestling card tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. In supplementary matches Fritz Schnabel meets Heinie Olson, Otto Schnabel clashes with Herman Olson, and Pete Sherman tackles Bobby Blake. . . . George Dixon II, and Harry Booker, colored lightweight rivals, have been signed to meet for five rounds at Rainbo Fronton Friday. . . . Larry Greb, Milwaukee, is due here tomorrow and Charley Gomer, Brooklyn, will arrive Wednesday for their ten round main event at Majestic arena Friday. . . . Buck O'Neil, who has been on tour in Cuba for the last few weeks, will resume wrestling in this city against Lefty Pacer at the Fronton Wednesday.

Louis Angelucci, Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight finalist, has agreed to box George Dion of Kankakee in a five round amateur contest at the 124th Field Artillery armory gymnasium Wednesday. . . . Max Marek will continue drills this afternoon at C. Y. O. center in preparation for his ten round state heavyweight title defense against Harry Thomas at the Coliseum April 28. . . . The weekly meeting of the state athletic commission will convene at 11:30 o'clock this morning, an hour and a half in advance of the usual time. . . . Roger Whalen, chief inspector of the commission, has returned from a Florida vacation. . . . Irving Schoenwald, north side promoter, suffered a torn leg muscle last week, apparently the result of too much handball competition.

Reds Sign John Jablonski; Send Him to Peoria Farm

Durham, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—Frank Lane, manager of the Durham baseball club, announced today that John Jablonski, star catcher of the University of Michigan, had been signed by the Cincinnati Reds and would report to Peoria of the Three-Eye league.

ROOKIE HITS HOME RUN WITH BASES FULL OFF FELLER

Drives Ball Over Averill's Head; Indians Lose, 5-0.

Little Rock, Ark., April 11.—(AP)—Bob Feller, sensational young Cleveland hurler, today fell victim to the bane of all pitchers when he was touched for a home run with the bases full.

This enabled the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern association to blank the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 0, before 5,600 spectators.

It was the first time in 18 innings of exhibition games that Feller had been scored upon. The 18 year old strikeout king fanned seven batters in the three innings he worked today.

Rookie Does the Damage.

There were two out in the third inning with the bases loaded when Jim Taber, a rookie infielder fresh from the University of Alabama, caught hold of a fast ball and drove it far over Earl Averill's head in center field to score a home run standing up.

Three hits by Little Rock off Feller brought the total made off his pitching this spring to four. He has fanned 29.

Cleveland Gets Only 2 Hits.

While these things were happening to Feller, two Little Rock pitchers were holding Cleveland to two hits. The Indians failed to get a hit off Rogers in the first five innings, and Humphreys yielded only two singles, by Whitehill and Hughes, in the last three innings. Score:

ATHLETICS WHIP PHILLIES, 7-4, FOR TWO GAME LEAD

Philadelphia, Pa., April 11.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics pounded Bucky Walters and Wayne Lamaster for 13 hits to defeat the Phillies, 7 to 4, and take a two game lead in the city series.

The Athletics broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the fourth inning, ending a string of 22 runless innings pitched by Walters this spring. They added three more runs off Walters in the fifth.

After the Phils crept up to the short end of a 5 to 4 score, the Athletics clinched the game by scoring two more runs off Lamaster in the eighth inning after two were out. The rally terminated Lamaster's streak of 18 innings of scoreless pitching.

Phillies ....000 111 100—4 11 0

Batteries—Smith, Williams and Hayes; Walters, Lamaster and Grace, Atwood.

DODGERS SCORE SHUTOUT.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—Van Mungo and Harry Eisenstat held Jacksonville to two hits today and Brooklyn won, 8 to 0.

Mungo yielded both Jacksonville hits. Heinie Manush and Buddy Hassett led Brooklyn's early attack, each driving in three runs. Score:

Cubs Defeat Browns, 9-5, in 11 Innings

game till late, but was busy after he arrived. He batted for Marty in the ninth and singled to drive home Galan with the tying run. He again drove home Galan with a single in the eleventh and later scored himself.

The Cubs' spring series against major league competition now shows 4 and 4 with the White Sox, 1 and 1 with the Pirates, and 3 to 1 against the Browns, with whom they are to play four more games before resuming with the White Sox for three games in Chicago this week-end.

Browns Get Unearned Run.

The Browns put over an unearned run after two were out in the St. Louis half of the first inning. Carey walked and went down with Allen in a double play. Vosmik singled to center and the ball got through Marty to the fence, Vosmik reaching third. Vosmik scored on a wild pitch, after which Bell walked. Lipscomb flied to Galan.

With one out in the home second, Clift banged a 400 foot homer over the center field fence. Hemsley and Hogsett were thrown out by Herman.

Herman was the first Cub batsman to get on base after the second inning when he led off the sixth inning with a single to deep short. Hogsett threw out Marty and Collins walked. Demaree knocked a homer over the fence in left center, scoring behind Herman and Collins to put the Cubs ahead, 3 to 2. O'Dea popped to Carey and Clift threw out Hack.

Clift Gets Another Homer.

Caldwell was the Brown pitcher at the start of the seventh. Frey bounced out and Meyer, batting for Parmelee, popped to Davis. Galan doubled to center and scored on Herman's third hit, a single to center. Marty singled to left, Herman stopping at second. Bell made a one handed leaping catch of Collins' drive.

Shoun Takes Mound Task.

Shoun took over the Cub pitching job at the beginning of the home seventh. Frey threw out Lipscomb and Davis flied to Galan. Clift walked and Hemsley lined to Marty.

Demaree opened the eighth with his third hit, a single to center. The Cubs foreswore the sacrifice and O'Dea popped to Davis. The boner was emphasized when Hack singled to right, the hit that would have driven in the tying run had O'Dea sacrificed. Shoun fanned.

Allen walked with two out in the eighth and stole second. Vosmik also walked, but Bell flied to Marty. In the ninth Galan tripled to left center and held third while Lipscomb threw out Herman. Cavarretta batted for Marty and lined a single to center, Galan scoring the tying run. When Collins popped a high fly to right, Cavarretta started running. Bell caught the ball and tossed to Davis to double Cavarretta.

Cubs Finish It!

Frey reached first at the start of the eleventh when his grounder went between Knickerbocker's heels. The Cubs this time remembered the sacrifice play and Shoun laid down one to put Frey on second. Galan walked and Herman doubled along the left foul line, Frey scoring and Galan stopping at third.

Cavarretta again came through with a vital single, Galan scoring and Herman stopping at third. Collins grounded out, Herman scoring and Cavarretta stopping at second. Demaree socked his fourth hit, a single to left, Cavarretta scoring. Lipscomb threw out O'Dea.

Cubs, Browns Move Warfare to Fort Worth

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., April 11.—The Cubs took to Pullmans again tonight, with no more bed sleeping in prospect until the lads arrive in Chicago on the night of April 16. The Cubs and Browns will go up to Fort Worth tonight.

Clay Bryant, who pitched a great game against the Sox in Bisbee last Tuesday and followed up yesterday in a 2 1-3 inning appearance in which he had nothing whatsoever, will pitch at Fort Worth tomorrow, and probably will be pitching for his job. Manager Grimm says he has grown weary of the fluctuations in the big right hander and has a trade with a minor league club in view. Bill Trotter or Julio Bonetti is scheduled to pitch for the Browns.

GREENLEAF WINS TO KEEP 2D PLACE IN BILLIARD MEET

New York, April 11.—(AP)—Ralph Greenleaf of New York, 13 times title winner, maintained second place behind Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del., defending champion in the world's pocket billiards championship, when he defeated Benny Allen of Kansas City, 125 to 75, in eleven innings tonight. It was Greenleaf's fifth victory in seven starts.

Irving Crane of Rochester, N. Y., defeated Fay Gainer of Vineland, N. J., 125 to 60, in another eleven inning match which opened tonight's two-game session.

The standings:

	W.	L.	HR.	BG.
Jimmy Caras, Wilmington, Del.	5	1	77	11
Ralph Greenleaf, New York	5	2	84	10
Andrew Ponzi, New York	4	2	74	9
Willy Mosconi, Philadelphia	5	3	95	3
Onofrio Lauri, Brooklyn	5	3	70	8
Irving Crane, Rochester, N. Y.	5	4	59	11
Erwin Rudolph, Cleveland	4	4	79	11
Marcel Camp, Detroit	5	5	48	15
Charles Seaback, Boston	4	5	55	15

CHICAGO, CICERO BOWLERS UPSET K. C. STANDINGS

Toledo, O., April 11.—(AP)—Toledo, Chicago and Cicero, Ill., bowlers shared honors tonight in the National Knights of Columbus bowling tournament.

M. Trausch and L. Madigan of Chicago pushed into the doubles lead with a 1,325 total.

F. Vonesh of Cicero caused the biggest commotion in the singles when he scored 202, 211, and 172 for a 585 third place position. P. Bleser of Wilmette and the Rev. Rausch of Chicago went into a fourth place tie with 672 scores.

White Sox Late Attack Defeats Pirates, 8 to 5

pitch, threw to second for a force play. Handley beat the throw easily. Merely as a matter of defense, Weaver bunted safely on the third strike and Whitehead tossed him out at first. Then speedy Lloyd Waner tapped in front of the plate, but Whitehead put on a big hustle and threw him out.

Two Pirates were out of the way in the fifth before Whitehead encountered the mixup which gave the enemy the tying run. Vaughan slammed a three base drive into the left field corner and Suhr walked. Then Brubaker bounced a line hugging double past Dykes to score Vaughan and put Suhr on third. The inning ended with Handley's fly to Rosenthal.

There also were two gone in the sixth before the Pirates set about scoring their second run. Cain started by getting Todd on a fly to Walker and Weaver on a tap to Bonura. Lloyd Waner then singled to center and Brother Paul singled to right, but Walker let the ball get past him, Lloyd scoring and Brother Paul reaching third. Appling threw out Dickshot to avert further trouble.

Oklahoma City Next.

When Weaver walked Cain and was shaken by Radcliff's single with none out in the seventh, he decided to wigwag for help. Swift responded and the fun started. Walker atoned for his error by doubling to left, Cain and Radcliff scoring. Rosenthal beat out a bunt which Swift heaved into right field, Walker scoring and Rosenthal sprinting to third. Bonura tripled and Rosenthal counted. That ended the excitement for the inning except that the now enraged Swift plunked Mesner and Schlueter with pitched balls.

The three run affair staged by the Sox in the eighth started with a single by Radcliff who was bunted to second by Walker. Singles by Rosenthal, Bonura, and Appling followed before Swift was permitted to regain his balance. The Pirates also scored three in the same inning on homers by Todd and Schulte and a single by P. Waner who made the circuit on an error, a wild pitch, and a fly ball.

Before departing tonight for Oklahoma City, where the daily act will be staged tomorrow, Manager Dykes announced that Frank Papish, left handed pitcher from Omaha, and Outfielder Tom McBride, obtained from the Longview team, had been turned over to the Dallas Steers, a Sox farm.

Special Features Are Planned for A. A. U. Swim Meet

A four day program of exhibitions and special feature events has been arranged in connection with the senior women's national A. A. U. swimming and diving championships which will open Wednesday night at the Lake Shore Athletic club, 850 Lake Shore drive.

Men swimming and diving stars from the national A. A. U. meet at Yale last week will arrive in Chicago today and tomorrow for exhibitions, races, and diving every night of the Lake Shore meet from Wednesday through Saturday.

One of the highlights of the exhibition program will be the attempt of Adolph Kiefer, Olympic backstroke champion, to establish 18 new world records in four days. Kiefer has already broken every world mark except for the events held in a 60 foot pool. A special bulkhead is being built in the Lake Shore pool to enable the Chicago star to gain new laurels for the 60 foot pool.

Besides Kiefer, the exhibition program will include stars from the University of Michigan team, the Lake Shore men's team, the University of Chicago, and Northwestern university.

M'EVOY EXPLAINS LEAGUE'S POLICY ON BROADCASTS

L. C. McEvoy, the American league's supervisor of radio broadcasting, was the principal speaker at a conference of baseball announcers in the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday. Other speakers included Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner; Charles B. Drake, assistant to the president of the Chicago Cubs, and Jack MacCallister, veteran baseball manager and scout.

McEvoy explained that the American league does not intend to throttle broadcasting, but cautioned announcers against editorializing on the field of play.

"There is a vast difference between editorial comment during the game, when the heat of partisanship may be high, and in the cooler, calmer moments afterward," he said.

"Under your broadcasting agreements you have simply and solely the right to give a play by play account of the game. That is the only right conferred. If you are fully alive to the full extent of the privileges conferred under your broadcasting contracts and conduct your broadcasts in a manner consistent with the privilege, I am persuaded deeply that unhappy situations will be avoided."

Japanese Pick Von Cramm to Defeat Budge

San Francisco, Cal., April 11.—(AP)—Three wiry Japanese tennis players, here to try to blast the United States out of Davis cup competition in the zone eliminations, have great respect for America's Donald Budge, but rank Germany's Baron von Cramm as the best amateur player of the day.

Jiro Yamagishi, singles and doubles champion of the island empire and captain of the Davis cup team, believes Von Cramm will take the measure of the ranking United States player, if and when the two match strokes in international competition.

In this belief, Yamagishi is backed up by his teammates, Hideo Nishimura and Fumiteru Nakano. Yamagishi, 24 year old student of Keio university, predicts the German's court generalship and solid play will prove superior to Budge's meteoric shots.

Capt. Yamagishi says Japanese players always have one handicap to overcome after traveling to other lands for competition. It is becoming accustomed to the tennis balls of the particular country. He says the ball manufactured in Japan is lighter and lacks the resiliency of the type used in most other nations.

GRANT DEFEATS ALLISON TO WIN 3D TEXAS TITLE

Victorious in 4 Sets Over Veteran Cup Player.

Houston, Tex., April 11.—(AP)—Bryan Grant, third ranking tennis player in the nation, won his third successive River Oaks tournament title today by defeating Wilmer Allison, retired cup and international tournament star. The count was 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Bryan Grant.

Grant was extended most of the way in beating his old foe. It was the third time in a row the two stars had battled for the title.

The title match in the men's doubles was halted by darkness. Karl and Bob Kamrath had won one set, 7-5, and Grant and Wayne Sabin one, 7-5, and they were tied, 15-all, in the third set. The match will be played over tomorrow.

Mrs. Van Ryn Wins.

Marjorie Van Ryn of Austin won the women's singles title by defeating another Wightman cup player, Gracyn Wheeler of Santa Monica, Cal., 6-3, 6-2. Mrs. Van Ryn was a finalist last year, but lost to Eunice Dean of San Antonio, who was eliminated in the semi-finals this year.

Grant, in beating Allison, was exceptionally accurate on corner placements and managed to drive past his battling opponent several times. Allison, however, was strong at the net and showed good form all the way.

Kantrowitz Junior Winner.

The junior singles title went to Marvin Kantrowitz, University of Texas student from New York. He defeated Bobby Decker, Florida state junior champion, in the finals yesterday.

The seventh annual tournament had its upsets, the major being the elimination of Allison and his old Davis cup partner, John Van Ryn of Austin, Tex., in the doubles quarter-finals. Elwood Cooke of Portland and Martin Buxby of Miami ousted them.

SINGLES OPEN NORTH, SOUTH TENNIS TODAY

Pinehurst, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—Men's and women's singles will open the 19th annual United North and South tennis tournament here tomorrow.

A field of approximately 40 players will vie in the various events on the full week's program.

Among those entered are Martin Bixby and Arthur Hendricks of Lakeland, Fla.; Gerald Cooke and Gilbert Hall of New York; Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis cup star, and teams from Duke university and the University of North Carolina.

H. S. WILKINSON, STEEL CHIEF AND FINANCIER, DIES

Stricken in Chicago on Return from Vacation.

Horace Simpson Wilkinson, 68 years old, financier, industrialist and Great Lakes shipping operator, died in his suite in the Blackstone hotel yesterday morning. He had been ill since last Tuesday, when he was stricken with an acute heart attack while en route with his wife, Ada M., from the west coast to their home at Belle Haven, Greenwich, Conn. The cause of death was given as coronary thrombosis and myocarditis.

H. S. Wilkinson.

Ill Health for 2 Years.

His widow said the industrialist had not been in good health for the past two years. She said they spent the winter in California, stopping in Seattle, Wash., her former home, on their trip east. Mrs. Wilkinson is the daughter of the late Dr. Granville Lowther of Seattle. They were married in 1889 and have no children. She will accompany the body to Greenwich today where services will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Wilkinson, who was chairman of the board of the Crucible Steel Company of America, was born in Shellsburg, Ia. He was the son of the Rev. Joseph G. Wilkinson, a Methodist minister. He started his career as a real estate dealer in Syracuse, N. Y.

Forty years ago he helped develop the Great Lakes Steamship company and founded the Toledo Shipbuilding company. He was president of the former and chairman of the latter at his death.

Helped Found Crucible Company.

At the turn of the century he helped organize the Crucible company, now one of the six largest steel companies in the country.

Besides his other interests, the industrialist was director and honorary vice president of the American Iron and Steel Institute and a director of the Great Lakes Towing company. He also was a trustee of Syracuse university.

BLOOMINGTON MOUSE WINS NATIONAL RADIO SINGING COMPETITION

Mikey, a singing mouse from Bloomington, outsang a dozen other mice, according to the decision of a jury of critics yesterday after a radio contest. Mikey and eight other mice sang here in a studio in the Merchandise Mart. Others sang in Boston, Memphis, and Seattle. The jury listened in New York.

The winning mouse caroled steadily for an hour before the broadcast was set, and continued while he was peered at by the owners of other entrants in the mouse singing contest. He is owned by Gilbert C. Brown, a theater manager in Bloomington.

Other mice were brought here from Grand Rapids, Mich.; Rock Island, Elmhurst, Indianapolis, and elsewhere. Mrs. Dewey Hargis of Indianapolis, who brought the 5 month old baby along with the mouse, said her mouse escaped in the studio and was worn out and frightened after he was caught, so he could not sing.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Last of Steers Sold.

April 11, 1937.

TWENTY-FOUR head of Hereford steers—the last of the 2 year olds on feed at the Tribune's Yorkville Experimental farm—were sold last week on the Chicago market. The steers weighed a total of 24,620 pounds and brought $10.25 a hundredweight.

Freight on the shipment amounted to $18.79 after a refund of three cents a hundred pounds had been made the farm for driving the cattle from the feed lot to Fox station where they were loaded. A terminal charge of $2.70 and total selling costs at the yards of $27.37 brought the marketing costs to $48.86, leaving $2,474.67 after all transportation and selling charges were paid.

72 Bought Last Aug. 24.

These steers were the last of 72 head of 2 year olds bought last Aug. 24 on the Kansas City market. At that time the entire lot weighed 56,750 pounds, or an average of 788 pounds, and cost $5.75 a hundredweight. Freight and trucking charges from Kansas City to the Yorkville farm amounted to $172.76, bringing the total cost of the seventy-two animals to $3,435.89 laid down at the farm.

The steers were sold in three lots. Twenty-five of the heaviest ones were picked out and shipped on Feb. 15. They weighed 27,460 pounds and brought $10.25 a hundredweight. Then on March 24 a second bunch, consisting of twenty-three head, was sold. Their total weight was 25,150 pounds and they brought $11.35 a hundred.

The total gain on the seventy-two steers while on feed at the farm amounted to 20,480 pounds. They brought $8,014.47 after transportation and marketing charges were paid, leaving the farm $4,578.58 to pay feed and labor costs.

60 Three-year-olds Also Fed.

Sixty head of 3 year old Herefords were brought from Kansas City in the same shipment with the 2 year olds. They weighed an average of 935 pounds at the time and cost the farm $3,721.20.

They too were sold in three different lots, the first bunch being sent to market on Dec. 22 and the last one on Feb. 9. These steers made total gains of 11,050 pounds while at the farm and sold [after shipping and marketing costs were paid] for $2,591.76 more than they cost.

CHINA WILL PAY BOND INTEREST LONG IN DEFAULT

Issue Floated in 1919 by Chicago Bank.

The Chinese embassy in Washington yesterday announced that interest payments will be resumed on May 1 on an issue of Chinese treasury notes which was sold in 1919 by a Chicago bank and has been in default for sixteen years.

The note issue, of which the total face value is $5,500,000, was floated by the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank, a predecessor constituent bank of the present Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

Once regarded as worthless, the notes were quoted Saturday at $620 per $1,000 face value. An appreciation of 8,266 per cent in the market value has occurred in the last 14 months.

Offer Plan for Interest.

The issue originally called for interest of 5 per cent. The plan offered to bondholders by the Chinese government provides for an immediate resumption of interest at one-half that rate, or 2½ per cent for three years, after which it will be raised to 5 per cent.

In addition bondholders will receive one-fifth of the accumulated unpaid interest in noninterest bearing scrip for which provision is made for subsequent retirement. Further scrip for ½ of 1 per cent will be issued for the three year period Nov. 1, 1936, to Nov. 1, 1939, during which bondholders will receive interest in cash at the reduced rate.

The scrip and the principal of the bonds will be paid in yearly installments, beginning in 1942, on a schedule which contemplates final retirement by 1954.

End Long Negotiations.

The announcement of the offer to bondholders comes as the culmination of lengthy negotiations between the Chinese embassy and the Foreign Bond Holders' Protective Council of New York. Negotiations on behalf of the holders of the defaulted issue have been conducted over a period of years by the latter organization.

Several times it has been reported that an agreement had been reached and the notes have experienced several market flurries during recent months.

The note issue matured Nov. 1, 1921. It had gone into interest default six months earlier. Since that time bondholders have not received a cent on their investment.

Notes Soar in Value.

The notes sold at 75 cents per $100 face value in January, 1936. An investment of 75 cents at that time would be worth $62 at present market value. A $75 investment at that time would be worth $6,200 today. Or, to carry it still further, an investment of $7,500 fourteen months ago would have a market value today of $620,000.

The schedule announced for the retirement of principal and interest scrip calls for payments beginning June 1, 1942. Rate of payments follow: 1942 and 1943, 5 per cent each year; 1944-'45, 6 per cent each; 1946-'47, 7 per cent each; 1948-'49, 8 per cent each; 1950-'51, 9 per cent each, and 1952-'53-'54, 10 per cent each year.

May Speed Retirement.

The retirement rate may be speeded up upon reasonable notice by the Chinese government, the announcement said. The principal payments will be made on notes drawn by lot.

Funds to carry out the program will be derived from salt revenues of the Chinese government. The issue will have priority to such revenues, subject to previously existing charges, the announcement said.

New coupon sheets will be issued to noteholders. These, however, will not be ready by the May 1 interest date. Interest on that date will be paid on delivery of the last unpaid coupon on the notes. The first payment will cover the six months from Nov. 1 last.

CHICAGO TRADE STEADY; SUMMER GOODS IN DEMAND

Retail and wholesale activity held fairly steady in Chicago last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. A marked impetus in demand for summer goods was the outstanding feature, the trade body said. A sign of spring was the upturn in sales of garden tools and materials for residential rehabilitation.

"Industrially," the association added, "Chicago maintains its lead over last year in production and man power, with some firms emphasizing their belief that the usual summer letdown will be much lighter this year.

"Local public utilities appear well satisfied. With one exception all report activity ahead of a year ago. Car loadings and railroad passenger trafic also topped the same week in 1936."

Drop in Bonds Gives Investor Larger Yield

BY WILLIAM YATES.

Recent unsettlement in the bond market, which has delayed or canceled new financing by many large corporations and carried bond prices lower, also has given new purchasers of bonds the opportunity to secure a larger return on their investment.

The situation is a reversal of that prevailing for many months, during which cheap money steadily lowered the return through allowing companies to refund their securities into lower interest bearing bonds, and heavy demand of funds seeking profitable employment drove bond prices higher.

As the rate of interest on bonds is stationary the price at which the security is selling determines the yield. Consequently, the purchase of a 3½ per cent bond at $980 will return the investor a greater income than the same security bought at $1,050.

Investors Hold Aloof.

This is just what has been happening. Unsettlement started early in the year with a "sticky" condition in municipal bonds, a situation in which dealers find it hard to sell securities because investors do not think the price is attractive or decline to buy for other reasons. This unsettlement has since spread to government and corporation bonds.

The result has been a lowering of prices and a distinct apathy on the part of prospective buyers to purchase securities. In addition, refinancing plans of many corporations have been upset and in some cases attempts to secure new money for expansion or other corporate purposes have been abandoned temporarily.

An outstanding example of the changed condition of the bond market from last year, when dealers figuratively had only to offer low yield bonds to waiting investors, is the recent sale of 130 millions of Philadelphia Electric company bonds.

Forced to Boost Interest.

The offering syndicate was headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., offshoot of the "House of Morgan." Originally, the company and the underwriters planned to sell 3¼ per cent bonds at $1,050 each. If held to maturity for 30 years, until 1967, they would have yielded the purchaser approximately 3 per cent yearly on his money.

But the trend in market conditions caused a revision in what it was thought the public would pay. The interest rate was then hiked to 3½ per cent and the price lowered to $1,025. On this basis their yield to maturity was raised to 3.36 per cent annually.

The bonds were offered publicly on March 11, at which time it was thought conditions were ripe for the sale. But sales lagged and dealers were left in many cases with unsold bonds.

Price Falls; Yield Rises.

When the offering syndicate liquidated a few weeks later the price had fallen to around $980, a yield of 3.61 per cent. Last week the price was quoted by over the counter dealers at approximately $1,000.50, or a yield of 3.47 per cent.

New financing involving more than $175,000,000 has been canceled or indefinitly postponed by corporations because of present difficulties in marketing bonds at low yield rates.

Among the larger issues postponed are $42,000,000 of 4 per cent Argentine Republic sinking fund conversion loans, $5,500,000 of Chicago Daily News preferred stock, $30,000,000 of Commercial Credit company debentures, $13,000,000 of Hearst Magazines, Inc., debentures, $10,000,000 Interlake Iron corporation debentures, $14,200,000 of Iowa Public Service bonds, and $7,250,000 bonds of the Southwestern Light and Power company.

LAKE NAVIGATION TO OPEN AS LAST ICE IS SMASHED

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—Two Canadian steamers, Algocen and Algosteel, were expected to open interlake navigation here tonight after the giant ice breaking car ferry, Chief Wawatam, smashed her way through the last ice barrier of St. Mary's river at 4:30 this afternoon.

Two Sault tugs, Favorite and Iowa, bucking the downbound channel since Saturday morning, were met by the car ferry upbound this afternoon in Lake Munuscong and all three were proceeding to the Sault followed by the Algocen and Algosteel.

Half a dozen Pittsburgh Steamship company ships were due at Detour tonight and five of them were expected to lay over night and come through Monday, while the sixth, the Douglas Houghton, will unload coal.

PRICE OF WHEAT UNDER PALL OF RUMOR ON GOLD

Prices Fail to Gain After Denial.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat prices last week failed to recover fully from the decline which occurred when rumors that the United States was preparing to reduce the price of gold caused a world-wide decline in commodity and security prices.

Even the denial by President Roosevelt that the United States was contemplating any monetary action failed to restore the grain market's buoyancy, although some recovery in prices followed.

The monetary factor is an incalculable one in judging the future trend of prices. The uncertainty of the future value of the dollar will continue as long as the President has the power to change its value.

Monetary Agreement Recalled.

The three-power monetary agreement between the United States, Great Britain, and France is admittedly intended to bring about an ultimate stabilization of currencies. It is not unreasonable to assume that in arriving at a new international agreement on currency ratios some time in the future, the dollar will undergo another change.

The government forecast of a winter wheat crop of 656 million bushels was an added influence on grain prices last week. The favorable estimate, however, was believed to have been less a factor in the break in prices than the general uncertainty that caused a downturn in values in all markets.

U. S. Again May Export Wheat.

The government figures reinforce the favorable prospect for a substantial export movement of wheat this season. Domestic prices of wheat are now in line with foreign prices to permit such a movement.

Pennsylvania Announces New Fast New York Train

Philadelphia, April 11.—[Special.]—The Pennsylvania railroad announced today the addition, effective with the spring change in time table on April 25, of a new fast train between New York and Chicago. The running time of the train, to be called "The General," will be 17¼ hours. No extra fare will be charged. Westbound, "The General" will leave New York at 4:40 p. m., eastern daylight time, and arrive in Chicago at 8:50 a. m., central daylight time. East bound it will leave Chicago at 4:05 p. m., reaching New York at 10:20 a. m.

STEEL INDUSTRY SETS NEW PEAK IN EMPLOYMENT

Employment in the steel industry during February was at a new high of 556,000 persons, the American Iron and Steel institute reported yesterday. This was 23 per cent above the 453,000 employed a year ago, and a gain of 98,000 employed over February, 1929.

Total pay rolls for the industry in February were $74,278,000, against $50,250,000 in February 1936. In January this year there were 548,000 men employed, and the total pay roll was $76,423,000.

The average earning of wage earning employés in February was 72.8 cents an hour, or nearly $31 per week, with an average of 42.5 hours of employment.

The records do not reflect the general wage increase effective March 16, which raised the average hourly earnings to an estimated 83.5 cents an hour. The wage increase is estimated to have increased steel pay rolls about $130,000,000 a year.

Transit Revenues Show Increase Over Last Year

Revenues of the transit industry in United States amounted to approximately $202,000,000 in first 13 weeks of this year, compared with $197,000,000 in the like period of 1936, the Transit Journal reported yesterday.

CONSOLIDATED OIL CO. NET PROFITS IN 1936 LARGEST IN SIX YEARS

Net profits of the Consolidated Oil corporation in 1936 were the largest since 1930, according to the annual report issued last night. Net profits were $16,728,929, or $1.15 a common share after preferred dividends, compared with $12,601,958, or 79 cents a share, in 1935.

A notice to stockholders accompanied the report, saying they would be requested to approve at the annual meeting authorization of a debenture issue of $50,000,000 for capital needs. They will also be asked to vote on a proposal to redeem the outstanding 56,592 shares of $5 preferred stock.

Interstate Department Stores, Inc., reported that it nearly doubled earnings in 1936. Profit amounted to $882,002, or $3.22 a common share after preferred dividends, against $442,438, or $1.24 a common share, in 1935. The company operates in the middle west and east.

The United Biscuit company reported consolidated net profit of $1,180,776 for 1936, equal to $2.39 a common share after preferred dividends. This compares with $895,498, or $1.74 a common share, for the preceding year.

National City Lines Issues First Report

Consolidation of a number of middle western bus operated local transportation companies into a national organization was disclosed yesterday with the making public of the first annual report of National City Lines, Inc. Organized in February, 1936, with active operations dating from April 1, 1936, the organization is a holding company which controls close to twenty operating subsidiaries.

Headquarters are in Chicago.

E. Roy Fitzgerald, president, reported that the net consolidated income of National City Lines for the nine months ended Dec. 31, 1936, was $55,737. This income, Fitzgerald said, reflects only the net earnings of the consolidated companies during the period of ownership and to the extent of ownership by the parent company.

Adds to Holdings.

The company on Dec. 31, 1936, owned all the capital stock of sixteen operating companies, 75 per cent of the capital stock of the Southern Limited, and all the capital stock of Rex Equipment Sales, Inc., a service company. Since Dec. 31, the parent concern has acquired the city operations in Elgin and Aurora, Ill., and intrastate rights between these cities serving Batavia, St. Charles and other small communities.

It has also acquired minority stock which gives it all but 3 per cent of all the stock of the Southern Limited, which is the only interstate operation in the system.

Lines in Michigan.

Lines acquired in Michigan include: Kalamazoo City Lines, Inc.; Jackson City Lines, Inc.; Pontiac City Lines, Inc.; City Transport corporation [Lansing], and Saginaw City Lines, Inc. Other lines acquired are the Tulsa City Lines, Inc., and Montgomery [Alabama] City Lines, Inc. A total of 521 buses were operated on Dec. 31. In several instances the company has acquired electric street railways which it has converted into bus operation.

Assets of the company as of Dec. 31, 1936, were given at $5,260,207, including $1,519,844 of current assets, including $1,430,776 cash. Current liabilities were $1,043,647.

STEEL OUTPUT HOLDS STEADY AT 91½% RATE

New Orders Still Show Increase.

Steel ingot production in the United States last week was maintained for the second successive week at the rate of 91½ per cent of capacity, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. A rise of 10 points to 90 per cent at Cincinnati, and a gain of 1 point to 87 per cent at Youngstown, were offset by a 5½ point loss at Cleveland to 74 per cent and a loss of 1 point to 88 per cent at Buffalo.

Operations at other steel centers were unchanged, with Pittsburgh running at the rate of 95 per cent, Chicago at 84, New England at 85, Detroit at 100, St. Louis at 82, eastern Pennsylvania at 59½, Wheeling at 96, and Birmingham at 80 per cent of capacity.

Bookings Continue to Rise.

Bookings continued to rise for steel products, and delivery dates are being pushed well into the third quarter on many items. The magazine predicted that third quarter price lists may be announced soon, as pressure for orders for that period continues.

Efforts are being made to serve regular customers. Premiums offered for export tonnage have been refused in many instances in order first to satisfy domestic needs.

An advance last week of 50 cents per hundredweight on tin plate, effective at once, raised the price to $5.35, base, at Pittsburgh. Most users of large tonnages, however, are covered on long time contracts and will not be affected immediately. This was the first advance in tin plate since December, 1933.

Structural Awards Increase.

Structural steel awards rose sharply to 42,675 tons, the largest tonnage for any week this year except that of Jan. 30, when orders were placed to anticipate price increases. The Great Lakes Steel corporation awarded orders for 18,230 tons for an openharth building. Other awards were 4,000 tons for a General Motors building at Baltimore, 4,000 tons for the west side elevated highway in New York, 2,525 tons for a building for Ford Motor company at Dearborn, Mich., and 1,800 tons for a bridge at Topeka, Kas.

Awards of 8,155 freight cars in March brought the total for the first quarter to 30,933 cars, the largest total for a first quarter since 1929.

IMPORTS BY U. S. SEEN AS LIKELY TO EXCEED SALES

Predict 750 Million Rise in Trade Abroad.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—Commerce department reports indicated today the nation's purchases abroad may exceed sales this year for the first time in almost half a century. Officials predicted, however, that aggregate two way trade will increase about $750,000,000 over last year, pushing merchandise transactions with other countries to the highest level in seven years.

For the first two months of this year imports have exceeded exports by $63,826,000. In the same period last year, traders chalked up a slight excess of exports.

Officials said it is too early to determine whether the country's traditional export balance will be wiped out this year, but added this was a possibility. During 1936, this excess of sales over purchases dropped to the lowest point since 1893, exports topping imports by only $34,258,000. This compared with $235,389,000 in 1935.

Balance Shows Decline.

Analyzing 1936 foreign trade, a department report said the export balance was whittled by increasing purchasing power in the United States, the drouth, and higher prices of foreign goods.

The survey said it "would be exceedingly difficult" to determine what effect the reciprocal trade agreements had on the export balance. It added, however, that this probably was small compared with other factors.

Exports to all countries rose 8 per cent during the year, while shipments to countries with which trade ageements had been reached rose 14 per cent. All imports rose 18 per cent and imports from trade agreement countries climbed 22 per cent.

Latin American Gains.

Two way trade with Latin American countries generally was shown to have climbed more rapidly than the country's world trade.

At $972,576,000, total imports and exports for the first two months of 1937 were $211,733,000 over the same period last year.

Ernest G. Draper, assistant secretary of commerce, estimated that two way trade would increase $750,000,000 for the entire year to about $5,600,000,000. This would be 15 per cent over last year but 19 per cent under 1930 and 41 per cent under 1929.

"The revival of trade cannot come over night," Draper said, "but the process is sufficiently under way to allow us to view the future with optimism."

Pierce Petroleum and Pierce Oil.

Investors' Guide: Please give me the setup on Pierce Oil and Pierce Petroleum. I only see Pierce Oil preferred listed now.—A. C.

Answer: Pierce Petroleum corporation acquired all the assets and obligations of Pierce Oil corporation in 1924 for a large block of Pierce Petroleum stock. In turn, Pierce Petroleum sold all of its assets to Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation [now Consolidated Oil corporation] in 1930. As a result, stock of Consolidated Oil became the principal asset of both Pierce corporations.

Pierce Petroleum now is in the process of liquidation. It has a capitalization of 2,500,000 shares of 25 cent par value common stock of which 1,103,420 shares are owned by Pierce Oil.

Following settlement of government tax claims dating back to 1918, Pierce Petroleum distributed 500,000 of its 637,334 shares of Consolidated Oil stock by payment of a liquidating dividend of one share of Consolidated for each five shares of Pierce Petroleum held on March 9, 1937.

After this distribution, Pierce Petroleum's principal assets were 137,334 shares of Consolidated and about $375,000 cash. The remaining Consolidated stock will be sold or distributed and affairs of the company wound up as soon as tax claims for 1927 to 1930 are settled and adjustments made of liabilities of Pierce Oil and Pierce Petroleum to each other.

On March 16, 1937, the New York Stock exchange suspended trading in Pierce Petroleum stock to protect the public against itself. The stock was being traded actively at $1.37½ a share on March 15, but the final payoff in liquidation is not expected to be more than $1 a share, maybe less.

Pierce Oil's assets consist principally of its Pierce Petroleum stock and the 220,684 shares of Consolidated Oil stock it received in the recent distribution by Pierce Petroleum. Its capitalization consists of 148,110 shares of 8 per cent $100 preferred and 1,184,880 shares of common stock. The common, removed from listing on the New York Stock exchange in February, 1936, appears to be worthless.

The preferred is entitled to $115 a share plus unpaid dividends of $122 a share as of May 1, 1937, in liquidation—a total of more than $35,000,000. The Consolidated Oil stock received, on the basis of quotations around $17 a share, is worth about $3,750,000.

TREASURY NOTES OF 1919 CHINESE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

The Chinese Ambassador, under instructions from his Government, announces the following offer concerning service of the Treasury Notes of 1919 (the so-called Chicago Bank Loan) of United States dollars 5,500,000.

All provisions of the original contract remain unchanged except insofar as the carrying out of the offer gives effect to other specific provisions.

1. Interest is to be paid at the rate of 2½% per annum for the three year period commencing November 1, 1936, and at the rate of 5% per annum as from November 1, 1939, payable semi-annually May 1 and November 1.

2. Non-interest bearing scrip is to be issued in respect of: (a) arrears of interest computed at one fifth of the contractual rate, simple interest, from May 1, 1921, to November 1, 1936; and (b) one fifth of the difference between 2½% interest to be paid for the period from November 1, 1936, to November 1, 1939, and 5% to be paid thereafter.

3. Payments of principal of the notes and of installments of the scrip are to be made on June one of each year beginning in 1942 according to the following schedule: in 1942 and 1943, 5% each; in 1944 and 1945, 6% each; in 1946 and 1947, 7% each; in 1948 and 1949, 8% each; in 1950 and 1951, 9% each, and in 1952 and 1953 and 1954, 10% each. The Government, upon reasonable notice and without premium, may increase the amount of principal to be retired on any payment date. The notes are to be retired by drawings at par to be effected by the fiscal agent of the loan in the month of August prior to each date on which drawn notes are to be paid.

4. Payment of interest and principal is to be made out of the salt revenue after making provision for charges existing as of April 12, 1937, and in priority to all charges that may be created subsequent to that date.

5. Holders accepting this offer will present their notes for attachment of new coupon sheets, on the stub of which the text of this offer will be printed. Since the new coupon sheets will not be ready by May 1, 1937, interest will be paid on that date against delivery of the last unpaid coupon attached to the notes.

Sealed Bids, in triplicate, subject to the conditions contained herein, will be received by the Veterans Administration, Room 764, Arlington Building, Washington, D. C., until 1:30 P. M., June 1, 1937, and then publicly opened, for furnishing all labor and materials and performing all work required for constructing and finishing complete at Veterans Administration Facility, Dearborn, Michigan, Buildings and Utilities. This project consists of one Main Building No. 1 (containing approximately 2,110,000 cubic feet), one Nurses Quarters Building No. 7 (containing approximately 150,000 cubic feet), one Attendants Quarters Building No. 8 (containing approximately 100,000 cubic feet), Etc., and the work will include roads, walks, grading and drainage, excavating, piling, reinforced concrete, hollow concrete units, hollow building tile, brickwork, cut stone, slate stair treads, marble work, terrazzo, floor and wall tile, compressed asphalt tile, linoleum, waterproofing, iron and steel work, metal sash, steel flagpole, steel stairs, steel cabinets, shelving and partitions, slate, tile and built-up roofing, metal ventilators, metal lathing, plastering, carpentry, acoustical treatment, insulation, metal weather-strips, insect screens, platform scales, window shades, painting, glazing, hardware, plumbing, refrigerating and ice making plant, heating, air conditioning, electrical work, electric elevators, outside distribution systems, and such other items as shown or specified. Separate bids will be received for (I) General Construction, including Plumbing, Heating, Air Conditioning and Electrical Work; (II) Electric Elevators; and (III) Refrigerating and Ice Making Plant; all as set forth on Bid Form. Bids will be considered only from bidders who can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Veterans Administration that they are competent technically and financially to perform the work and the ability of a bidder to obtain a performance bond shall not be regarded as the sole test of such bidder's competency. At the discretion of the Administrator, drawings and specifications may be obtained by contractors interested in submitting bids direct to the Veterans Administration, upon application in writing to the Construction Service, Room 764, Arlington Building, Washington, D. C. One set will be furnished to plumbing, heating and electrical firms for their use in preparing sub-bids for contractors, and to Builders' Exchanges, Chambers of Commerce, or other organizations who will guarantee to make them available for any subcontractor or material firm interested. While no deposit will be necessary, return of the drawings and specifications within ten days after date of opening bids will be required.

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance, The Tribune presents "Everyday Economics." Letters addressed to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here will be welcomed. Inquiries will be answered through the daily articles rather than by letter.

Bankers' Acceptances.

Tell us something about the New York market for bankers' acceptances; is there a similar theater of financing in Chicago? F. B. M. of Oak Park asks.

At the moment, and in fact for the last two or three years, there has been practically no market in New York or anywhere else for bankers' acceptances. It is true this form of commercial paper is quoted, but this is largely a formality.

The bankers' acceptance is a form of security guaranteed both by the issuer [a corporation or individual] and a bank. It is secured by marketable commodities or manufactured goods which are "self-liquidating." The life of the acceptance usually covers the period during which the goods are on transit or temporary storage.

There are a number of reasons why trading has dried up bankers' acceptances, rated when secured by good names as one of the most desirable forms of investment. Because of the derth of good securities available to them for investment banks are retaining in their own portfolios acceptances which they help to originate. Formerly banks sold the acceptances to dealers who distributed them to investors. Many large corporations which used bankers' acceptances to finance short term operations have such large amounts of surplus cash on hand that they do not need to go to the banks for more. There are now many government agencies which finance the handling of such commodities as cotton and wheat which were formerly financed through the medium of acceptances.

In the old days practically the entire acceptance market was located in New York. Four major dealers and several smaller firms created the market and sustained it. In Chicago there were only one or two dealers, although a large amount of acceptance business originated here, largely through the operations of the packing and farm implement companies.

SKILLED LABOR SHORTAGE FACES BIG INDUSTRIES

Toolmakers, Machinists Much in Demand.

Revival of the heavy goods industries has so stimulated the demand for skilled toolmakers and machinists that a marked shortage is evident in the industry.

No surveys have been conducted locally on this shortage, although trade association leaders assert that such is the situation. Labor officials are hesitant about admitting a shortage, except in restricted types of skilled labor.

There can be no general statement that a shortage exists for skilled labor as a whole, they say, because of various qualifications such as wages, age, and experience attached to prospective jobs in the skilled labor group.

Consider Total Unemployed.

"We can not very well say there is a shortage of skilled labor as long as we have 570,992 unemployed in the state," as Peter T. Swanish, chief of the bureau of statistics of the Illinois department of labor, put it.

Of this total, he said there had been no breakdown as to the percentage of skilled labor represented. The total unemployed in Illinois is the latest estimate available, representing the total in February, but was a considerable drop from the 872,822 for February, 1936.

In order to determine the actual condition in the metal working industry, as between complaints by employers of shortage of skilled labor and insistence by labor leaders of no shortage, the American Machinist recently made a study of 300 companies in two branches of the machinery industry—the makers of machine tools and of electrical machinery and apparatus.

Report Result of Survey.

A return of more than 20 per cent was received on the questionnaire, which number, it was said, gives a "very fair indication of actual conditions."

From the reports returned the journal found that for every five toolmakers employed there was one job that could not be filled. Approximately the same relation existed for machinists, it said. But the ratio of unfilled jobs to men taken on in the machine operator class was only about one unfilled job to 12 employed, which measured up to expectations, said the report.

A more comprehensive survey recently reported by the National Industrial Conference board showed that 202 companies had unfilled places for 7,150 men, or 1.53 per cent of the total employment.

More than 80 per cent of the companies reporting in the American Machinist survey said they were conducting apprenticeship training programs in order to develop the skilled workers required. More than half of them were coöperating with local technical high schools or trade schools in helping to place boys.

REPRESENTATIVE RAPS BOOSTRAP SPENDING BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—Representative Bertrand H. Snell, New York Republican leader in the house, said today "the official treasury statement for April 1 reveals a still swelling tide of bootstrap spending" by the administration. Federal revenue for the first nine months of the present fiscal year, Snell said in a statement, was $759,701,757 over the corresponding period of the year before.

"Despite this tremendous increase in cash income," Snell said, "the final budget deficit, including public debt and trust fund operations, shows an increase of $115,762,291 as of April 1 this year, over the deficit for the same nine months of the previous fiscal year. Such is President Roosevelt's progress toward a balanced budget.

"Here is the nation's realization after four years of experiment with the New Deal promise that recovery automatically would bring increased revenue, decreased expenditures and a balanced budget. Under the prevailing policy of rubber-stamp lump-sum appropriations, only the President can decide when expenditures shall be curtailed."

National Parks, Western Air Merger Is Predicted

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 11.—(AP)—Consummation of proposed merger of National Parks Airways and Western Air Express was predicted tonight by Alfred Frank, National Parks president. Frank will preside at a National Parks stockholders' meeting here tomorrow to consider the merger. He said he has proxies for more than 90 per cent of the voting stock, and added that approval was little more than a formality. Western Air operates between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, and National Parks flies its planes from here to Great Falls, Mont.

Chicago Products Will Be Shown at Package Exhibit

Packages and packaging materials produced in Chicago will be displayed at the Midwest Package show to be held for three days beginning Wednesday in the Hotel Sherman under the sponsorship of the Chicago Federated Advertising club. The exhibition will include packages which were awarded prizes in a recent national contest conducted by the magazine Modern Packaging.

Treasury Reduces Total of Weekly Bill Offering

Washington, D. C., April 11.—The treasury announced recently that its April 14 bill issue would amount to aproximately $50,000,000, or enough to meet the maturity on that date of $50,052,000, instead of the $100,000,000 it has been issuing for the last six weeks. The additional borrowing has increased the treasury's cash by approximately $300,000,000.

MARKET DRIFTS IN FOG; SHARE PRICES TUMBLE

Favorable News Offset by Rumors on Gold.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 11.—The stock market picture grows more and more confused. Rumors regarding the administration's gold price plans upset the applecart anew last week, nullifying whatever effects the improvement in the automobile strike sitdown situation, the continued flow of favorable trade news and other bullish factors might have had.

When trading had been concluded for the week market "averages" were at their lowest level since last August—approximately 15 points below last November's highest—with a long list of important issues, including General Motors, American Can, and Eastman Kodak, bumping new bottoms under big scale selling orders. It was the "worst" week the market has had in months.

Industrial shares, constant leaders in the long advance—it lasted nearly twenty months without a serious break and hoisted the averages a full 66 points—were naturally enough the chief sufferers on the selling movement. They gave up about 4½ points on the average, with steel and copper shares figuring conspicuously in the slaughter as they did the week before.

While plenty of evidence was forthcoming to show that steel prices are not much out of line with the increased cost of materials and labor and that the government's proposed move cannot have any very great effect on the income of the big corporations in this field since its orders constitute only about 1 per cent of their business, the fact that the administration is dissatisfied was apparently sufficient to cause the average trader to decide to stand from under.

HIGH GRADE MEN

Make Good Money in Your Own Business Handling Sales on Route System.

Do you know that drivers of milk wagons, newspaper trucks, and laundry wagons make $40.00, $60.00, and as high as $100.00 a week? These men have built up routes of customers on good products. Steady, repeat business from these routes pays them mighty good earnings.

A good customer list is a salesman's biggest asset. Many brokers earn thousands of dollars a year on repeat orders from people on their customer list. Mail order houses consider their customer lists the most valuable assets on their books. Repeat business from satisfied customers brings them record profits almost every year.

PUT THIS IDEA TO WORK—MAKE MONEY WITH ME.

I manufacture a product that is a wonderful repeater. It has an almost unlimited market. The sales of many of my representatives run as high as 95% repeat business!

Mr. S., in January, the dullest month in our line, made $100.00 a week profit from repeat sales. Mr. B., a retired banker in a town of 25,000, recently paid us for a hundred dozen in 10 days. His profit was $3.00 to $4.50 a dozen and nearly all of his sales were repeat business.

I need a few more men to represent me in this territory. These new men will receive full co-operation from me and I am backing them up with an amazing introductory sale to help them get NEW CUSTOMERS!

HOW I HELP YOU START.

SEE OUR BIG DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENT IN THE TRIBUNE THIS WEEK, headed "Special Sale—24,000 Quality Ties at Half Price and Less." In this special sale we offer 24,000 ties of $1.00 and $1.50 Quality at the sensational price of 55c each, 2 for $1.00! Big commissions and top earnings for our salesmen.

We made a lucky buy on two large lots of silks for half price and less. We've added other lots to these, to make a total of over 100 patterns. Included are the smartest materials for Summer Wear—Grenadines, Foulards, Satin Back Failles, Polka Dots, Poplins, Silk Repps, Crepes, Mogadores, Summer Plaids Scotch Plaids, Peau de Soies, Woven Silks, etc. You'll find almost every pattern in this sale retailing for $1.00, $1.50, and more, all over town.

These values should sell on sight and the quality of the merchandise will cinch repeat orders. That's the idea—5,000 new customers who will give our salesmen steady repeat orders. They tell friends of the big savings—and there's the reason our men make big money working a permanent customer list.

EARN MONEY QUICK—NOW.

Come in early. This sale will be advertised the middle of this week. The first salesmen answering this ad will have the opportunity to secure the cream of the selection—hand-blocked Crepes, beautiful imported Foulards, etc. They are astounding values at the sale price of 55c, 2 for $1.00.

Our neckwear is nationally famous for extra value and wearing quality at regular prices of $1.00 and $1.50. We are the largest manufacturer in the country selling neckwear direct through a national organization of high grade men. I offer you a real opportunity to make good money in a business of your own. Come in—get the facts—then decide. But act quick—see me TODAY.

VACUUM CLEANER SALESMEN IN CHICAGO AND VICINITY.

Here is absolutely the biggest money making opportunity in this business. A three million dollar corporation just installed a new plan that will recognize for promotion immediately a man who has a background of successful vacuum cleaner experience coupled with the ability and willingness to train new men how to sell. This proposition will pay that kind of a man $150 a week, 52 weeks out of a year.

Our product sells for $69.50 on time; $62.55 cash absolutely new, only four months in the field, covered by 32 different patents, it is streamlined, modernized, custom built, motor driven, has flexible agitator, and brush.

FIELD MANAGER'S SET-UP.

1. Straight salary of $15 per week.
2. Overwriting of $3.50 per sale.
3. Full commission of $21.85 on all your personal sales.
4. Bonus on the combined sales of you and your crew of approxi-

HOW YOU CAN BORROW.

1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. Loans made on Furniture, Autos or Plain Note.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.

1. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.

9 Shot When Independent Miners Are Fired Upon from C. I. O. Headquarters—Blame Battle for Union Control

The testing plate plays a prominent part in activities of the police department gun investigation bureau. It is used to test the penetrating power of bullets.

Types of ammunition in police collection. Included are world war shells, hand grenades, aerial bomb, and revolver and rifle bullets.

START OF MINERS' MARCH WHICH ENDED WITH SHOOTING OF NINE IN NEIGHBORING TOWN—Group of miners armed with pick handles as they started parade after meeting of Tri-State Metal and Smelter Workers' union in Picher, Okla. When these independent union men passed in parade before a C. I. O. office in Galena, Kas., they were fired upon. This picture was sent to Chicago by wire. (Story on page 1.)

ONE SHOT AS YOUTHS FLEE FROM STOLEN TAXI—Photodiagram shows how police trapped auto thieves near 54th and Halsted streets. Stolen cab (1) was forced to curb. Police (2), after leaving squad car, opened fire and shot one of the fleeing youths (3). The other (4) escaped through alley but was caught later. (Story on page 13.)

WHERE STORE OWNER WAS SHOT TO DEATH—Photodiagram of interior of delicatessen at 3756 Irving Park boulevard, showing how two gunmen entered for apparent holdup. Frank Panfil, the store owner, was robbed three weeks ago by a man and young girl. They are in custody, and for a time revenge was seen asa possible motive in the slaying. Story on page 5.

JAILED—Justine LeBlanc, who was identified by the store owner as the girl in previous robbery.

HELPING THE CARS GET BY

With thousands of motorists on Chicagoland highways yesterday to enjoy a sunny spring day, state police tried something new to help them. Here Patrolmen Paul Chase and A. F. Seisser have waved a van off U. S. highway 12, south of Richmond, on to the shoulder of the road to let a long line of passenger cars get by.
